White House ran campaign, probers told

WASHINGTON (AP) — A tribunal of seven senators opened today historic hearings into the Watergate scandals, and an aide in President Nixon's re-election campaign testified there was no doubt that final political authority rested with the White House.

The leadoff witness, Robert C. Odle Jr., who served as director of administration at the Committee for the Re-Election of the President, said he did not known of political sabotage or surveillance by that organization.

"Only what I've read in the newspapers," Odle, 28, testified before a crowded, nationally televised Senate hearing.

Much of Odle's testimony dealt with the administrative setup at the Nixon campaign committee.

Odle specifically denied that he destroyed any documents involving the Watergate affair— although he said the committee had shredding machines at "convenient points" in its offices.

He also denied receiving transcripts of wiretaps.

Odle said he was "absolutely not" involved in bugging activities.

He said he hired James W. McCord as a security man for the re-election committee. He also said he fired McCord, later convicted as a Watergate conspirator.

Sen. Herman Talmadge, DGa., asked whether the Committee for the Re-election of the President was solely under control of the President and his top aides.

Odle described the relationship as one of cooperation, not technical or legal control.

"Is it fair to say that the committee was set up, organized and directed from the White House?" Talmadge asked.

"Those people who were at the White House had influence over the committee, they gave it direction," Odle testified. "But the campaign director, of course, was not at the White House. He came from the Justice Department."

That drew laughter from the standing-room audience. The man at the Justice Department was former Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell, now under indictment in connection with a secret campaign contribution.

"There was no doubt as to where the ultimate authority lay, was there?" Talmadge asked.

"No, sir," said Odle.

Odle said he heard of the Watergate burglary on Saturday afternoon, June 17, 1972. It had happened early that morning.

He said he was told of a burglary at Democratic headquarters.

"And I said to some people who were in that meeting ... I said that could never happen here because I've got a guy working for me named Jim McCord," Odle said.

McCord was security man for the Nixon committee—and one of the Watergate burglars.

Following an opening statement defending Nixon and the majority of his campaign workers, Odle was questioned in detail about the setup of the Committee for the Re-election of the President, and its lines of authority.

Sen. Sam J. Ervin Jr., DN.C., opened the hearings, and said his panel "must probe into assertions that the very system itself has been subverted and its foundations shaken."

Ervin said Watergate disclosures have "cast a black cloud of distrust over our entire society. Our citizens do not know whom to believe ..."

To dispel that, he said, the Senate committee must find the truth.

"The nation and history itself are watching us," he said. "We cannot fail our mission."

Then, in turn, other committee members promised thorough, impartial investigation.

Odle testified that former presidential staff chief H. R. Haldeman played a key role, along with former Atty. Gen. Mitchell, in selecting staff members for the Nixon campaign committees.

He said seven White House staff members formed the nucleus of the Nixon campaign organization in May 1971, and that by July of the next year another seven from the White House occupied high positions in the campaign.

In response to questioning by the committee's chief counsel, Sam Dash, Odle said the campaign finance chairman, Maurice Stans, had ultimate authority for all campaign spending, that Stans participated actively in campaign budgeting and approved all major expenditures.

The Watergate bugging, and reportedly other more widespread espionage activities, were financed from Nixon campaign funds.

Odle said Nixon's personal lawyer, Herbert W. Kalmbach, once was "associate chairman" of the campaign finance committee. It is known that Kalmbach was the chief fund-raiser for the campaign before Stans took over the job. Newspaper reports say Kalmbach controlled a $500,000 bank account in California, from which payments for political sabotage were made.

The first phase of the hearings will be limited to the Watergate bugging itself, although developing testimony may take senators into two other major areas of concern: political sabotage and illegal campaign contributions.

The resolution creating the investigating committee limits the probe to conduct of the 1972 presidential

Kissinger, Tho meet

PARIS (AP) — Henry A. Kissinger and Le Duc Tho met today for the first time in three months in an attempt to close the holes in the Vietnam ceasefire agreement.

President Nixon's national security adviser and the member of the North Vietnamese Politburo were expected to continue their latest round of talks for three or four days. Kissinger reportedly wants to be back in the United States before his 50th birthday May 27.

The two men who negotiated the peace agreement in Paris met last when Kissinger visited Hanoi Feb. 10-11. Following a crescendo of allegations by each side that the other was flouting the agreement, the United States and North Vietnam agreed to have Kissinger and Tho meet again in an attempt to make the cease-fire work.

Deputy Asst. Secretary of State William Sullivan and Deputy Foreign Minister Nguyen Co Thach laid the groundwork with a meeting in Paris late last month to establish a list of each side's grievances against the other. Informants said they settled none of the issues but helped to clarify each government's understanding of the other's position at that time.

Some diplomats believe that Hanoi may feel its bargaining position has been strengthened since then by the Watergate scandal and by congressional moves to end all U.S. military action in Indochina.

Nixon warned Hanoi in his State of the World message May 2 that continued infiltration of North Vietnamese troops and arms into South Vietnam would risk a "revived confrontation" with the United States. The diplomats said there are signs that Hanoi thinks Nixon would have difficulty carrying out his threat, and there has been no report of a decline in Communist infiltration.

The usually mild-mannered Tho raised his voice angrily when he arrived from Hanoi Monday, denouncing alleged American bombing raids on areas of South Vietnam controlled by the Viet Cong. He ignored U.S. denials of the attacks and said if they were repeated, he would walk out on Kissinger.

Solons delay antiwar vote

WASHINGTON (AP) — With new Indochina negotiations opening in Paris, Senate Democratic leaders have given up hope for an early vote to cut off funds for continued bombing in Cambodia.

Senate Republican Leader Hugh Scott declined Wednesday to waive rules that would prevent a supplemental appropriation bill from being called up in the Senate until the middle of next week.

Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield, who sought the waiver, said there probably would be discussion that would delay a vote until the Senate returns from a Memorial Day recess May 29.

The supplemental money bill to carry scores of federal agencies through the remainder of the fiscal year includes an amendment adopted by the Senate Appropriations Committee to cut off all present and previously appropriated funds for U.S. hostilities in Cambodia or Laos.

Explaining delaying tactics, Scott said the Paris negotiations between presidential adviser Henry A. Kissinger and North Vietnam's chief negotiator, Le Duc Tho, should proceed without a possibly damaging action by the Senate. Kissinger and Tho are seeking to improve observance of the Jan. 27 cease-fire.

The administration justifies the bombing in support of Cambodian government troops as an effort to force withdrawal of North Vietnamese troops from Cambodia in compliance with the peace pact.

Corporate profit boom reported

WASHINGTON (AP) — The country's economic boom resulted in near-record corporate profits during the first quarter of the year, the Commerce Department reported today.

It said before-tax profits of corporations increased $11.6 billion to a seasonally adjusted annual rate of $113.1 billion in the first quarter, second highest increase in the country's history. After-tax earnings rose $5.1 billion to an annual rate of $62.3 billion.

The increase in before-tax profits trailed only the increase of $11.7 billion in the first quarter of 1971, a post-recession period.

However, the Nixon administration is concerned over the rapid growth of the economy and hopes to moderate the economic boom.

Skylab repair mission planned

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — The scenario is being written today for a Buck Rogers-style space adventure in which three astronauts will fly a repair mission to the disabled Skylab space station.

It will require one of the astronauts to take a space walk to install a shield between the overheated spacecraft and the blazing rays of the sun.

Television pictures may provide much of the world with a ringside seat to the unfolding drama.

The flight may start Sunday. Or it may be delayed until Friday, May 25.

If it works, Skylab 1 astronauts Charles Conrad Jr., Dr. Joseph P. Kerwin and Paul J. Weitz could save their 28-day orbital trip and the 56-day voyages planned later in the year for the Skylab 2 and 3 crews.

Plans for the flight are being drawn up by specialists at space agency centers at Cape Kennedy, Houston, Tex., and Huntsville, Ala., and at the contractor plants of Martin-Marietta in Denver and McDonnell-Douglas Corp. in Huntington, Beach, Calif.

"I've asked all concerned to come up with detailed recommendations and a detailed timetable by Thursday afternoon," Skylab project director William C. Schneider told newsmen Wednesday.

He said the only barrier to the flight is the 100-degree-plus temperature in the interior of the 85-ton laboratory, which was launched unmanned from Cape Kennedy Monday into a 272-mile-high orbit.

And temperature seemed to have decreased and stabilized at between 100 and 110 degrees.

A launch mishap stripped an insulation shield and protective thermal paint from the side of the workshop, allowing the sun's heat to penetrate the vehicle.

The area of the spacecraft facing the sun is about 20 by 20 feet. Schneider said that if this area could be covered, it would shade the Skylab and lower the temperature to the normal 60-to-70 degree range.

These three methods of installing a sun shield are being considered:

—In the most favored approach, an astronaut would enter the spaceship, open a hatch in the workshop area and roll out a window-shade device. This would require piecing together lengths of pipe and gradually extending the shade to the rear of the Skylab.

—The Apollo ferry ship would fly close to the laboratory and an astronaut would lean out a hatch. Using a long pole, he would attach the ends of a bag to opposite ends of the section to be covered. Then he would pull a cable to release the covering. This would require some intricate maneuvering of the Apollo ship by Skylab 1 commander Conrad. But Schneider said he should be able to keep at least 12 feet away from the station.

—The least likely approach would be to have one of the astronauts open the workshop hatch and inflate an umbrellalike device.

Each of the proposed methods would use a plastic sheet that would reflect the sun's rays.

Kerwin is the most likely astronaut to do the work because he's been trained to take a space walk on a normal mission to retrieve film from solar telescopes.

"If we get the solar shield deployed, we feel we'll be able to get the full 28 days with the first mission and have a chance at all 56 days on the last two," Schneider said.

Asked about the possibility of a launch on Sunday. Schneider replied:

"It depends on how much work we will have to do when we reach a decision on which approach to take. And then we'll have to decide if we can train the crew. And can we build and test the articles and can we get them to the Kennedy Space Center on time for a Sunday launch?"

He said a decision might not be made until Saturday. If the Saturn 1B rocket can't be launched Sunday, the next favorable liftoff time is May 25.

Officers from 3 counties take part in wild chase

A 26-year-old Greenfield driver led law enforcement officers from three counties on a Keystone Cops chase early Thursday morning before his car finally went out of control and crashed on U.S. 50, two miles west of Chillicothe.

The driver, identified as Robert Lee Purdin, presently is lodged in the Greenfield jail on charges of driving under the influence of alcohol, speeding and a stop sign violation.

Fayette County Sheriff Sgt. John Emrick said he was called into the chase at 3:16 a.m. when Greenfield police radioed for assistance. He said they apparently had attempted to stop the car in Greenfield and the driver fled north on Ohio 41 into Fayette County.

Purdin turned off Ohio 41 onto Ghormley Road a few minutes later, then traveled over several other county roads, finally returning to Greenfield where Emrick pulled in behind him, followed by Greenfield police and Highland County sheriff's cruisers.

The car sped out of Greenfield on U.S. 28 where two Ross County cruisers joined in the noisy parade. Purdin stopped the car in South Salem and let out his five passengers, then sped away again, crashing into a Greenfield police cruiser as he made his getaway. He continued towards Chillicothe with three sheriff's cruisers and a Greenfield police car in hot pursuit.

Emrick said Purdin's 1957 model car was traveling at a high rate of speed when it finally spun out of control and crashed on U.S. 50 at 3:56 a.m. just 40 minutes after the chase began.

Purdin was taken into custody by Greenfield police and was returned to the jail.

McCord to have top witness role

WASHINGTON (AP) — James McCord, the talkative conspirator, planted the seed of disclosure now coming to bloom. He broke the silence that let the Watergate story come tumbling through.

It was an uncharacteristic act for an unusual man, a reallife spy whose world was secrecy and codes and a willingness to do anything for a cause—except take the rap for others.

When McCord steps before the cameras in the opening phase of the Senate's Watergate hearings, he'll be in a spotlight that he helped focus with a clumsily typed letter in March.

Then he stood before a judge prepared to impose a heavy sentence for being caught in the act burgling and bugging Democratic party headquarters.

The letter, at that time already in Chief U.S. District Court Judge John J. Sirica's hands, changed it all.

"In the interests of justice," McCord wrote, "I will state the following to you at this time."

And then came three terse paragraphs of allegations:

—There was political pressure applied to the defendants in the Watergate trial to plead guilty and remain silent.

—Perjury occurred during the trial.

—Others involved in the Watergate operation were not identified during the trial, when they could have been by those testifying.

Later the same day, March 23, McCord met with investigators for the special Senate Watergate committee. He talked about point three: He'd been told that John N. Mitchell, Jeb S. Magruder and John W. Dean III planned Watergate with G. Gordon Liddy, his codefendant in the trial.

Another time he talked of point one: The Committee for the Re-election of the President promised money; presidential aides promised clemency in return for stony silence.

And to lawyers in civil suits McCord talked of point 2: Jeb Magruder lied, he said.

McCord's testimony was so sensational it leaked out before stenographers had a chance to transcribe it. He talked so much that only two days of depositions totaled 380 pages.

He is certain to be the most sensational of the early witnesses in the Senate's great Caucus Room and in what promises to be the most sensational of the many dramatic hearings that have been held there.

Several factors enter into latest gold-buying rush

LONDON (AP) — The price of gold hit record highs in Europe this week above $100 an ounce, and the U.S. dollar was in trouble again. Here is an explanation of some of the factors in the situation:

Question: What is so good about gold?

Answer: Gold has two roles. One is historic, as a backer of money, since the days when coins were worth their weight in gold. Nowadays in many parts of the world paper money is still worth no more than the amount of gold it can buy. When people worry that the buying power of their money is shrinking, they often prefer to hold gold instead. If enough of them change their money for gold at the same time, they drive up the price of the metal.

Q. What is the other role of gold?

A. Like coffee, tin or any other commodity, gold can be traded on open markets in Europe. When orders to buy outweigh orders to sell, the price goes up. In recent months the demand from dentists, jewelers, industry, hoarders and financial speculators has been greater than the supplies of newly mined gold reaching the market. So the price has gone up.

Q. Why the big rise in the price of gold now?

A. Gold has been climbing for the past two years. As confidence in the twice-devalued U.S. dollar declined, more and more individuals and companies decided to pay out dollars to buy gold. This weakened the dollar and doubled the gold price over the past year.

By last Friday, gold had reached a record high of about $97 an ounce in Europe. The Watergate scandal was undermining confidence in the dollar further. Traders were virtually certain the gold price would break through the psychologically important hurdle of $100 an ounce this week and then climb even higher.

Decisions were made over the weekend to buy millions of dollars worth of gold on Monday. The price broke $100 that day and went as high as $124 an ounce briefly in Paris before beginning to settle down by the middle of the week. The longterm outlook remainad unclear.

Q. Who bought gold?

A. Wealthy interests in the Middle East who are paid in dollars and felt safer holding gold, international corporations with spare cash, speculators and such hoarders as French peasants who traditionally buy gold in times of political or economic uncertainty. The big buyers keep their identities secret. Dealers were divided Thursday over the importance of Middle East buyers.

Q. Can anybody buy gold?

A. No. Americans have been barred from buying gold legally since 1934. A measure now before Congress may change this. But for the moment, Americans can take advantage of rising gold prices by buying stock in profitable gold mines. Most European and Asian governments allow their citizens to buy and hold gold.

Q. Who sells gold?

A. South Africa mines 78 per cent of the non-Communist world's supply of new gold. The Soviet Union is another key source of new gold. Australia, Canada and some other countries are less important suppliers.

These countries, together with hoarders and speculators, often keep

Salinger defendant in lawsuit

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—A $40 million suit has been filed here against 34 defendants—including Pierre Salinger, former press secretary for President John F. Kennedy—charging them with setting up corporations to avoid Securities and Exchange Commission regulations.

The suit was filed as a class action in U.S. District Court Wednesday by two Florida residents in behalf of the 3,000 stockholders in USIF Real Estate, which the plaintiffs claim is the largest real estate holder in the country.

Defendants are Salinger and other founders of Gramco Management Limited, several Gramco subsidiaries including USIF, and six banks in Philadelphia, Michigan and Ohio.

The suit claims that when Gramco set up USIF Real Estate in 1966, it also set up several other subsidiaries to carry out the management and insurance of USIF real estate holdings.

The plaintiffs charge that in violation of SEC regulations USIF paid "inflated fees" to the other Gramco subsidiaries, which allegedly made large profits at the expense of USIF stockholders.

The suit also charges that USIF deposits held by several banks were frozen in 1970, preventing USIF stockholders from selling their stock back to the company.

Reserve board tightens money

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Federal Reserve Board has moved to cool the nation's economy by tightening the supply of money member banks have available for business loans.

The board Wednesday ordered member banks to raise their reserves from 5 to 8 per cent on the amount of increase in their large outstanding certificates of deposit. The action takes effect June 7.

Banks issue certificates of deposit in exchange for money deposited for specified periods of time. Higher interest is paid on the certificates than on regular savings accounts.

Certificates are a major source of funds that banks acquire and lend to businesses at higher interest rates.

By the increased reserve requirements, the board is forcing member banks to set aside a greater percentage of their new funds.

If a bank had $20 million outstanding in deposit certificates in the week ended May 16 and increased that amount to $25 million, that additional $5 million would be subjected to the 8 per cent reserve requirement.

Under the new directive, the bank would be forced to set aside $400,000 in reserves, rather than the $250,000 under the old regulation. This would withhold $150,000 that, in the absence of the directive, would have been available for lending to businesses.

The board also removed the ceiling on interest rates that banks may pay on certificates of deposits in amounts of $100,000 and over. But the increase will not apply to banks with total outstanding certificates of less than $10 million.

About $1 billion in certificates of deposit is now outstanding, $800 million more than at the start of the year, said the board.

The board, which asked banks to observe the "spirit as well as the letter" of its actions, said business borrowing from commercial banks increased by about $15 billion during the first four months of the year. That amounts to an annual rate of increase of about 15 per cent, compared to last year's 11.5 per cent.

Scandal hearings

campaign—Republican, Democratic and otherwise.

The Washington Post, which has won a Pulitzer prize for Watergate coverage, today reported the break-in and bugging of Democratic party headquarters in the Watergate was but one incident in a huge White House undercover operation beginning in 1969 and involving still-unreported cases of political burglary, wiretapping, spying and sabotage.

The Post said the mentalhealth records of Sen. Thomas F. Eagleton, D-Mo., were in the possession of White House adviser John D. Ehrlichman for several weeks before the story leaked to the press that the Democratic vice-presidential candidate had undergone electric-shock treatment for nervous exhaustion. Eagleton then quit the ticket.

Personnel of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, the Secret Service, the Justice Department and the White House were used in a wide variety of clandestine operations, the Post said, quoting "highly placed sources in the executive branch."

Sen. Sam J. Ervin Jr., the committee's chairman, is quick to point out that the panel is charged to "prove or disprove" any and all accusations.

As Senate workmen prepared the Caucus Room for the beginning of the long set of Watergate hearings, another high administration official resigned, becoming at least the 11th to quit after being touched by various aspects of the case.

G. Bradford Cook, chairman of the Securities and Exchange Commission, left the government Wednesday in the aftershock of the indictments of former Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell, former Commerce Secretary Maurice H. Stans and two others charged with alleged campaign financing violations.

The White House pointed a finger of blame, meanwhile, at a man who did not quit but was fired: John W. Dean III, formerly the President's official lawyer.

White House Press Secretary Ronald L. Ziegler insisted that Dean conducted an in-house Watergate investigation for the President. But Ziegler called it inadequate.

Dean, who has been granted immunity for anything he may say at the Senate hearings, has said he never wrote a report on such an investigation for the White House. He told interviewers he was "flabbergasted" when the President told a news conference Aug. 29 a "Dean report" had cleared all aides then on the White House staff.

Dean vowed he will not be made a scapegoat in the Watergate case.

But lawyers representing him told a federal judge they believe there is at least a chance he may be indicted. They said Dean has been unable to learn from federal prosecutors if he is suspected of any crime.

Similar statements came from lawyers representing Ehrlichman and former White House chief of staff H.R. Haldeman as all three men asked to be excused for the present from making depositions in a Watergate-connected civil suit. Haldeman and Ehrlichman resigned as a result of Watergate.

Although it does not have the same international reputation, the Ohio River System handled more tonnage in 1971 and 1972 than the Panama Canal.

WAR PROTESTER — Mrs. Martha Tranquilli, 63, grandmother and registered nurse, was sentenced to nine months in federal prison for not paying taxes at Mound Bayou, Miss. A native of Springfield, Ill., Mrs. Tranquilli withheld 60 per cent of her income taxes as a protest against U.S. involvement in Southeast Asia, by claiming six peace and freedom groups as dependents.

Gold-buying rush

their supplies off the market when prices are rising. This can drive prices up further for more profitable sales later. Russia and South Africa appear to be holding back now.

Q. Will the gold price always go up?

A. Not necessarily. Governments are working to reform the international monetary system. Should they find a new reserve unit for money to replace gold, the price of the metal will probably drop. Any time the South Africans or the Russians decide to unload supplies on the market, the price should drop sharply.

Q. How does a gold buying rush affect the dollar?

A. If holders of dollars use them to buy up large quantities of gold, the market is flooded with dollars and the value declines. And since 1968 there have been two gold markets, official and free. On the official market, used for transactions between governments, the price of gold is now $42.22 an ounce. Industries, speculators and others trade on the free markets where the price is now over $100 an ounce. The higher the free market price rises, the greater the pressure to raise the official price. When the official gold price goes up, the U.S. dollar is devalued.

Q. What happens if the dollar is devalued?

A. Americans must pay more for imported goods and vacations abroad. It costs more to run U.S. businesses overseas. But U.S. exports become cheaper and more competitive.

Q. Is another devaluation likely?

A. Not yet. Since the last U.S. devaluation in February, a number of technical steps have been taken to steady world money markets, among them foreign exchange controls and floating exchange rates. A continued gold rush, however, could eventually unravel these arrangements and force another dollar devaluation. Most experts now rate the possibility as unlikely.

Q. What are the immediate effects of the gold price rise?

A. Jewelry prices are going up, but not as fast as gold. The increase in a pair of earrings, for example, will depend on how much gold is in them and when they were bought.

Ohio drive on child abuse brings flood of new cases

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio's campaign against child abuse and neglect has brought the problems "out from under the rug," according to state Welfare Director Charles Bates.

Bates Wednesday cited statistics on big increases in the number of cases reported as indications that the administration's program has been a "tragic success."

He said twice as many children were reported abused or neglected in the first four months of this year as during the same period during 972. Last year reports were up 62 per cent over 1971. The state campaign began last July.

"No one likes to hear of children being hurt or killed," Bates said, "but the more cases we're able to uncover the more children and parents we'll have the opportunity to help before it's too late."

Bates said public response to the program has been "tremendous" and pointed to 40,000 requests the department has received for literature dealing with the problem.

In addition, he said, more than 400 social workers from welfare agencies in 76 Ohio counties have attended a series of workshops to train participants on how to prevent child abuse in their own communities.

Many county welfare departments and children service boards, especially in urban areas, have added staff members to investigate such cases, Bates said, and a few agencies have established new programs dealing solely with the problem.

The state welfare department has hired two additional child protective services specialists to help local agencies, he added.

A bill currently pending in the Ohio House would add to the effectiveness of the program, Bates said. The measure would broaden the number of professional groups required to report cases to include coroners and and operators of part-and full-time day care centers.

"This legislation would also clearly define what constitutes the 'emotional' neglect of a child and insure all local agencies report every case," he said.

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Cold air continues to pour into Ohio today in the wake of a cold front that moved across the state overnight.

A combination of clear skies and unseasonably cold air will bring the threat of frost to most of the state tonight.

Temperatures at dawn today dipped into the upper 30s and low 40s over most of the state. Toledo reported a record-breaking 33-degree reading at dawn.

It was coldest in the northwestern part of the state where the cold front first penetrated Ohio. Warmest was the southeast, where cloudy skies continued early today.

Showers were common along the front overnight, but skies cleared after the front's passage.

Warmer weather will return to Ohio Friday as southwesterly winds move into the Buckeye State.

Showery periods through Monday. Highs in the 60s and low 70s. Lows in the 40s Saturday morning, warming to the 50s by Monday.

Death jokes not funny to official

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Late-night talk show host Johnny Carson was joking on television about the American way of death in general and Nashville's high-rise mausoleum in particular.

An official of Woodlawn Memorial Park, the proprietors of the mausoleum, jokingly offered to process the NBC star through his mortuary's crematorium.

The exchange began last month when Carson, quoting from an Associated Press story about Woodlawn's new 20-story mausoleum, included several wisecracks about death and morticians in his nightly monolog.

That led to a full-page advertisement in Nashville's morning newspaper, the Tennessean, in which the Woodlawn proprietors chided Carson for his attitude.

"Death Is No Joking Matter," the ad declared.

"I didn't mean anything disrespectful ..." Carson replied to the ad on his show Wednesday night. "You know they (morticians) are going to have the last laugh anyway."

Lukens case argument set

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Ohio Supreme Court has set oral arguments next Wednesday on State Sen. Donald L. "Buzz" Lukens' arguments that he should be permitted to be a Republican candidate for governor or U.S. Senator next year.

Lukens, of Middletown, was ruled off any ballot by Secretary of State Ted W. Brown, who said he failed to file his expense statement from his last state senate campaign on time.

Brown acted under an Ohio law that says candidates who do not file within 45 days of the election cannot seek public office for five years.

Lukens countered that he did mail the statement but it was not received or recorded by the Butler County Board of Elections.

Lukens said he mailed a second statement — received 12 days after the deadline — after the board notified him they hadn't received the first one.

Kleindienst to speak

DELAWARE, Ohio (AP) — Former U.S. Atty. Gen. Richard Kleindienst will speak at Ohio Wesleyan University Wednesday as part of the Memorial Union program.

As of December 31, 1972, there were approximately 31,000 registered pilots and 5,775 registered aircrafts in Ohio.

Stock list down again

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market moved downwards today in moderate trading as already cautious investors kept close tabs on the televised Senate Watergate hearings.

The 11:30 a.m. Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was down 3.83 points at 913.31. Declining issues on the New York Stock Exchange led advances 667 to 398.

"There is a problem confronting the market, psychologically at least, and that's Watergate," said Martin I. Goodfriend of Bruns, Nordeman & Co. "The headlines from these hearings are likely to be negative."

As the market opened today the government announced it had revised upward the firstquarter gross national product figures to show that the inflation rate was the highest since 1951. The Commerce Department announced first-quarter corporate profits rose by 25.9 per cent from a year earlier, and the federal budget deficit showed a sharp reduction in the first quarter.

Home study students gain stature

By JOHN CUNNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — Today's home study student is "more aware and responsible and has a greater intention of finishing his courses than the student of 10 years ago," said the director of the National Home Study Council.

And matching him in each respect, contends the director, William Fowler, are the sellers of home study courses. For one thing, he said, "the schools are more responsible in the students they enroll."

Thus, according to NHSC, whose membership consists of 188 accredited schools with 1.5 million students, some of the most serious problems, perhaps better described as defects, are being ameliorated.

As a result, Fowler said, "The students are learning more and completing more." The completion ratio of about one in four compares favorably with many colleges and exceeds the ratio of some open admission community colleges.

There has always been a great number of very highly motivated students in such courses, which go by the name of home study or extension or correspondence or independent study courses. But a lot of dreamers too.

The typical abuse was to enroll an individual possessed of more hope than dedication, more ambition than ability. And, in fact, many home study courses advertised, and some still do, the dream rather than the details.

But efforts of the Federal Trade Commission and the Veterans Administration and other government agencies have probably reduced the instances.

But the council also claims credit, having withdrawn accreditation from about 20 members since it took on the job 18 years ago, although some of those dropped from membership quickly regained their status.

Counting courses offered by universities, professional organizations, business, religious groups and governments, it is estimated that more than five million Americans are studying at home.

Fowler can list many reasons for their popularity, among them:

—The school comes to the student, the student learns at his own pace, he can fit study time around jobs and other activities, he can emphasize what he wants, he pays only for wanted courses, he has the instructor's complete attention, he has constant feedback.

Rapid technological changes also require skilled workers to continue their education on the job.

A Carnegie Corp. study shows that craftsmen and foremen make more extensive use of correspondence courses than any other nonmilitary groups, followed in order by professional and technical workers, and high school diploma seekers.

Seven Wonders of the Ancient World were: Colossus of Rhodes on a small island in the Aegean Sea; Great Temple of Diana in Ephesus, Turkey; Great Pyramid in Egypt; Hanging Gardens of Babylon; giant statue of Zeus in Olympia, Greece; Pharos Lighthouse at the tip of a peninsula in Alexandria, Egypt, and the Tomb of King Mausolus in Bodium, Turkey.

CAMPUS PRESIDENT — Lee Gill, 24, ex-convict, has been elected president of the University of Michigan Student Government Council at Ann Arbor. Gill carries a 3.5 grade average and expects to earn his B.A. degree this summer. He served six months in jail for stealing a car. It was in prison that he became interested in getting an education.

Opinion And Comment

Searchlight of the Press

Much has been said in praise of the Washington Post's penetrating, sustained coverage of the wide-ranging Watergate scandal. The capstone has been set on that sentiment, now, with the award to the Post of the 1973 Pulitzer Prize for meritorious public service.

The bestowal of this accolade is doubly welcome. It is well deserved recognition of what a great newspaper in our capital city has done to illuminate wrongdoing in high places. But the award is gratifying, also, because the Post's Watergate coverage so dramatically gave the lie to attacks on the press as a grossly biased and self-serving institution.

The contrary is further emphasized by the fact that another Pulitzer Prize went to reporters for the Knight Newspapers who brought to light Sen. Thomas Eagleton's history of psychiatric treatment. Neither Republican nor Democratic parties have escaped the searchlight of keen reporting. The public has been well served in both instances.

THESE DAYS . . . by John Chamberlain

Jackson and the venture note

Sen. Henry M. Jackson of the State of Washington has been attracting a good deal of attention from those who insist on making early book on presidential sweepstakes. The attention is deserved.

But the reasons offered for Jackson't 1976 availability fail to do justice to the Jackson character, which is far less opportunistic than appears from the accounts that try to set him up as a person destined to breathe new life into the old Franklin Delano Roosevelt coalition in the Democrat Party.

Ben Wattenberg, an able student of election trends and social statistics, is responsible for projecting the image of Jackson as the likely beneficiary of the coalition revival. Working at Jackson headquarters in Miami Beach last summer, Wattenberg thoroughly enjoyed himself in pointing out, with scathing satirical comment, that George McGover's "quotas" — the young, the poor, the black and the women's libbers—excluded the rank and file of the Democratic Party.

McGOVERN made no appeal to labor (AFL-CIO president George Meany couldn't stand him), he had angered the city boss element by his treatment of Mayor Richard Daley of Chicago, his partiality to the blacks and the "new" minorities did not sit well with the Irish, Italian, Polish, Czech and Greek ethnics who had made great economic progress since the Rooseveltian New Deal, and he had ignored the claims of the South.

Jackson would have made a far better candidate than McGovern, but the primaries had stacked the convention against common sense.

Now that time has proved Ben Wattenberg's points, the ignored elements of the old Roosevelt coalition are speaking up for Jackson. George Meany endorses Jackson's foreign policy ideas and trusts him on both labor and welfare economics. Chicago's Dick Daley has said , "God willing, he'll be President." Jackson's stand on military preparedness satisfies conservatives, particularly in the South.

Jewish liberals would surely support him financially because of the "Jackson amendment" that would deny economic favors to Moscow as long as its stiff emigration tax keeps Jews from going to Israel.

The ethnics of East European background, liking Jackson's quid pro quo attitude toward the Communists, would surely vote for him.

Arithmetically, then, Jackson should be the front-runner in a party that needs labor, the South, the Jewish liberals and the city bosses with their ethnic followings if it is to upset the prophets of the "coming Republican majority." But adding the elements of the old Roosvelt coalition together, while it may make for impressive statistics, ignores the probability that certain agonizing national issues will be cutting across all the old standard)ized lines in 1976.

What impresses me about Jackson is that he is alive to dangers that transcend the arithmetic of coalition. The other Democratic hopefuls — Edward Kennedy, Walter Mondale, Ed Muskie — are still predominantly welfare-minded.

JACKSON has his own sense of compassion, but, peering into the future, he sees a country that will be tormented less by welfare needs than by a snowballing energy crisis. Jackson has been talking about stockpiling oil. When the other prominent Democrats were repeating the cliches of the ecologists, Jackson was questioning what the environmental zealots were doing to make it difficult for people to earn enough money to live in any environment, good or bad.

Jackson would not be oblivious to the need for clean water and clean air, but he would move ahead with economic development first and find ways of making it ecologically safe as we go along.

He would, in short, keep the country strong, free and economically venturesome. It is the venture note that the majority of the presidential bookmakers ignore when they rate Scoop Jackson's chances.

WASHINGTON CALLING . . . by Marquis Childs

Bruce ideal for Peking assignment

PEKING — Arriving in Peking as ambassador of the United States to China in everything but name, David K. E. Bruce is initiating a new phase in the rapidly developing relationship between the two countries. The speed with which the exchange of missions between Peking and Washington came about is in itself remarkable.

When Henry Kissinger, the President's adviser on national security affairs, came here in February the outside limit of his hope was to get agreement on trade offices in the two capitals.

This would be a modest establishment, without fanfare, intended to smooth the way for increased trade. He was astonished when Premier Chou En-lai suggested a liaison mission that would have diplomatic immunity and some diplomatic privileges.

THE CHOICE of Bruce was a ten-strike. Not only America's senior deplomat serving as ambassador in Paris, Bon and London, he is a scholar and a witty raconteur out of his wealth of experience. Yet, for all his many years in foreign posts he is unmistakably an American.

His independence has been uppermost from the announcement of his appointment to his arrival in Hong Kong, the first stop on the way to Peking. He has a diplomatic assignment of the first importance and he intends to devote himself to that task with no distractions.

He firmly resisted efforts to swell the mission with aides from Commerce, Agriculture and the USIA.

His age, 75, was a further compliment to the Chinese. It is the age of Chou En-lai, whose achievements as diplomat and administrator over every detail of the life of this vast land are without parallel in the contemporary world.

On each of his four visits to Peking, the first two years ago to lay the groundwork for the Nixon mission, Kissinger has spent many hours in discussion with Chou. Meeting in the late morning and in the early evening, they would often talk late into the night. Kissinger has said that conversation never lagged, no matter how long the discussion went on.

TRANSCRIPTS were made of these conversations and as part of the preparation for his assignment Bruce read the thousands of words exchanged between the two. It gave him an extraordinary insight into the mind of one of the commanding figures of the century. And this will be a marked advantage in forming what are certain to be his own close ties with the Premier.

Having spent part of his youth in Paris where he first became a member of the Communist party, Chou speaks French fluently, as do Bruce and his wife. Like Bruce, he has strong feeling for antiques and art objects. When he was in Geneva as head of the Chinese delegation to the Indochina conference he had in his villa porcelains of museum quality.

In this liaison mission Bruce, who does not speak Chinese, is backstopped by a new generation of China specialists. Eight of the 30 in the mission speak fluent Chinese. Since the older generation of China hands in the Foreign Service was destroyed in the McCarthy-Dulles era, it is the more remarkable that these younger men are ready to understand and interpret the new China.

ALMOST to the day 130 years ago Secretary of State Daniel Webster sent Caleb Cushing, the first American emissary to Peking, to negotiate a treaty to protect American businessmen and missionaries. One of Webster's worries was that Cushing would be required when presented to the emperor to perform the kowtow, which consisted of "three kneelings and nine prostrations" with the nose on the floor.

It turned out that, while he did negotiate a treaty giving Americans extraterritorial privileges, Cushing never saw the emperor.

Some critics called Nixon's self-invited mission to Peking a kowtow. That was the beginning of the greatest diplomatic venture of our time. And Bruce, initiating a new era freed of the inhibitions of the past, is an ideal choice to carry on that adventure. His ruddy face, the mark of an American who has ridden hard over the hills of the Virginia he loves, is immediately identifiable.

With his beautiful wife, Evangeline, they will represent the best of America.

"You CAN buy happiness."

Today In History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Thursday, May 17, the 137th day of 1973. There are 228 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1954, the U.S. Supreme Court ruled that racial segregation in American public schools was unconstitutional.

On this date:

In 1756, Britain declared war on France.

In 1792, the New York Stock Exchange was founded.

In 1803, the first patent for a reaper was granted to Richard French and John Hawkins of New Jersey.

In 1875, the first Kentucky Derby was run at Louisville, Ky.

In 1957, Egypt barred Israeli merchant ships from the Suez Canal.

In 1961, Prime Minister Fidel Castro of Cuba offered to exchange prisoners captured in the Bay of Pigs invasion for American heavy tractors.

Ten years ago: It was announced that President John F. Kennedy would have an audience with Pope John XXIII when the president visited Italy late in June.

Five years ago: Soviet Premier Alexei Kosygin flew to Prague, Czechoslovakia in the midst of a mounting dispute with Czechoslovakia.

One year ago: The West German parliament approved treaties West Germany had made with the Soviet Union and Poland.

"I COULDN'T AFFORD NOT TO BUY IT. THINK WHAT IT WILL COST SIX MONTHS FROM NOW."

Hal Boyle . . .

Hal rummages in the mailbag

NEW YORK (AP) — Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail:

Be glad you don't grow at the rate an opossum does. As an adult it reaches 28,000 times its birth weight. If this were true of you and you had been an eight-pound baby, you would now weigh 112 tons, too much for even a mother to love.

The health care you can get readily depends to a great extent on where you live in America. For example, there are 133 counties which have no resident physician. However, only 0.2 per cent of the U.S. population lives in these counties.

The beard of a man who lets it grow numbers about 13,000 whiskers. They grow at a density of about 390 per square inch on his cheeks, 580 per square inch on his chin.

Know your calendar: In the ancient Roman calendar, ascribed to Romulus, the year had only 10 months. The last was called December because it came from a word meaning 10. But when two more months were added, it was still placed last despite the fact its name was no longer appropriate in that position. The Saxons called the last month "winter-monath" or "heligh-monath," because it contained Christmas.

It isn't disease alone that keeps us from becoming centenarians. One of the quickest ways to extend the average life of the American male would be to eliminate the lethal toll of accidents, homicides, and suicides.

Quotable notables: "There are plenty of new sights under the sun for those who have eyes to see. Nothing is done finally and right. Nothing is done positively and completely. In science, probably 99 per cent of the knowable has yet to be discovered." — Lincoln Steffens.

A sick society: The world may not be crazy but it drives many people mad. One out of 10 Americans suffers from some form of mental illness, mild or severe. Mental disease has become a problem affecting 21 million U.S. families — one out of four.

A rut: The nation's leading chain cave operator, Lester B. Dill, operator of Meramec Caverns on Highway 66 in Missouri, claims he has been in more than 15,000 caves throughout the world — more than anyone else in history. What's your claim to fame?

Productive: Why is agriculture so important? Because if he lived only on wild plants and wild game, each human being would need eight square miles in which to forage. But thanks to proper soil cultivation, that same amount of acreage can now support on the average more than 5,000 people.

Worth remembering: "One of the reasons so many politicians are keeping their mouths shut today is that they are afraid if they open them a foot will fall out."

Folklore: Hairs from a black cat have curative powers. Cats born in the month of May make poor mousers. If a cat sits with its back to the fire, expect a storm soon. Put butter on a cat's paws to keep it from straying from a new house you move into.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE—Here's how to work it:

A X Y D L B A A X R

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophes, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

Dear Abby:

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

Mother smokes when kids light up the grass

DEAR ABBY: How right you are! No one should drop in on their married children unannounced. They might be smoking grass there!

I learned the hard way. If someone stole my purse, I'd report it to the police. But when I'm present when they're smoking marijuana in their own homes, I just keep my mouth shut, come home, and air out my clothes and hope I never have to smell it again.

I know what I am going to put in their Christmas stockings next year. A hacksaw for her, and a file for him.

I've invited my daughter, her husband, and several of their friends over for dinner next week, and if those kids light up in my home I'll call the sheriff. (I wonder if I should warn them in advance? Or do you suppose after four years of college they are sufficiently educated to know that one doesn't break the law in the home of a host?)

I never thought I'd send a letter couldn't sign, but here's one. Aren't we a bunch of lovely law abiding Christian parents? Thanks for being a good ear. I had to tell someone or explode.

FRUSTRATED MOTHER

DEAR FRUSTRATED: Why the frustration? Just tell your kids you don't want them lighting up in your home, and if you are present when they light up elsewhere, absent yourself.

DEAR ABBY: Since you frequently give waitresses space in your column to air their pet peeves I hope you'll give equal time to a customer who has one:

Where do people get the nerve to go into a busy restaurant and READ at the table? I can understand someone giving the newspaper a quick going over to get the news, but I've seen people leisurely reading books and magazines at the table while others are waiting to sit down and eat.

I hope you'll print this for some of those selfish people who need to be jarred into more considerate behavior.

CHICAGOAN

DEAR CHICAGOAN: I'll print it. But those who behave in the abovementioned manner need more than a "jar." They need an earthquake.

DEAR ABBY: My problem has no solution, unless this is printed and the "culprit" just happens to see it and recognizes herself as the singer.

My sister, whom I love dearly, has been a widow for several years, and since she is a very congenial person my husband and I have invited her along on our motor trip vacation. We love music and our automobile is equipped with stereo and our favorite cassettes.

Now comes the problem: My sister, who has no singing voice at all, must accompany every song she hears. She does this in a shrill, off-key voice, four to six beats ahead (or behind) and sometimes she "harmonizes."

My husband and I intend to spend three months touring Mexico and my husband has given me an ultimatum: Tell Sis to keep her mouth shut, or the trip is off.

Any ideas?

LOVING SISTER

DEAR SISTER: Tell Sis that your husband, the music-lover, is looking forward to enjoying the music on the trip, and you'd appreciate her quiet cooperation.

Tighter British gun law

Comparatively speaking, Britain has very little crime involving use of a gun. One thing Britain does have is strict gun control laws; licenses for hand guns are rarely granted, and rifles and shotguns cannot be possessed unless they are licensed by the police.

It strikes us as a fair conclusion that there is a connection between these two things. It strikes the British government that way, too. Firm as the present gun laws are, the government proposes to tighten them further. The new rules being considered would even permit the banning of gun replicas which in a committee's judgment look real enough to be used by a criminal. Britain, already tough about guns, is moving further in this direction.

Bobby Seale loses election

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP) — Black Panther cofounder Bobby Seale lost his bid to become mayor of California's fifth largest city. But he pledges, "We haven't stopped yet."

Businessman John Reading captured his third term as mayor by an almost 2-1 margin Tuesday and lauded the Panthers' movement into the political arena.

"I would hope they will continue to work in the democratic process," Reading said after his victory was assured. "I'm much more pleased with this than with the militant and confrontational type of approach the Panthers were doing four to five years ago."

Frank Loomis of Akron designed the first auto police patrol wagon in 1899.

TAURUS
(April 21 to May 21)

Begin new, creative work, take up a refreshing diversion, practice a skill. Day especially favors the arts and science; also friendships and romance.

GEMINI
(May 22 to June 21)

Restlessness or overzealousness could send you off too readily on a detrimental bent, a truly wrong turn. Emphasize your inherent keenness of perception — and halt!

CANCER
(June 22 to July 23)

Venture where a belief is sound and data readily available. In the latter connection, you may have to search more. Rewards for the effort.

LEO
(July 24 to Aug. 23)

Logic, reasoning MUST be stressed. Do not rely on hunches or someone's say-so. Seek more knowledge of your subject — and be sure.

VIRGO
(Aug. 24 to Sept. 23)

Strategy and common sense will be the biggest factors in your success picture now. THINK your way through obstacles.

LIBRA
(Sept. 24 to Oct. 23)

Be sure that whatever it is in which you invest time, money or energies has meaning — not just for the present, but for the future. Care in handing details!

SCORPIO
(Oct. 24 to Nov. 22)

Good offerings indicated. Stress your competence and do not hesitate to accept others' ideas if practical. Intellectual prusuits favored.

SAGITTARIUS
(Nov. 23 to Dec. 21)

Avoid indecision and inflexibility if you would make REAL progress. No matter what the external conditions, you can accomplish with pluck.

CAPRICORN
(Dec. 22 to Jan. 20)

As with Sagittarius, you also could be caught in tides of indecision, moods of lethargy or downright obstinacy. All must be curbed if you would have a satisfactory day.

AQUARIUS
(Jan. 21 to Feb. 19)

Don't wait for help. Many would like to aid your project, but can't find the time. So go on the assumption that it's your ball to carry, and carry it.

PISCES
(Feb. 20 to March 20)

Avoid agitators and trouble-makers, but DO stand up for what is right or you will give them strength through your passiveness.

YOUR BORN TODAY are extremely ambitious and versatile; quite philosophical in your attitudes toward life but, nevertheless, determined in your quest for success. And, through hard work, coupled with your talents, you could quite easily acquire a fortune. Your abilities suit you to a career in a variety of fields but, notably, in science, music, writing and the theater — especially in drama criticism or play-writing. You also have a considerable amount of business acumen and would make an excellent executive. A tendency to be too dictatorial with those under your supervision may not make you a popular one, however.

Three attend CF workshop

Mrs. Robert Lee, Mrs. Rollo Marchant and Mrs. Gerald Wheat attended a two-day Program Introduction Workshop recently for new Camp Fire Girls material. The workshop, held in the Ramada Inn in Dayton, was one of 20 held in cities all over the country. The new program materials for use with girls in grades one through six will be available in September. Fall leader training is being planned now to introduce the new ideas to all leaders of the Paint Valley Council.

While the new materials contain all of the traditions of Camp Fire Girls, they have been adapted to suit the variety of girls and communities in today's society. New ideas, additional honors to be earned, and an opportunity to study other cultures will give girls and leaders something to look forward to in the next year.

National public release date for these books will be Sept. 12. Board members of the Paint Valley Council will be given a preview at their next regular meeting on May 21 in the CF office.

TV Viewing

By JAY SHARBUTT
AP Television Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Today's televised Senate hearings on the Watergate scandal were in no way limited to U.S. viewers who could see them on public television or on any of the three commercial networks.

Because of the satellite, it was theoretically possible for most of the world to plug into the show and see it live.

Nobody did, but news teams from at least two major nations planned to broadcast same-day television pictures of the proceedings, which also were being covered by European and Asian radio reporters.

The drill called for videotaped highlights of today's hearing before the Senate Select Committee to be sent by satellite to England and Japan, in addition to the radio reports filed overseas.

The ABC Television network was running the television pool from which ABC, CBS, NBC and the Public Broadcasting Service took their "feeds" for broadcast on their networks.

That feed also was to be taken by the British Broadcasting Corp. and England's commercial television system for transmission overseas this afternoon, ABC officials said.

The two British television reports were to be videotaped at a local Washington television station, edited there, reporters' narration added and then broadcast to London by satellite.

Before the start of the Watergate hearings, the Senate Radio-Television Gallery said it had received 13 requests from foreign broadcast journalists—most of them European—for permission to cover the hearings.

However, it wasn't immediately known how many actually showed up and were accredited. Fifty broadcast journalists had sought accreditation for the hearings, a gallery spokesman said.

Four stationary television cameras were set up to provide the pool pictures of today's opening session, according to Peter Hively, manager of television news coverage for ABC in Washington.

The Senate's Watergate committee, in setting rules for televising or filming the hearings, made only one restriction, said an aide to Sen. Sam Ervin Jr., D-N.C., committee chairman.

He said the committee barred the movement of cameramen with hand-held cameras from around the witness table once a witness had been seated and begun testifying.

The hearings were to be videotaped in full for broadcast tonight on any of PBS' 234 public television stations wishing to air them. The videotaping and nightly broadcasts will continue until the hearings are over, PBS says.

According to the U.S. Department of Transportation, Ohio ranks 4th in the nation, behind California, Texas and New York, in total motor vehicle registration.

Botulism outbreak controlled

CHARLESTON, W.Va. (AP) — An outbreak of botulism poisoning which hospitalized eight persons last week is now under control, according to Dr. N.H. Dyer, director of the West Virginia Department of Health.

"It may be some time before we know the extent of the health damage," Dyer said. "But we feel so far we have been quite fortunate in combatting this."

The Food and Drug Administration Wednesday announced that a recall of the peppers has been extended to Maryland, Michigan, Indiana, Illinois and Ohio.

FDA officials traced the poisoning to processed peppers distributed by Felix and Sons Wholesale Inc. of Fairmont, W.Va., and urged consumers in the Pittsburgh area and West Virginia to return those carrying the lables "Nancy's" and "San Marco Mild Hot Peppers" to the stores where they were purchased.

The original outbreak followed a Sunday dinner in Pittsburgh. An FDA spokesman said Wednessday no more cases of botulism poisoning have been reported.

Dyer said "bad treatment methods" at the Fairmont plant were found following an investigation by the health department and FDA. He said the corrective procedures would be undertaken before the plant could reopen.

One person now hospitalized for poisoning is "quite sick, suffering paralysis of muscles in the throat," Dyer said.

A spokesman at Wheeling Hospital would say only that those affected "are improving."

A Morgantown wholesale firm attempted to distribute the peppers after the recall, Dyer said, but a legal procedure was initiated. Police were called in to guard against any truckloads of peppers leaving the plant, he added.

Paulding resident killed in Indiana

NEW HAVEN, Ind. (AP) — An Ohio man was killed Wednesday night when his speeding car hit a guard rail and utility pole just west of the Indiana-Ohio border in Allen County.

State police said Charles C. Smalley, 20, Paulding, Ohio, was killed in the crash about 14 miles east of New Haven.

His car had been traveling about 100 miles per hour, police said.

The Ohio Department of Transportation estimates that more than 150 million riders will use Ohio's mass transit system, including buses, commuter trains, taxis, Amtrak and electric trolleys in 1973.

Gold prices go lower in Europe

LONDON (AP) — The price of gold eased further today as Europe's booming bullion markets lost a little more heat in early dealings. The U.S. dollar moved up strongly on foreign exchanges.

Gold opened on the free market in London at $103.50 an ounce, a full $1.50 below Wednesday's closing level.

The dollar jumped threequarters of a pfennig to 2.7925 marks at the opening in Frankfurt. In London, the pound sterling sagged more than a cent to $2.5380.

The price of gold dropped $5 in Zurich to $101.50 an ounce, and the dollar was quoted at 3.1675 Swiss francs, up almost a centime.

After touching record highs throughout the past week, gold closed Wednesday in London, the world's biggest gold market, at $105 an ounce. That was down $5.50 from Tuesday.

Similar downward trends were recorded in other European centers.

The gold rush on the free market brought pressure for an increase in the official price of $42.22 an ounce used in transactions between governments to finance their international trade.

The United States is opposed to any increase because it would devalue the dollar as an international reserve currency.

Energy crisis long-lasting, SAE told

DETROIT (AP)—The most damaging effect of the current energy crisis on manufacturing will come in the area of longterm planning, the Society of Automotive Engineers was told Wednesday.

Sheldon Taft of Columbus, Ohio, counsel for the Ohio Manufacturers Association, said firms will be forced to postpone capital spending.

"Right now, how do you know whether to build, where to build or whether to convert to some other source of energy?" he asked.

Taft said natural gas production is at its peak but demand will continue to grow.

"I find it hard to believe that demand and supply will ever come into balance," he said.

He estimated the total national shortage of natural gas will be between one and two trillion cubic feet. Total current production is 25 trillion cubic feet.

If consumption patterns remained the same, the shortage will grow to 40 per cent of production by 1985, he said.

Taft said no plant can be built today that relies on any one source of energy because of the possibility of a shortage.

"Some companies have gone to the extent of locating their plants where energy sources are located, like Texas and Oklahoma," he said.

Hoffa may delay pardon request

WHEELING, W.Va. (AP) — James R. Hoffa, former Teamsters Union president whose jail sentence for jury tampering was commuted by the President, says government preoccupation with the Watergate affair could cause him to delay filing for a pardon.

"I think we'll hesitate," Hoffa said prior to a speech Wednesday at nearby Oglebay Park. "The Watergate has everything tied up. We intend to petition the President first, and then the courts if we're not satisfied.

"But we have to have some type of indication on the pardon by the first of September."

Hoffa, 60, was released in December 1971 after serving 57 months in a federal prison.

He said a pardon would enable him to run for the presidency of his home union local in Detroit. Under terms of the commutation he is banned from union activities until 1980.

Remodeling possibilities exhibited

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures Writer

Many summer cottages are being winterized with a view to income possibilities and retirement living.

In going through a house show one is made aware of the possibilities that exist today for cutting costs in remodeling an old home. The materials and equipment seen may have been around awhile, but we are often unaware that such things exist.

A recent show in Miami provided many ideas that could further the plans of amateurs who would winterize their second homes, whether they do it themselves or hire a professional.

For example, the bathroom has become almost a packaged deal with tubs, showers, vanities, floors and walls preassembled in one form or another. Unit bath and shower arrangements are an enormous assist.

A FIBER GLASS bath unit has a built-in, shoulder-height soap dish, towel bar and chrome fittings. It or the individual shower is available with a finished top. If the do-it-yourselfer is a plumber, he merely measures and installs.

If not, he hires someone to do it. In any event it is less costly than putting in an installation from scratch in an old house.

To finish off the bathroom walls, there are panel systems of plastic "surrounds" to be used around the wall of the tub. Another product intended for that purpose resembles marble and may be cut easily to use over the entire bathroom area if one can afford it.

Even ceramic tile has become easier to use with big sheets of pregrouted glazed tile that can be installed directly over a properly sealed dryway.

Tile "surrounds" for showers have been sized to fit the most popular units, and there are sheets of 36 ceramic tiles measuring two feet by two feet. Experienced do-it-yourselfers may also attempt to lay mosaic floor tiles which come in handy, two feet by two feet strips.

NEW marble-like vanity tops include basins and backsplashes in the molded units, making installation easy.

Of acrylic or composition marble, these are shaped into forms that slide easily into vanities which are available in a variety of styles — Spanish, early American, French Provincial, molded louvered — in a number of sizes.

Expandable rods and adjustable shelves and shoeracks of performed plastic are available for easy-does-it closet fittings.

Adding wiring to rooms is made simpler, too, with baseboard systems that make it unnecessary to gouge out the walls. These are installed in cut-lengths with covers and end panels and resemble baseboard heating units. Plug-in heating installations are also worth investigating for use in remodeled homes.

PREFABRICATED fireplaces can provide extra heat whenever a flue can be projected. And you need not build these into walls or use heavy footings even though they may offer as much charm as the more expensive masonry in-wall installations.

Designs are available for islands, ends of rooms, sides, corners and even the entrance-way of a house with colorful or black and white hoods.

To get more mileage out of a small room, one space multiplier includes desk, night table and bed that come out of a wall of bookcases.

As for a shortage of kitchen cabinets, there are surface-mounted storage panels that can provide space for groceries and other things.

Mini-appliances — refrigerator, washers, dryers — may be used in small areas that heretofore couldn't take the full-size units. Trash compactors are conveniences that may outweigh the expense, especially for older people who must cart their garbage to a dump in some areas.

One company shows a new unit that exerts a 3,000-pound pressure in anticipation of 1980 when the average person's trash may rise from five pounds to an estimated 12 pounds, they say. In any event it compacts the garbage into a small space requiring fewer trips to the garbage can or dump.

FOR PEOPLE in climates where doors warp and shrink there are bifold and other styled doors of steel. Some of structured polymer (plastic) in biford, half-louvered, full louvered and sculptured designs resemble wood, and although the window shutters and doors of the material are factory finished black or white, they may be repainted in colors.

Do You Have Central Air Conditioning In Your Home?

If so there are some service items to be inspected before the system is put in operation for the summer.

If you would like for us to service your unit, please call and you will receive prompt attention.

Note breakthrough in cancer search

BAR HARBOR, Maine (AP) — Jackson Laboratory scientists report discovery of a major cause of two types of cancer in mice that may give an important clue as to how man develops the disease.

Dr. Hans Meier, a senior staff scientist, said Wednesday his research team has what is believed to be the first direct biological proof linking specific viral genetic information that's passed on through inheritance to the formation of cancer.

He said the viral cancer mechanism is a good indication as to what might happen in man, but solid evidence remains to be uncovered.

"I consider our findings a major breakthrough in solving the cancer riddle," said Meier in a telephone interview from the world's largest center of mammalian genetics research.

The evidence of the Meier research team supports the idea that all offspring inherit latent genetic information, or traits, for Type-C RNA viruses which when "switched on" transform normal cells into tumor cells. RNA is the genetic factor that carries information from one cell to another.

Meier said type-C RNA viruses are known to exist in 12 species of animals, including hampsters, apes and other primates.

"Type-C has been found occasionally in man," he added. "That's why there's no reason to think man is an exception" to inheriting the dormant genetic information that can give rise to cancer.

The studies were done with two inbred strains of lab mice and showed the presence of an inborn set of viral genes — a genome — that Meier says is the "major determinant of at least leukemias and reticulum cell sarcomas and perhaps all cancer types." One mice strain was leukemia prone; the other had a low incidence of reticulum cell sarcomas but otherwise was cancer resistant.

Troops cover body search

VICTORIA FALLS, Rhodesia (AP) — Armed police began making their way down the rugged cliffs of the fourth gorge below the Victoria Falls today. They were attempting to recover the bodies of two Canadian girls killed by gunfire along the Rhodesian-Zambian border.

The descent began after assurances from the Zambian government that its troops across the Zambezi river would not interfere.

The body of one of the girls was visible part of the way down the escarpment, but the other girl plunged into the river's crocodile-infested waters in the gorge when she was hit.

It was believed that the body on the rocks was that of Marion Iduma Drijber, 19, of Rockwood, Ont. The missing girl was Christine Louise Sinclair, 20, of Guelph, Ont.

Zambia denied the Rhodesian government's charge that its troops fired on the two girls and an American couple with them Tuesday as they visited the falls, one of the scenic wonders of the world.

Seek restoration of peace in troubled Marion, Ind.

MARION, Ind. (AP) — The shooting death of a 14-year-old black, triggering two nights of sporadic firebombings and vandalism here, did "not necessarily have racial overtones. It's just something that happened," the Rev. J. D. Williams said early today.

But, he added, "There is a racial problem ... the city is plagued with a racial problem."

The latest reported violence occurred about 10 p.m. EST, Wednesday night when a firebomb was thrown through the window at the downtown Sears Department Store, Marion police said. There was only minor damage and the fire was quickly put out by patroling policemen.

Several hours later, the Rev. Williams told the Associated Press by telephone, "Things have calmed down ... almost normal."

The first violence broke out Tuesday night in the wake of the shooting of Robert Johnson, 14, as he walked home from an ice skating rink the night before. No motive in the shooting has been determined, police said.

About 15 persons described by Williams as "a cross-section of the black community" met in the Marion Urban League office Wednesday night to discuss the situation.

"Our next step is to sit down and talk with the Chamber of Commerce and city administration for some long-range goals in community relations," Williams said. "We'll be talking about the police department. The primary interest is over-reaction to problems that might exist in the black community during times of stress. Blacks resent this ... a show of force. They don't see a need in this."

Police reported four fires Tuesday night and four persons were arrested on preliminary charges of arson.

Report Liddy told solons how to skirt election law

WASHINGTON (AP) — Convicted Watergate conspirator G. Gordon Liddy coached Republican congressmen on how to avoid a new campaign law last year but advised them not to break the law because of criminal penalties.

Liddy gave GOP congressmen that advice at the same time he was helping plan the burglary-bugging of the Democratic National Committee headquarters, the operation that would become known as the Watergate affair.

Liddy, then counsel to the Committee for the Re-election of the President, spoke to the congressmen at a seminar on the new campaign law held on Feb. 23, 1972. The seminar was sponsored jointly by the Republican Congressional Committee and the House Republican Conference.

The Republicans released a transcript of the session at which Liddy gave his interpretation of the new law. It went into effect April 7, 1972.

"(The) thing that comes to mind because of the criminal sanctions is be careful," Liddy told the congressmen. "Don't try to play fast and loose with this one. It's a whole different ball game from the current situation ....

"There are strong criminal sanctions running to this act, and we would all be, I think, very well advised not to treat it with the same attitude that you treated the existing laws, which, as you know, had no teeth at all; paper tigers."

While Liddy was warning the congressmen not to break the law, he also advised them on how to successfully skirt it.

"For those of you who are so fortunate as to have prospective donors who can give you a lot of money but who are shy about having their name appear in print, now would be the time to make the donation, because the act does not take effect until April the seventh," he said.

At least one individual, who attended the meeting and had known Liddy previously, said he was concerned that Liddy would even suggest how congressmen might avoid the campaign law.

"Here was a man who said he was counsel to the Committee to Re-elect the President coming to tell Republican congressmen how to beat the law," the individual said. "The tone of the whole thing was very disquieting."

SEC chief 11th administration official to resign position

WASHINGTON (AP) — Chairman G. Bradford Cook of the Securities and Exchange Commission has become the 11th Nixon administration official to quit in the wake of election irregularities.

Cook announced his resignation Wednesday, 15 minutes before he was due to testify secretly before a House panel, amid speculation that he would be asked to discuss the Robert L. Vesco case.

The House Commerce Committee's investigation subcommittee postponed Cook's appearance. Rep. Harley O. Staggers, D-W.Va., told newsmen the session was tentatively rescheduled for Monday.

Staggers, chairman of the full committee and the investigating panel looking into SEC actions, would not say whether Cook's planned appearance was tied to the case involving the secret $200,000 contribution by New Jersey financier Vesco to the President's re-election campaign.

Cook was the latest official of the Nixon administration to leave his job because of burgeoning disclosures about Watergate and other campaign deeds. Ten others before him, including Atty. Gen. Richard G. Kleindienst and White House aides John Ehrlichman and H.R. Haldeman, have resigned.

Staggers said he talked by phone to Cook, who did not appear at the subcommittee room where he was to have testified.

Cook, who denied wrongdoing, said in a letter to Nixon: "I deeply regret having to tender my resignation as chairman of the Securities and Exchange Commission, but in light of unfortunate circumstances now prevailing, I believe it is best to do so." Cook said he found himself facing a "web of circumstances" and felt the effectiveness of the agency might be impaired.

A Senate subcommittee spent about five hours with Cook in a closed meeting last Monday, following reports that under political pressure the SEC, in a lawsuit alleging Vesco and 41 others conspired to loot $224 million from a foreign-based mutual fund, made no mention of the Vesco donation to the Nixon campaign.

Traveling medical vans give service to rural Tennessee

CLARKRANGE, Tenn. (AP) — Early in the morning, five days a week, two large vans travel along twisting Tennessee roads in the Upper Cumberland Mountains.

Their destination? Deer Lodge. Pine Haven. Pleasant Valley. Grimsley. Wilder-Davidson. Crab Orchard. Hanging Limb.

Daily one of these rural villages in seven eastern Tennessee counties gets either medical or dental service from staffs who work out of vans operated by Project Concern, an international medical relief organization.

Once in the villages, the vans are parked near buildings that sometimes serve as waiting rooms. In other cases, the waiting is done in patients' cars.

One doctor examines patients inside the van, as the other uses a side room when available. Medicine is dispensed from a counter in the van.

In a separate village the dental van is also parked and prepared to see some 20 patients. Two chairs allow both the dentist and hygienist to work at the same time.

The dental van is staffed by Dr. Richard Orlowski, a youthful dentist determined to solve tooth problems through a preventive program.

The medical staff is a husband-wife team, James and Mollie Turpin, founders of Project Concern. They've traveled the world and established the project in Vietnam, Hong Kong, Mexico, Ethiopia, Navaholand in New Mexico and have now settled in Appalachia.

The Turpins first arrived in the Upper Cumberlands in 1968, and the first crew worked from a borrowed station wagon, holding clinics under trees, beside buildings or anywhere possible.

Board OKs subdivision agreement

Fayette County Commissioners, meeting in special session Wednesday, passed a resolution on a 2-1 vote expressing the board's intent to enter into an agreement with Gilmore Homes, Inc., for operation and maintenance of a sewage treatment and central water supply system for Culpepper Subdivision No. 3.

The subdivision is located north of Washington C.H. on Ohio 41.

Voting against the proposal was Commissioner J. Herbert Perrill.

Perrill said that although county commissioners are permitted to take over the operation and maintenance of such facilities, they are not compelled to do so. He said the developer could establish a public utility to operate and maintain the facilities.

Perrill said he is against governmental agencies becoming involved in operations that could be handled by the individual or private enterprise.

The resolution states that the developer desires to construct central sewage and water facilities to serve the subdivision, and that the improvements are necessary for preservation and promotion of public health and welfare.

According to the resolution, the Ohio Environmental Protection Agency requires that such systems be operated by a public authority.

Seek compromise on lottery plan

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The House and Senate named a conference committee Wednesday to work out a possible compromise on a bill to implement a state lottery.

Sen. Ronald Mottl, D-24 Parma, chief sponsor of a lottery, said he hopes the committee can re-insert an emergency clause that would make the bill effective upon signing by the governor.

The House action, which approved the Senate implementation measure last week, but refused to give it an emergency classification, had the effect of stalling a lottery for perhaps a year, Mottl said.

Without the emergency tag, the bill would have to wait 90 days after signing by the governor before coming law. Mottl feared the session would possibly be over before any lottery is approved.

Mottl, who is on the six-member conference committee, said the first task would be to work out a compromise that could put the emergency tag back on.

"If they (opponents) are unreasonable, a lottery could be delayed up to nearly a year and cost the state $50 million in revenue," he said.

"I think that would be tragic, especially in view of the 2-1 mandate it received at the polls," he said.

Mottl was referring to the May 8 primary where Ohioans overwhelmingly approved lifting the constitutional ban against state-run lotteries.

Named to the conference committee—which Mottl hopes can pave the way for lottery tickets to be sold by November—were, in addition to himself:

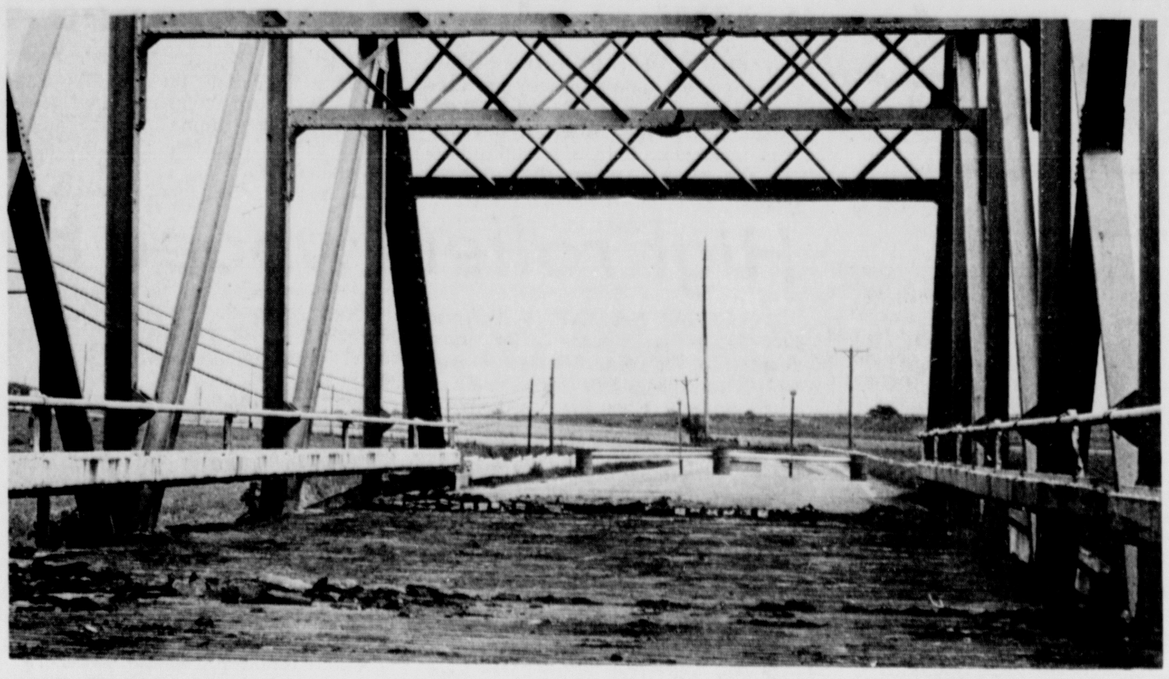
Sens. Robert Corts, R-13 Elyria, and William H. Mussey, R-14 Batavia, and Reps. Thomas Fries, D-35 Dayton; Barney Quilter, D-47 Toledo, and Joseph Tulley, R-59 Mentor.

In floor action, the Senate passed a bill outlawing discrimination against women in the extension of credit. The vote was 32-1.

The House, meanwhile, approved 88-2 and sent to the Senate a bill allowing liquor permit holders to provide free snacks for customers.

The Senate passed by 30-0 votes bills that would reduce the basic support charge for the first 120 days of care and treatment of the mentally retarded and provide a sales tax exemption for the production and sale of printed materials.

In other action, the House Transportation Committee deferred until next week a scheduled vote on a bill that would outlaw studded tires on Ohio highways.



REPAIRS IN PROGRESS — The bridge on U.S. 35, which spans Paint Creek just south of the city is being refurbished this week, causing traffic to be rerouted over U.S. 22 and Old Chillicothe Road. The asphalt is being taken up and the deck will be repaved.

Area dentists meet here

The Rehwinkel Dental Association held its annual meeting at the Washington Country Club Wednesday.

A business meeting was held in the morning, and new officers were installed.

Gordon K. Ansbary, of Gallipolis, became the new president of the area organization, and Dwight Shumate Jr., of Chillicothe, became the president-elect, to serve beginning at the next annual meeting.

William Schnider, was elected vice president, and Thomas Marr, will remain in his present position as secretary-treasurer, both reside in Chillicothe.

Following a late lunch, the group took to the links for some friendly competition.

Diplomats see scandal as pretext

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Many experienced diplomats at the United Nations predict the U.S. Congress will trim presidential power as a result of the Watergate scandal. They believe this will reduce American influence in the world.

"Watergate is, of course, a pretext for a major campaign to curb the powers of the President," one West European said. "The people who voted for President Nixon knew at the time he was no angel, so they are not really surprised at the affair, which is just a drop in the bucket compared to the importance of the Middle East question."

He predicted a net result of the scandal would be further U.S. withdrawal from world affairs and eventual loss of both markets and influence abroad to Japan, China and European countries.

An Arab ambassador said the Watergate affair was severely damaging U.S. prestige and influence in the world. "It is a diversion from real problems such as the ailing economy and balance of payments deficits," he said.

But a Communist diplomat said while the power of the U.S. presidency will be reduced, this would not affect Nixon's major dealings with the Soviet Union and China. Those negotiations, he said, "are dictated by reality."

Atomic explosion may free gas

RIO BLANCO, Colo. (AP) — A nuclear device as powerful as 90,000 tons of TNT awaited detonation today a mile under the Colorado Rockies in an effort to shake loose vast stores of natural gas.

The device's three 30-kiloton atomic mechanisms were to be exploded simultaneously in the largest nuclear blast so far in the Atomic Energy Commission (AEC) project to stimulate trillions of cubic feet of natural gas locked in rock formations.

The device has more than four times the explosive power of the atomic bomb dropped over Hiroshima, Japan, at the end of World War II.

Night newsman beaten to death

CHICAGO (AP) — The night news editor of the Chicago Daily News-Sun Times Wire Service was found fatally beaten Wednesday night in his Near North Side apartment, police said.

John Dudley Chamberlain Jr., 56, was found in his third floor apartment where traces of blood were splattered on walls of the bedroom and living room, police said.

Charles McAdams, 25, Chamberlain's roommate, was charged with murder and scheduled to appear in felony court today.

Chamberlain had worked for the Daily News since 1961, coming from the Citizen Journal in Columbus, Ohio.

Opening lead - six of spades.

It's better to be lucky than clever, and here is a hand to demonstrate the point. The deal occurred in a playoff match between my team and the Curt Smith team to determine which of us would represent the United States in the 1973 world championship.

It was the first deal of a 128-board match and it was a harbinger of things to come. At my talle, Smith and Greenberg got to a perfectly reasonable seven hearts and unluckily went down one when my partner, Jeff Rubens, led a spade — which I ruffed.

Rubens reasoned that on the bidding there was a good chance of North-South's holding nine spades, and he therefore chose a spade as the best shot to stop the grand slam.

At the second table, where our teammates — Andy Bernstein and my son, Mike Becker — held the North-South cards, the bidding was briefer. In fact, Bernstein got to seven spades in two bids. The bidding went:

East	South	West	North
3 ♣	Dble	Pass	4 ♣
Pass	5 ♣	Pass	7 ♠

Bernstein (North) naturally started to think in terms of a small slam after his partner had doubled the preemptive three club bid for takeout, and he backed his appraisal with a cuebid of four clubs. When Mike showed he had more than a fair-to-middling double by cue-bidding in return, Bernstein happily went all the way.

Strictly speaking, seven spades was not as good a contract as seven hearts — there was a greater chance mathematically of a heart ruff with spades as trump than a spade ruff with hearts as trump — but seven spades was the winner, while seven hearts was the loser. So, we repeat: it's better to be luck than clever!

Seek cause of 7-fatality copter crash

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — An investigator has said it is too early to tell whether the crash of an Army helicopter that killed seven persons was caused by a collision with a power line.

The wreckage of the UH-1H Huey helicopter was found Wednesday morning on a heavily wooded hillside near a row of power lines crossing Ft. Knox.

The aircraft was missed at 12:35 a.m. Wednesday when it failed to return from testing a night-vision device designed to amplify moon and star light.

A Ft. Knox spokesman said the helicopter had left the test area and was returning to the post's Godman Army Airfield when it crashed.

Louisville Gas & Electric Co. officials reported a power outage at 11:55 p.m. Tuesday in a section of line running through Ft. Knox, and a broken line was found at midnight.

The president of the accident board probing the crash, Maj. Joseph Drew Jr., said on Wednesday that it was "too early" to assume the helicopter hit the power line.

"Anything we'd say say now would be purely speculation," he said.

The power lines were about 100 yards to the northeast of the crash site and apparently in line with the helicopter's path.

UMW credit union planned to 'break grip of banks'

WASHINGTON (AP) — In an effort to "make coal miners' money work for coal miners," United Mine Workers President Arnold Miller Wednesday announced plans to form a credit union for the UMW's more than 200,000 members.

Miller said the credit union was aimed at "breaking the iron grip of banks and loan companies on the finances of coal mining families" and would begin accepting membership applications Aug. 1.

"In the past, coal miners owed their souls to the company store. Today, they owe their paychecks to the bank or loan office," Miller said. "The credit union will end our members' dependence on banks and loan offices."

Those eligible for the savings and low-interest loan operation include UMW members and employes, widows of former UMW members, and recipients of the union's Welfare and Retirement Fund benefits, a spokesman said. Miller predicted 30,000 union members would deposit their savings with the UMW credit union in the first 90 days.

The credit union "will make use of payroll checkoffs wherever possible," the spokesman added. "Several major companies have already agreed to participate in payroll deductions for members."

Credit unions generally offer lower interest rates on personal loans than do banks and finance companies.

Miller said the UMW membership currently pays $90 million each year in loan interest charges, according to figures he cited from the Credit Union National Association. The association, Miller said, predicted a $67 million yearly saving for the union membership through use of the credit union.

Miller estimated the credit union could accumulate savings of $10 million its first year, and disburse up to $4 million in loans.

The UMW credit union was incorporated by Miller, Vice President Mike Trbovich, Secretary-Treasurer Harry Patrick; International Executive Board members Bill Savitsky of District 25 and John Kelly of District 4; District 6 President John Guzek, and District 11 President Robert Edney, the spokesman said.

High rollers wooed by Las Vegas

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — A trip to Las Vegas is expensive for most people, but for some it's free — free food, free lodging, free drinks and free entertainment. Even the roundtrip air fare is free.

These are the big money gamblers, those willing to risk $2,500 to $5,000 over three or four days.

Most of the resort hotels lining the glittering Las Vegas Strip compete strenuously for the heavy rollers, sending scouts across the country to find them and offer them free junkets to the gambling capital. Although there are no official figures, one junket manager estimates more than 2,000 guests arrive on junkets here every week.

In recent years the hotels have been building a "family" image for the Strip, offering all sorts of package plans for the family. A typical $34.95 two-night, three-day package for two persons includes lodging, meals, a dinner show, two cocktails and inexpensive gifts.

But the hotelmen haven't forgotten that much of their success has been built on big stakes gambling.

The hotels figure it costs them an average of $600 to give a gambler a free trip here. The hotels also figure the house claims 20 per cent of every dollar gambled. That means, on the average, that a gambler must put up at least $3,000 for a hotel to break even.

One hotel requires a minimum of $2,500 in "action" from junket players. "Then we allow for human nature," said a man who has run junkets for the hotel. "The losers will lose much more than the winners win."

In the hotel's eyes the best player, he said, is not one who makes huge bets for short periods but one who makes $10 bets and plays for eight hours at a time for the three days. "He'll wind up dropping everything."

What about big winners? Hotel men love them about as much as they do big losers.

"If a guy's willing to put up $5,000, they don't care if he's a big winner and walks away with a lot," says William Friedman. He is an instructor at the University of Nevada and teaches the nation's only course in casino management.

"The idea is they have to give them so much action."

The hotels maintain a network of junket representatives in major cities, either full-time salaried employes in branch offices or independents who are paid $25 to $50 a head, depending on the player's "quality."

On every trip, he said, some players turn out to be "riders" or nongamblers. If they haven't put up a deposit, they receive a free trip.

Many of the hotels have a grading system to determine how much junketeers are wagering. One hotel rates players from AAA for excellent to C for average, P for poor and F for fraud.

Propose service for U.S. youths

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP)—A former high-ranking general in Vietnam Wednesday proposed three national service alternates for America's youth.

Maj. Gen. Fred E. Karhohs (U.S. Army, ret.), now executive vice president of the Dubois Chemical Co., suggested service in the military, in humanitarian work abroad or in the restoration of natural resources at home.

"With the help of the youth of America, we simultaneously (could) provide for the common defense, improve our relations with other nations of the world and rebuild a major portion of the ecological damage done to our nation," Karhohs said.

Little boy succumbs to blaze at home

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Loren Christopher Williams, 3, died Wednesday in a fire in his east side home which firemen speculated was started when the youth struck a match.

His mother, Linda Williams, managed to rescue her two other small children, but was unable to reach Loren. They were treated for smoke inhalation.

This Boy Holds His Breath

From the time our boy was an infant he would hold his breath until he was absolutely blue. For a long time we thought this was a temper tantrum. He is now 4 years old. How long can we expect this to continue?

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. W., Kan.

Dear Mr. and Mrs. W.:

There is no doubt that this terrifying habit, sometimes accompanied by fainting, can be attributed to a child whose temper is triggered by frustration, deprivation or punishment.

It may be entirely psychological in origin, but after this long period of time your son should have a complete medical and neurological examination to rule out conditions that resemble temper tantrums.

I do not mean to induce in you any undue anxiety when I suggest that some cases of so-called "breath-holding temper tantrums" are finally found to be caused by a mild unsuspected form of epilepsy.

This, when discovered, can be kept in complete control. There are other conditions such as severe anemia, chemical imbalance, and hormone disturbances which may be responsible for that which is considered a temper tantrum.

I feel so foolish when I tell a doctor I cannot swallow a pill. Does anyone have a suggestion for a 53-year-old baby?

Mr. S. L., Tex.

Dear Mr. L.:

All of us in the practice of medicine have watched patients go through the most elaborate gyrations in order to swallow a pill the size of a small pea.

I never could reconcile this with the fact that these same people can swallow a chunk of steak almost one inch square. Yet I do know that it occurs.

Very recently, I came across a suggestion by Dr. William B Robey, of Phoenix, Ariz., that may be helpful to you.

Dr. Robey says, "I tell my patient to try this old but forgotten way to swallow a pill. I suggest that he take a sip of water and hold it in his mouth. Then he is to tilt his head back as though to gargle the water, and then drop the pill on top of the water. When the water is swallowed the pill easily slides down."

If this and other suggestions don't work, you will find that almost all medications can be obtained in liquid form.

Is it possible to insert a tube into the stomach to examine it? My uncle says he must have this done to see if he has a hidden stomach ulcer.

Miss J.D., Ore.

Dear Miss D.:

A special type of fibro-optic tube can be inserted into the mouth, passed through the esophagus, and into the stomach and the small intestine. Through this tube it is possible to study minute areas and even take photographs of tissue hidden in recessed areas. Tissue can also be removed for miscroscopic study.

Terminal destruction draws near

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — The vice president of the Southern Railway System announced Wednesday night that work will begin today sealing off the Union Terminal rotunda, despite last-minute moves by Cincinnati City Council to save the structure.

James Headley said Southern has permits to go ahead with plans to tear down the terminal's concourse for enlargement of piggyback freight operations.

The permits "said we can brick up the rotunda and that's what we are going to start doing Thursday," Headley said.

Headley's comments came after the council moved to designate the terminal as a historic landmark. William Ahlert, City Building Commissioner, suspended a permit for Southern to begin demolition in the concourse today.

Fourteen murals, mosaics that portray Cincinnati's industrial history, have been the focal point of a drive by citizens who want them saved.

Listing the terminal a historic landmark could hold up building permits indefinitely. But Headley maintains he has the necessary approval to begin demolition of part of the structure.

"I am seriously considering going down to the city hall Thursday with an application to tear down the whole concourse and see what happens," Headley said.

Telephone firm uses caution

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP)—A bomb squad was called in when a young lady left a brightlywrapped package at a desk of Cincinnati Bell Inc., Wednesday with the parting words: "Here it is, you know what you can do with it."

The suspicious package was taken by officials to a safe area and carefully opened with hooks.

The contents? A red telephone.

Electronic voting machine under study

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A simplified electronic voting machine that permits the voter to use an ordinary lead pencil will be examined for possible use in Ohio, according to Secretary of State Ted Brown.

Brown said Wednesday he received an application for approval of the machine, which is a product of Litton Automated Business Systems, a division of Litton Industries. He said his examiners will look at it June 4.

Retroactive rule nixed

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Ohio Supreme Court, by a 4-3 decision Wednesday, said that last year's U.S. Supreme Court decision that requires the indigent to be represented by counsel did not have to be applied retroactively.

Ohio Perspective

Drink squabble actually laughable

By CONNIE LARKIN
Associated Press Writer

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Some 18-year-old youths — clothed with all adult privileges minus one in a bill awaiting legislative action—must be laughing in their 3.2 beer these days.

Under a bill passed by the Ohio Senate, the youths would be adults, except they couldn't legally drink hard liquor or high-powered beer.

The catch is, they know they can get just as drunk on the beer they can drink as the so-called high-powered beer they can't.

"It depends on a person's size and system," said William Dorsey, chief of the beer and wines division of the Ohio Department of Liquor control.

"A person can definitely get drunk on 3.2 beer."

The bill granting 18-year-olds full adult privileges and responsibilities passed the Senate last month. The bill now is before the House Judiciary Committee.

The man who wrote the bill, Sen. Stanley J. Aronoff, R-8 Cincinnati, realizes the slight and ironic difference between 3.2 and high-powered beer.

"I would like to have the right to drink included in the bill," said Aronoff, "but it's a matter of political expediency.

"If we want to get anything through this legislature we'll have to give up the right to drink. Once we get it through, perhaps we can offer another bill."

Obvious intent of the present bill was to meet objections of those people who want to keep youth of that age away from intoxicating liquors.

What might be called low-powered beer is known as 3.2 beer. It actually contains on the average 3 per cent of alcohol.

"The average high-powered beer, excluding malt liquor," said Dorsey, "has a 3.4 to 3.6 per cent alcohol content."

To pinpoint what the difference is, consider a quart of both 3.2 beer and of high-powered beer. In a quart of 3.2 beer, an 18-year-old may legally drink a fraction under one ounce of alcohol, mathematically .96 ounce.

In a quart of high-powered beer, the youth will take in 1.08 ounces of alcohol.

A shot of whisky runs about an ounce, depending on the bar, but an ounce of 100 proof whisky would contain only a halfounce of alcohol. Most whisky is 86 proof, which means an ounce would contain less than a half ounce of alcohol.

Which means, in turn, that a youth could have two bar highballs and take in no more alcohol than in a quart of 3.2 beer.

Scioto Downs braces for 15th race season

COLUMBUS — A solid field of trotters in Friday's $7,000 Inaugural Trot, and the track pacing champion Jay Time in Saturday's $7,000 Free For All Pace, highlight the opening weekend of action at Scioto Downs.

In Friday's opening trotting clash, the pre-race favorite role is up for grabs between the veteran Doc McBean, winner of three straight at The Meadows, Quickster from the Dick Williams stable, and King Storm, winner of four out of six starts this year.

JAY TIME, owned by Mr. and Mrs. Carl Baas, of Columbus, makes his 1973 Scioto debut Saturday night at the scene of his fine performance last year when he cracked the track pacing record in a sizzling 1:57 4-5 in the three-year old pacing division of the Challenge Stakes. Trained and driven by Gene Riegle, the six-time leading Scioto driver, Jay Time won his first start this year, taking the American National Stake in Chicago in 2:00 3-5.

Doc McBean with Charlie Williams up, won in 2:03 1-5 at The Meadows, Quickster won in 2:03 1-5 at Liberty Bell Park, and King Storm with Al Kerns up, has won four at Lebanon Raceway including last Friday's win in 2:05 1-5. Completing Friday's feature trot is Hassie Blaze with Erv Samples, Flora Pearl with Herb Smith, and Yellow Knife with Dick Farrington in the sulky.

Scioto Downs will open its 15th racing season Friday night, sporting the new Penthouse dining room. The 405 dining capacity in the Penthouse will increase Scioto's dining room facility to a total of 1,105 persons.

The outstanding opening weekend of racing is indicative of the fine racing programs arranged for the 1973 summer season. In addition to the weekly trotting and pacing events, Scioto Downs offers six divisions of the popular Challenge Stakes series, four divisions of the Scarlet and Gray Cup series, the Little Brown Jug preview on September 6, and for the first time, the final of the Can-Am series for three and four-year-old pacers on June 28 with the richest ever purse at Scioto Downs of $50,300.

Jay Time will have all he can handle in Saturday's pacing feature. Dick Williams will have Sammy Key who scored in 1:59 1-5 last year before going to Lexington, Ky. where he paced in a time trial in 1:58.

DICK BUXTON will bring the sensational Racing Knight. Owned by Arthur Meyring, of Dayton, Racing Knight won in 1:59 at Pompano Park last winter and two weeks ago won the Sagamore Series at Roosevelt Raceway in 2:01 3-5 to give him two wins and three seconds in six starts this year.

Dick Richardson will be in the sulky behind Proper Time who won over $55,000 last year and won a tilt with the stop watch at Lexington, Ky. in 1:58 1-5. Ralph Lunsford's Sovereign Warrior won in 1:59 3-5 at Scioto Downs last year, and this season he has won two of four starts including a 2:03 4-5 win at Louisville Downs.

Jim Riley will start his great Laetare for the first time this year Saturday night. Showing a record of 1:59 1-5 at Scioto last year, Laetare breezed through an eye-popping workout last Saturday morning at Scioto Downs.

SCOL BASEBALL CHAMPIONS — Miami Trace was crowned the 1973 South Central Ohio League baseball champion at the league's annual banquet held this week in Circleville. The Panthers locked up their second SCOL baseball in three years with a 4-1 record on the weather-abbreviated campaign. Pictured with the championship trophy are reserve coach Joe Henry, Tony Grooms, Jeff Spears and head coach Dave Pellior. Grooms and Spears were named to the All-SCOL baseball team.

Cey, Ferguson spirit Dodgers to 11-inning win over Cincy

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — There's a new "Say Hey Kid" emerging on a West Coast baseball team. He may not be the next Willie Mays, but the Los Angeles Dodgers thought he was something to see Wednesday night.

Ron Cey, a 25-year-old infielder who had only 10 major league hits in two brief stints with the Dodgers during the last two years, drove in four runs with a 4-for-6 performance as Los Angeles outlasted Cincinnati 8-6 in 11 innings.

Cey and catcher-outfielder Joe Ferguson accounted for half the Dodgers' 16 hits, including 11th-inning home runs which gave Los Angeles its first win in four games this season against the defending National League champs.

It was Cey's way of saying he wants to keep the third base job he recently inherited when hot-hitting Ken McMullen was sidelined with a back ailment.

"I'm not going to give it up," said the former Washington State University star who lifted his batting average from .266 to .288 with Wednesday night's effort.

His fourth hit was a solo homer off Reds' reliever Tom Hall and followed a two-run blast by Ferguson as the Dodgers claimed their 13th win in the last 18 games.

Ferguson, who called his 4-for-5 performance "my best night in the majors," took over the National League lead in runs batted in with 29. He has eight homers and a .328 batting average—two points short of joining two other Dodgers in the league's top 10 hitters.

The Dodgers, with Al Downing firing no-hit ball for the first four innings, took a 3-0 lead in the first inning and added another run in the fourth when catcher Steve Yeager hit a solo homer.

The Reds got back-to-back singles from Dave Concepcion and Richie Scheinblum to open the fifth moments before showers hit, causing the first of two lengthy delays.

An hour and 17 minutes later, Downing returned to the mound and watched the Reds tie it. Phil Gagliano's bases-loaded single scored Concepcion and the Reds added two more on Pete Rose's infield out and Joe Morgan's run-scoring single.

Cey put the Dodgers back in front in the seventh with a single that scored Ferguson, who had blasted his 10th double of the season.

Johnny Bench's two-out single tied it at 5-5.

The win went to Charlie Hough, 1-1, and Tom Hall, 3-2, took the loss.

The two clubs close a threegame series today when Don Sutton, 3-3, faces Clay Carroll, one of last year's most successful relievers who has stumbled this spring.

Carroll, 0-3, has a 10.50 earned run average, but Reds' Manager Sparky wants Carroll to have the chance to regain the touch which accounted for a record-setting 37 bullpen saves last year.

MT miscues costly in loss to Indians

Always-tough Hillsboro, behind a five-run outburst in the second inning, nipped Miami Trace 6-5 in a meaningless South Central Ohio league baseball bout Wednesday at the Indian diamond.

Errors proved to be the deciding factor in the contest as only one of Miami Trace's runs was earned, while Hillsboro pushed across a total of six unearned tallies.

Bob Seeling, one of two All-SCOL pitchers, hurled the distance for Hillsboro, surrendering five runs on seven hits. The lanky junior, who had a neat 0.41 earned run average this season, faned seven and walked one.

SOPHOMORE TOM Riley absorbed the loss for Miami Trace as he gave up a total of six unearned runs on seven hits. Riley walked one and fanned one before being relieved by senior Pete Jones, who worked four hitless innings.

Miami Trace, the new SCOL champion, opened the contest with a four-run explosion in the first inning behind a three-run double by senior Dave Arnold and Hillsboro countered with a lone run in the first inning.

Three Miami Trace errors helped pave the way for Hillsboro's five-run eruption in the second inning. Seeling stiffened and did not allow another run until the fifth inning when the Panthers got a run-scoring single from senior Muff Jones.

Arnold sparked Miami Trace's seven-hit attack with a pair of doubles and three runs-batted-in and Muff Jones chased home a pair of runs with two singles.

Miami Trace, now 10-5-1 on the season, is scheduled to play a twinbill at Wilmington tonight.

SCOL vacancies filled

MT product named Indian grid boss

HILLSBORO — The South Central Ohio League, which lost three head football coaches following the 1972 season, has now filled all its vacancies in preparation for the autumn campaign.

Michael Doyle, a 1964 product of Miami Trace High School, has been named head football coach at Hillsboro High School, replacing veteran Dale Ambos, who resigned following the 1972 season.

Earlier, Miami Trace and Greenfield McClain, which lost head football coaches after the 1972 season, both named new coaches. Fred Zechman, of Youngstown, replaces Fred Bernier at Miami Trace, while young Fred Brisker, a Miami University graduate, succeeds Jay Knierim at Greenfield.

MICHAEL DOYLE

DOYLE, the son of Mr. and Mrs. C.R. Doyle, of New Holland, has been an assistant football coach at Columbus Franklin Heights High School for the past four years.

He graduated from Wilmington College with a bachelor's degree in 1968 and from Ohio State University two years ago with a master's degree in English education with emphasis on social and maladjustment problems.

The Hillsboro Board of Education also employed Richard Allwood, of Lucasville, as an assistant football coach and freshman basketball coach. Allwood, an Ohio State graduate, served as an assistant with Doyle at Franklin Heights.

Doyle and Allwood will be hoping to revive a sagging Hillsboro football program when the fall campaign opens. Hillsboro posted an 11-28 record under Ambos in four seasons and a 14-55 mark the past seven years.

Doyle's wife, the former Deanna Baker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Baker, Rt. 2, Leesburg, was employed as sixth grade teacher at Marshall School, south of Hillsboro.

Skeet Mann, subbing for James Irons, shot a 47 to lead the way for the Dots' win and Irvin Reeves carded a 44 for the Tourneys.

MT's reserves dealt 2nd loss

Washington C. H.'s reserve baseball team, behind a solid offensive attack, handed Miami Trace its second loss of the season in a 12-4 bout Wednesday night.

Coach Dale Lynch's Blue Lion reserves received timely hitting from three players in registering the win. Leonard Bick cracked a home run and a single, Sparkman had a pair of singles and a triple, while Larry Dumford unloaded a single, double and a triple.

Phil Skinner had a pair of singles and scored two runs for Coach Joe Henry's jayvees which ended the season with a 6-2-1 record.

Greg McCune was the winning pitcher for Washington C. H. and Kevin Dunn was tagged with the loss.

Class B tourney scheduled here

An ASA - sanctioned Class B slo-pitch softball tournament, sponsored by the Fayette County Softball Association, will be held May 25-28 at Washington C.H.'s Eyman Park.

Don Fowler, president of the Fayette County Softball Association who will serve as the tournament director, said a minimum of 25 Class B teams are needed to stage the four-day tourney. Fowler said the drawing will be held at 7:30 p.m. May 23 at Eyman Park and the entry fee is $40.

First, second and third place trophies will be offered in addition to individual awards for the members of the first three teams. Home run and sportsmanship trophies will also be presented.

Interested teams can contact Fowler (335-2680) after 3:30 p.m. or Betty Estep (335-1985).

24 Elks golfers set for tourney

Twenty-four members of the Washington C.H. Elks Lodge will be competing in the annual Southwestern District Elks golf tournament which will be held this weekend at the Homestead Golf Course near West Milton.

Skeet Mann, chairman of the Washington C.H. golfing contingent, said approximately 150 entries are expected for the tournament.

Indy 500 eligibles dwindle

INDIANAPOLIS (AP)—The number of drivers still eligible to make the 33-car field for the May 28 Indianapolis 500 has decreased by three.

Jigger Sirois of Hammond, Ind., Dee Jones of Phoenix, Ariz., and Bruce Jacobi of Indianapolis still had all or part of their refresher driving tests to complete when the deadline arrived at 6 p.m. Wednesday.

Despite several days of trial runs and adjustments, Sirois was unable to get his unorthodox Dodge-powered Eagle past the needed 160 miles per hour to complete his tests.

The car's owner, Bruce Crower, said he still planned to enter the car in the Rex Mays 150 in Milwaukee this summer.

Jones' crew was still frantically putting back together the turbocharger of his older model Mongoose-Foyt when time ran out Wednesday afternoon.

Gusty winds carried a mass of debris left by the crowds at last weekend's qualifying runs onto the track. The situation became so bad that U.S. Auto Club officials ordered the yellow light on because of "unsafe conditions."

Chief Steward Harlan Fengler then closed the track, about 4 p.m.

Jones, who passed his rookie test at the Speedway in 1964, still had 34 of the 40 laps required to complete his refresher test. But it appeared doubtful he could have finished the tests, even if the track had remained open.

Jacobi blamed sponsorship problems for his failure to run this year. He said he was unable to find a sponsor to put up $5,000 in time to satisfy an arrangement with the car's owners.

Greg Weld of Independence, Mo., completed his refresher test, making his Kingfish-Offenhauser ready for a shot Saturday at one of the three qualification spots still open.

Practice at the Speedway Wednesday was limited mostly to drivers or cars not already qualified. Defending USAC sprint champion Sam Sessions of Nashville, Mich., a five-year Indy veteran, practiced at slow speeds in his Eagle-Foyt.

USAC national champion Joe Leonard of San Jose, Calif., was out getting up speed in his backup car. His 190.114 m.p.h. clocking was the quickest of the day. He qualified his favorite car Sunday at only 189.954.

The list of available backup cars also shrank. Salt Walther of Dayton, Ohio, Bill Vukovich of Fresno, Calif., and Mike Hiss of Tustin, Calif., said there will be no attempt to qualify their backup cars.

The decrease in the number of drivers eligible and cars available made the slower qualifiers less likely to be ousted from the field when bumping begins Saturday.

Kathy Cottrill, Editor-in-Chief

MT student named winner in district essay contest

BY BARBARA MARVIN

Last fall Mrs. Linda Bailo's English composition class was assigned a project in which each pupil entered the contest sponsored by the local chapter of the Employment Service.

The contest was entitled "Hire the Handicapped." Mrs. Gayle Kelly and Mr. William Mason of the Ohio Bureau of Employment Services in Washington C.H. talked to the class about the project.

Kathy Cottrill, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Cottrill, won first place in the district (which includes Miami Trace, Washington Senior High and Greenfield McClain high schools) and also placed fifth in the state.

Kathy, a member of National Honor Society, interviewed employers in the Washington C.H. area and wrote an essay on the theme, "The Handicapped at Work: Tomorrow's Challenge."

For placing first in the district Kathy received a $75 U.S. Savings Bond. She received a carnation, a certificate of appreciation, a pocket dater from the Ohio Governor's Committee on Employment of the Handicapped, and a commemorative coin honoring the 25th anniversary of the President's Committee on Employment of the Handicapped for placing fifth in the state.

On March 28, Kathy, her parents, and Mrs. Bailo attended the annual awards luncheon at the Neil House in Columbus.

CANCER CONTRIBUTION — The two civics classes at Miami Trace High School recently presented a check to the Fayette County Cancer Society. The civics classes were active in making posters for the Cancer Smorgasbord at the Mahan Building. Presenting the check to Robert Minshall, president of the Fayette County Cancer Society, are David Cook, Tony Landrum, Ron Warnock, Sherman Strickrott, Kathy Woodfork and Marvin Mathews.

MT bowling club holds awards fete

By LORA BROOKS

The Miami Trace Bowling Club had its annual carry-in dinner awards presentation recently. After a short introductory speech by President Jana Miller, with a buffet supper followed with Cindy Knisley presenting awards.

Trophies were awarded to the first and second place teams. The Four Clowns, consisting of Nelta Baker, Roger Duff, Tim Lewis and Lora Brooks, won first place. Patty Persinger, Darrell Morris, Dean Shonkwiler, and Steve Williamson made up the second place team, Willy's Wonkas.

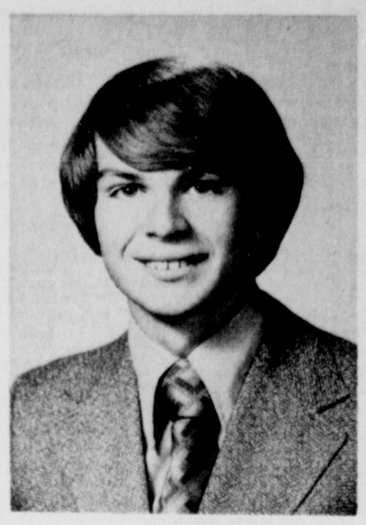
Trophies were also given to Alan Fleming for having the high series and to Tim Lewis for high game. Ruth Morris, the league's most improved bowler, also received a trophy.

Several patches were awarded for high games and series. Mr. John Wedgewood, the club advisor, gave the coach's awards to the four having perfect attendance. They were Patty Persinger, Kim Fleming, Tim Lewis, and Gary Williamson.

After all regular league presentations, Marcia Markel, representing also Kim Fleming and Bob Ford, presented their team captain, Tom Edwards, a best bowler trophy as consolation for not winning the league.

As of 1972 there were 6,953,300 motor vehicles registered in Ohio and 6,689,000 licensed operators. This represents a four per cent increase in registration over 1971 and a three per cent increase in the number of operators.

TERESA GLASS



BARTH FAULKNER

Seniors of week

"You wouldn't believe how good it feels to be a senior. It seems like I've waited a lifetime for it," are Teresa Glass's feelings on her last year at Miami Trace. Teresa is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Glass, of Jeffersonville.

Teresa was on the girls' basektball team and the girls' track team. She is secretary of the Linguistics Arts Club and a member of the GAA. She has belonged to the concert, symphonic, and marching bands. Her favorite course this year is art.

Teresa is a member of the Jeff Swim Club. She enjoys dancing, singing, and "just getting it together and having a good time." Her future plans include working for a while before going to college.

BARTH FAULKNER, son of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Faulkner, lives at Rt. 1, Jeffersonville. Vocational agriculture is his favorite class this year, so naturally FFA is one of his activities. He also is in the symphonic and marching bands. He spends another part of his time working at his job.

Barth enjoys basketball, football, and softball in his spare time. Other hobbies include cleaning and driving his car, and watching sports on TV.

After graduation Barth plans to farm with his dad. He advises underclassmen to "enjoy your senior year. It will go fast!"

MT students attend energy symposium

By BARBARA MARVIN

John Bryant, David Foster, and Tom Payton, representing Miami Trace's Science Club, attended an energy crisis symposium recently at Battelle Auditorium in Columbus. Mr. John Streber, chemistry teacher, accompanied them.

The seminar was entitled "Energy Rationing: Is It Coming?" Its purpose was to acquaint engineers and the community with the energy crisis and its effect on industrial and residential consumers.

Representatives from oil corporations the coal industry, state departments concerning environment and economics, distributors of natural gas, and automobile researchers presented a wide variety of topics to the audience.

Each dealt with the individual effect the energy crisis would have on his particular brand of work.

Mr. Streber commented that for him the highlights of the seminar were Dr. Ira Whitman's talk on "Energy or Environmental Crisis? Considerations for the State of Ohio?" (Dr. Whitman is Director of the State Environmental Protection Agency.).

Also Mr. Alan Loofbourrow, vice president of Engineering and Research, Chrysler Corporation in Detroit, whose topic was "The Energy-Environmental Crunch in the Automobile Society," and a speech on "The Energy Crisis" by Mr. Gerald Gambs.

Truck strikes girl at downtown corner

An 18-year-old Washington C.H. girl was struck by a semi-rig as she was crossing Court Street at the Fayette Street intersection Wednesday night but sustained only minor injuries, police report.

Officers said Vickie Cornell, Meyer Court, was treated at Memorial Hospital for a bruised thigh and later released.

Jacob E. Miller, 33, Wooster, driver of the truck, told officers he was turning left from N. Fayette Street when the mishap occurred, about 10:15 p.m. He said it was raining hard at the time and he did not see the pedestrian in the street until it was too late to stop.

Miller was not cited.

TWO CHARGES were filed against Lloyd D. Cydrus Jr., 15, Jeffersonville, after the car he was driving crashed on Ohio 729, just east of Jeffersonville, at 10:06 p.m.

He was cited for driving without an operator's license and driving left of center.

Sheriff's deputies said Cydrus was southbound when he lost control of the 1969 model car on a curve. The vehicle traveled left of center and into a fence on the Roy Corn farm.

The car was extensively damaged.

Cars driven by Thomas C. Rockhold, 39, Rt. 5, and David D. Grubb, 20, Rt. 6, were involved in a minor collision on Market Street, just east of Main Street at 12:58 p.m.

Police reported the Rockhold car had stopped eastbound in traffic and was struck in the rear by the Grubb auto.

No citations were issued.

Cool weather for Midwest

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A dome of cool air covered most of the nation's midsection early today, sending temperatures in the northern Midwest and Great Lakes region to near the freezing mark.

A record low of 37 degrees was set at Chicago early today.

A cold front moved eastward toward the Appalachians accompanied by a band of showers and isolated thunderstorms from northern Mississippi to New York state.

Temperatures were in the cool 50s and 60s in the southeastern states. Tampa, Fla., registered a record low of 55 degrees Wednesday night.

Fog covered parts of the California and Oregon coasts, a few snow flurries dotted the air in northern Michigan.

Elsewhere, fair skies prevailed.

Temperatures before dawn ranged from 30 at Lansing, Mich., to 84 at Uma, Ariz.

Nude model party-goer

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — Miki Garcia, a Playboy magazine model, plans to go to a dinner given by President and Mrs. Nixon.

Her escort will be a former prisoner of war whose wife divorced him while he was in prison.

Miss Garcia, who measures 38-22-36, is 5 feet 4 and weighs 108 pounds, will be the date of Capt. Galand C. Kramer of Oklahoma. Kramer and other former POWs released by North Vietnam and the Viet Cong will be honored by the Nixons at the May 24 dinner.

"She certainly is a very intelligent, very pleasurable girl with a wonderful personality," Kramer said Wednesday night after Miss Garcia announced she was going.

The two met at a party in Tulsa.

Kramer said he was surprised by the total nudity in Playboy, something that hadn't been done before his capture.

"But he liked it," said Miki.

Budget restraint given applause

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)— President Nixon is maintaining budgetary restraint at a time when it is more essential than ever before, economist Wallace H. Peterson told the Cleveland City Club.

"If ever there was a time for budgetary restraint, this is it," said Dr. Peterson, senior economic adviser in the U.S. Department of Commerce.

Total government expenditures rose from about 10 per cent of the gross national product's dollar value in 1929 to about 35 per cent last year, he said.

"The averge citizen works almost the first two days of the week for federal, state and local government," he said.

Joan of Arc was burned at the stake at Rouen, France.

TOP MARKSMAN — Fayette County Deputy Sheriff David J. Krupla was the winner of the first place trophy in the practical pistol course in firearms training at the Laurel Oaks Vocational Training School, Wilmington, where he has completed the 15-week basic law enforcement course. Krupla and Deputy Don Cox will graduate from the course Thursday night. The training is required under the Ohio Peace Officers Training Act.

Ohio Republicans shouldn't ignore scandal: McGough

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio Republican party leaders have been told to speak out on the Watergate scandal in order to inform voters that the GOP "must not be measured by the actions of a few misguided individuals who in no way represent the party."

Kent McGough, GOP state chairman, and T. Spencer Shore, chairman of the Ohio Republican Finance Committee, sent letters to state party leaders to that effect Wednesday.

The memo said the national preoccupation with Watergate should not "obscure the honesty of the Republican Party in Ohio in raising and spending the funds of the party organization."

Copies of audits by an accounting firm on state GOP campaign funds were sent to the party leaders along with the memo.

Rooftop vigil nets intruders

Acting on a tip from a local resident, city police nabbed two teen-age burglars as they climbed from the rooftop window of a Court Street business place Wednesday night.

The two juveniles, ages 16 and 17, were apprehended by Patrolman Larry Hott and Capt. Charles Foster shortly before 9 p.m. on the roof at the near of the D & D Carpet Shop, 243 E. Court St.

The officers went to the scene on a tip from George W. (Bud) Naylor, 605 S. North St., who reported he saw two persons trying to open a window near the rear of the Martha Washington Shop.

Patrolman Hott, first to arrive, climbed up the fire escape onto the roof where he spotted a partially open window. Hott said he waited until Capt. Foster arrived, then took up another position on the roof.

A few minutes later one of the youths climbed part way out of the window and spotted Hott who drew his revolver and ordered the youth onto the roof. The officer then called the other youth to come out of the building. Both were handcuffed and taken to police headquarters for questioning.

They were later incarcerated in the county jail where one was released to his parents.

Hott said the two apparently had piled up some concrete blocks that enabled them to climb onto the top of a door and then onto the roof. They then pried open the aluminum storm window and entered the top floor of the carpet shop.

Nothing was taken from the shop, the investigation showed.

Blast kills 2 in Italy

MILAN, Italy (AP) — A bomb exploded at the entrance to the central police headquarters in Milan today as Interior Minister Mariano Rumor drove out of the building. The explosion killed two persons and injured dozens, but Rumor was not hurt.

The area was crowded with officials commemorating the murder a year ago of Luigi Calabresi, the head of the Milan political police.

The bomb was thrown into a crowd of officials, police and passersby but missed the minister's car by several yards.

The explosion rocked the downtown area of Milan, Italy's commercial capital.

Calabresi was shot on May 17, 1972, in front of his house as he left for his office. At the time he was investigating a number of ultra-leftist organizations.

Cleveland and Shaker Heights, a suburb of Cleveland, have the only two commuter train systems in the state of Ohio.

White House ran campaign, probers told

WASHINGTON (AP) — A tribunal of seven senators opened today historic hearings into the Watergate scandals, and an aide in President Nixon's re-election campaign testified there was no doubt that final political authority rested with the White House.

The leadoff witness, Robert C. Odle Jr., who served as director of administration at the Committee for the Re-Election of the President, said he did not known of political sabotage or surveillance by that organization.

"Only what I've read in the newspapers," Odle, 28, testified before a crowded, nationally televised Senate hearing.

Much of Odle's testimony dealt with the administrative setup at the Nixon campaign committee.

Odle specifically denied that he destroyed any documents involving the Watergate affair— although he said the committee had shredding machines at "convenient points" in its offices.

He also denied receiving transcripts of wiretaps.

Odle said he was "absolutely not" involved in bugging activities.

He said he hired James W. McCord as a security man for the re-election committee. He also said he fired McCord, later convicted as a Watergate conspirator.

Sen. Herman Talmadge, DGa., asked whether the Committee for the Re-election of the President was solely under control of the President and his top aides.

Odle described the relationship as one of cooperation, not technical or legal control.

"Is it fair to say that the committee was set up, organized and directed from the White House?" Talmadge asked.

"Those people who were at the White House had influence over the committee, they gave it direction," Odle testified. "But the campaign director, of course, was not at the White House. He came from the Justice Department."

That drew laughter from the standing-room audience. The man at the Justice Department was former Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell, now under indictment in connection with a secret campaign contribution.

"There was no doubt as to where the ultimate authority lay, was there?" Talmadge asked.

"No, sir," said Odle.

Odle said he heard of the Watergate burglary on Saturday afternoon, June 17, 1972. It had happened early that morning.

He said he was told of a burglary at Democratic headquarters.

"And I said to some people who were in that meeting ... I said that could never happen here because I've got a guy working for me named Jim McCord," Odle said.

McCord was security man for the Nixon committee—and one of the Watergate burglars.

Following an opening statement defending Nixon and the majority of his campaign workers, Odle was questioned in detail about the setup of the Committee for the Re-election of the President, and its lines of authority.

Sen. Sam J. Ervin Jr., DN.C., opened the hearings, and said his panel "must probe into assertions that the very system itself has been subverted and its foundations shaken."

Ervin said Watergate disclosures have "cast a black cloud of distrust over our entire society. Our citizens do not know whom to believe ..."

To dispel that, he said, the Senate committee must find the truth.

"The nation and history itself are watching us," he said. "We cannot fail our mission."

Then, in turn, other committee members promised thorough, impartial investigation.

Odle testified that former presidential staff chief H. R. Haldeman played a key role, along with former Atty. Gen. Mitchell, in selecting staff members for the Nixon campaign committees.

He said seven White House staff members formed the nucleus of the Nixon campaign organization in May 1971, and that by July of the next year another seven from the White House occupied high positions in the campaign.

In response to questioning by the committee's chief counsel, Sam Dash, Odle said the campaign finance chairman, Maurice Stans, had ultimate authority for all campaign spending, that Stans participated actively in campaign budgeting and approved all major expenditures.

The Watergate bugging, and reportedly other more widespread espionage activities, were financed from Nixon campaign funds.

Odle said Nixon's personal lawyer, Herbert W. Kalmbach, once was "associate chairman" of the campaign finance committee. It is known that Kalmbach was the chief fund-raiser for the campaign before Stans took over the job. Newspaper reports say Kalmbach controlled a $500,000 bank account in California, from which payments for political sabotage were made.

The first phase of the hearings will be limited to the Watergate bugging itself, although developing testimony may take senators into two other major areas of concern: political sabotage and illegal campaign contributions.

The resolution creating the investigating committee limits the probe to conduct of the 1972 presidential

Kissinger, Tho meet

PARIS (AP) — Henry A. Kissinger and Le Duc Tho met today for the first time in three months in an attempt to close the holes in the Vietnam ceasefire agreement.

President Nixon's national security adviser and the member of the North Vietnamese Politburo were expected to continue their latest round of talks for three or four days. Kissinger reportedly wants to be back in the United States before his 50th birthday May 27.

The two men who negotiated the peace agreement in Paris met last when Kissinger visited Hanoi Feb. 10-11. Following a crescendo of allegations by each side that the other was flouting the agreement, the United States and North Vietnam agreed to have Kissinger and Tho meet again in an attempt to make the cease-fire work.

Deputy Asst. Secretary of State William Sullivan and Deputy Foreign Minister Nguyen Co Thach laid the groundwork with a meeting in Paris late last month to establish a list of each side's grievances against the other. Informants said they settled none of the issues but helped to clarify each government's understanding of the other's position at that time.

Some diplomats believe that Hanoi may feel its bargaining position has been strengthened since then by the Watergate scandal and by congressional moves to end all U.S. military action in Indochina.

Nixon warned Hanoi in his State of the World message May 2 that continued infiltration of North Vietnamese troops and arms into South Vietnam would risk a "revived confrontation" with the United States. The diplomats said there are signs that Hanoi thinks Nixon would have difficulty carrying out his threat, and there has been no report of a decline in Communist infiltration.

The usually mild-mannered Tho raised his voice angrily when he arrived from Hanoi Monday, denouncing alleged American bombing raids on areas of South Vietnam controlled by the Viet Cong. He ignored U.S. denials of the attacks and said if they were repeated, he would walk out on Kissinger.

Solons delay antiwar vote

WASHINGTON (AP) — With new Indochina negotiations opening in Paris, Senate Democratic leaders have given up hope for an early vote to cut off funds for continued bombing in Cambodia.

Senate Republican Leader Hugh Scott declined Wednesday to waive rules that would prevent a supplemental appropriation bill from being called up in the Senate until the middle of next week.

Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield, who sought the waiver, said there probably would be discussion that would delay a vote until the Senate returns from a Memorial Day recess May 29.

The supplemental money bill to carry scores of federal agencies through the remainder of the fiscal year includes an amendment adopted by the Senate Appropriations Committee to cut off all present and previously appropriated funds for U.S. hostilities in Cambodia or Laos.

Explaining delaying tactics, Scott said the Paris negotiations between presidential adviser Henry A. Kissinger and North Vietnam's chief negotiator, Le Duc Tho, should proceed without a possibly damaging action by the Senate. Kissinger and Tho are seeking to improve observance of the Jan. 27 cease-fire.

The administration justifies the bombing in support of Cambodian government troops as an effort to force withdrawal of North Vietnamese troops from Cambodia in compliance with the peace pact.

Corporate profit boom reported

WASHINGTON (AP) — The country's economic boom resulted in near-record corporate profits during the first quarter of the year, the Commerce Department reported today.

It said before-tax profits of corporations increased $11.6 billion to a seasonally adjusted annual rate of $113.1 billion in the first quarter, second highest increase in the country's history. After-tax earnings rose $5.1 billion to an annual rate of $62.3 billion.

The increase in before-tax profits trailed only the increase of $11.7 billion in the first quarter of 1971, a post-recession period.

However, the Nixon administration is concerned over the rapid growth of the economy and hopes to moderate the economic boom.

Skylab repair mission planned

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — The scenario is being written today for a Buck Rogers-style space adventure in which three astronauts will fly a repair mission to the disabled Skylab space station.

It will require one of the astronauts to take a space walk to install a shield between the overheated spacecraft and the blazing rays of the sun.

Television pictures may provide much of the world with a ringside seat to the unfolding drama.

The flight may start Sunday. Or it may be delayed until Friday, May 25.

If it works, Skylab 1 astronauts Charles Conrad Jr., Dr. Joseph P. Kerwin and Paul J. Weitz could save their 28-day orbital trip and the 56-day voyages planned later in the year for the Skylab 2 and 3 crews.

Plans for the flight are being drawn up by specialists at space agency centers at Cape Kennedy, Houston, Tex., and Huntsville, Ala., and at the contractor plants of Martin-Marietta in Denver and McDonnell-Douglas Corp. in Huntington, Beach, Calif.

"I've asked all concerned to come up with detailed recommendations and a detailed timetable by Thursday afternoon," Skylab project director William C. Schneider told newsmen Wednesday.

He said the only barrier to the flight is the 100-degree-plus temperature in the interior of the 85-ton laboratory, which was launched unmanned from Cape Kennedy Monday into a 272-mile-high orbit.

And temperature seemed to have decreased and stabilized at between 100 and 110 degrees.

A launch mishap stripped an insulation shield and protective thermal paint from the side of the workshop, allowing the sun's heat to penetrate the vehicle.

The area of the spacecraft facing the sun is about 20 by 20 feet. Schneider said that if this area could be covered, it would shade the Skylab and lower the temperature to the normal 60-to-70 degree range.

These three methods of installing a sun shield are being considered:

—In the most favored approach, an astronaut would enter the spaceship, open a hatch in the workshop area and roll out a window-shade device. This would require piecing together lengths of pipe and gradually extending the shade to the rear of the Skylab.

—The Apollo ferry ship would fly close to the laboratory and an astronaut would lean out a hatch. Using a long pole, he would attach the ends of a bag to opposite ends of the section to be covered. Then he would pull a cable to release the covering. This would require some intricate maneuvering of the Apollo ship by Skylab 1 commander Conrad. But Schneider said he should be able to keep at least 12 feet away from the station.

—The least likely approach would be to have one of the astronauts open the workshop hatch and inflate an umbrellalike device.

Each of the proposed methods would use a plastic sheet that would reflect the sun's rays.

Kerwin is the most likely astronaut to do the work because he's been trained to take a space walk on a normal mission to retrieve film from solar telescopes.

"If we get the solar shield deployed, we feel we'll be able to get the full 28 days with the first mission and have a chance at all 56 days on the last two," Schneider said.

Asked about the possibility of a launch on Sunday. Schneider replied:

"It depends on how much work we will have to do when we reach a decision on which approach to take. And then we'll have to decide if we can train the crew. And can we build and test the articles and can we get them to the Kennedy Space Center on time for a Sunday launch?"

He said a decision might not be made until Saturday. If the Saturn 1B rocket can't be launched Sunday, the next favorable liftoff time is May 25.

Officers from 3 counties take part in wild chase

A 26-year-old Greenfield driver led law enforcement officers from three counties on a Keystone Cops chase early Thursday morning before his car finally went out of control and crashed on U.S. 50, two miles west of Chillicothe.

The driver, identified as Robert Lee Purdin, presently is lodged in the Greenfield jail on charges of driving under the influence of alcohol, speeding and a stop sign violation.

Fayette County Sheriff Sgt. John Emrick said he was called into the chase at 3:16 a.m. when Greenfield police radioed for assistance. He said they apparently had attempted to stop the car in Greenfield and the driver fled north on Ohio 41 into Fayette County.

Purdin turned off Ohio 41 onto Ghormley Road a few minutes later, then traveled over several other county roads, finally returning to Greenfield where Emrick pulled in behind him, followed by Greenfield police and Highland County sheriff's cruisers.

The car sped out of Greenfield on U.S. 28 where two Ross County cruisers joined in the noisy parade. Purdin stopped the car in South Salem and let out his five passengers, then sped away again, crashing into a Greenfield police cruiser as he made his getaway. He continued towards Chillicothe with three sheriff's cruisers and a Greenfield police car in hot pursuit.

Emrick said Purdin's 1957 model car was traveling at a high rate of speed when it finally spun out of control and crashed on U.S. 50 at 3:56 a.m. just 40 minutes after the chase began.

Purdin was taken into custody by Greenfield police and was returned to the jail.

McCord to have top witness role

WASHINGTON (AP) — James McCord, the talkative conspirator, planted the seed of disclosure now coming to bloom. He broke the silence that let the Watergate story come tumbling through.

It was an uncharacteristic act for an unusual man, a reallife spy whose world was secrecy and codes and a willingness to do anything for a cause—except take the rap for others.

When McCord steps before the cameras in the opening phase of the Senate's Watergate hearings, he'll be in a spotlight that he helped focus with a clumsily typed letter in March.

Then he stood before a judge prepared to impose a heavy sentence for being caught in the act burgling and bugging Democratic party headquarters.

The letter, at that time already in Chief U.S. District Court Judge John J. Sirica's hands, changed it all.

"In the interests of justice," McCord wrote, "I will state the following to you at this time."

And then came three terse paragraphs of allegations:

—There was political pressure applied to the defendants in the Watergate trial to plead guilty and remain silent.

—Perjury occurred during the trial.

—Others involved in the Watergate operation were not identified during the trial, when they could have been by those testifying.

Later the same day, March 23, McCord met with investigators for the special Senate Watergate committee. He talked about point three: He'd been told that John N. Mitchell, Jeb S. Magruder and John W. Dean III planned Watergate with G. Gordon Liddy, his codefendant in the trial.

Another time he talked of point one: The Committee for the Re-election of the President promised money; presidential aides promised clemency in return for stony silence.

And to lawyers in civil suits McCord talked of point 2: Jeb Magruder lied, he said.

McCord's testimony was so sensational it leaked out before stenographers had a chance to transcribe it. He talked so much that only two days of depositions totaled 380 pages.

He is certain to be the most sensational of the early witnesses in the Senate's great Caucus Room and in what promises to be the most sensational of the many dramatic hearings that have been held there.

Several factors enter into latest gold-buying rush

LONDON (AP) — The price of gold hit record highs in Europe this week above $100 an ounce, and the U.S. dollar was in trouble again. Here is an explanation of some of the factors in the situation:

Question: What is so good about gold?

Answer: Gold has two roles. One is historic, as a backer of money, since the days when coins were worth their weight in gold. Nowadays in many parts of the world paper money is still worth no more than the amount of gold it can buy. When people worry that the buying power of their money is shrinking, they often prefer to hold gold instead. If enough of them change their money for gold at the same time, they drive up the price of the metal.

Q. What is the other role of gold?

A. Like coffee, tin or any other commodity, gold can be traded on open markets in Europe. When orders to buy outweigh orders to sell, the price goes up. In recent months the demand from dentists, jewelers, industry, hoarders and financial speculators has been greater than the supplies of newly mined gold reaching the market. So the price has gone up.

Q. Why the big rise in the price of gold now?

A. Gold has been climbing for the past two years. As confidence in the twice-devalued U.S. dollar declined, more and more individuals and companies decided to pay out dollars to buy gold. This weakened the dollar and doubled the gold price over the past year.

By last Friday, gold had reached a record high of about $97 an ounce in Europe. The Watergate scandal was undermining confidence in the dollar further. Traders were virtually certain the gold price would break through the psychologically important hurdle of $100 an ounce this week and then climb even higher.

Decisions were made over the weekend to buy millions of dollars worth of gold on Monday. The price broke $100 that day and went as high as $124 an ounce briefly in Paris before beginning to settle down by the middle of the week. The longterm outlook remainad unclear.

Q. Who bought gold?

A. Wealthy interests in the Middle East who are paid in dollars and felt safer holding gold, international corporations with spare cash, speculators and such hoarders as French peasants who traditionally buy gold in times of political or economic uncertainty. The big buyers keep their identities secret. Dealers were divided Thursday over the importance of Middle East buyers.

Q. Can anybody buy gold?

A. No. Americans have been barred from buying gold legally since 1934. A measure now before Congress may change this. But for the moment, Americans can take advantage of rising gold prices by buying stock in profitable gold mines. Most European and Asian governments allow their citizens to buy and hold gold.

Q. Who sells gold?

A. South Africa mines 78 per cent of the non-Communist world's supply of new gold. The Soviet Union is another key source of new gold. Australia, Canada and some other countries are less important suppliers.

These countries, together with hoarders and speculators, often keep

Salinger defendant in lawsuit

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—A $40 million suit has been filed here against 34 defendants—including Pierre Salinger, former press secretary for President John F. Kennedy—charging them with setting up corporations to avoid Securities and Exchange Commission regulations.

The suit was filed as a class action in U.S. District Court Wednesday by two Florida residents in behalf of the 3,000 stockholders in USIF Real Estate, which the plaintiffs claim is the largest real estate holder in the country.

Defendants are Salinger and other founders of Gramco Management Limited, several Gramco subsidiaries including USIF, and six banks in Philadelphia, Michigan and Ohio.

The suit claims that when Gramco set up USIF Real Estate in 1966, it also set up several other subsidiaries to carry out the management and insurance of USIF real estate holdings.

The plaintiffs charge that in violation of SEC regulations USIF paid "inflated fees" to the other Gramco subsidiaries, which allegedly made large profits at the expense of USIF stockholders.

The suit also charges that USIF deposits held by several banks were frozen in 1970, preventing USIF stockholders from selling their stock back to the company.

Reserve board tightens money

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Federal Reserve Board has moved to cool the nation's economy by tightening the supply of money member banks have available for business loans.

The board Wednesday ordered member banks to raise their reserves from 5 to 8 per cent on the amount of increase in their large outstanding certificates of deposit. The action takes effect June 7.

Banks issue certificates of deposit in exchange for money deposited for specified periods of time. Higher interest is paid on the certificates than on regular savings accounts.

Certificates are a major source of funds that banks acquire and lend to businesses at higher interest rates.

By the increased reserve requirements, the board is forcing member banks to set aside a greater percentage of their new funds.

If a bank had $20 million outstanding in deposit certificates in the week ended May 16 and increased that amount to $25 million, that additional $5 million would be subjected to the 8 per cent reserve requirement.

Under the new directive, the bank would be forced to set aside $400,000 in reserves, rather than the $250,000 under the old regulation. This would withhold $150,000 that, in the absence of the directive, would have been available for lending to businesses.

The board also removed the ceiling on interest rates that banks may pay on certificates of deposits in amounts of $100,000 and over. But the increase will not apply to banks with total outstanding certificates of less than $10 million.

About $1 billion in certificates of deposit is now outstanding, $800 million more than at the start of the year, said the board.

The board, which asked banks to observe the "spirit as well as the letter" of its actions, said business borrowing from commercial banks increased by about $15 billion during the first four months of the year. That amounts to an annual rate of increase of about 15 per cent, compared to last year's 11.5 per cent.

Scandal hearings

campaign—Republican, Democratic and otherwise.

The Washington Post, which has won a Pulitzer prize for Watergate coverage, today reported the break-in and bugging of Democratic party headquarters in the Watergate was but one incident in a huge White House undercover operation beginning in 1969 and involving still-unreported cases of political burglary, wiretapping, spying and sabotage.

The Post said the mentalhealth records of Sen. Thomas F. Eagleton, D-Mo., were in the possession of White House adviser John D. Ehrlichman for several weeks before the story leaked to the press that the Democratic vice-presidential candidate had undergone electric-shock treatment for nervous exhaustion. Eagleton then quit the ticket.

Personnel of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, the Secret Service, the Justice Department and the White House were used in a wide variety of clandestine operations, the Post said, quoting "highly placed sources in the executive branch."

Sen. Sam J. Ervin Jr., the committee's chairman, is quick to point out that the panel is charged to "prove or disprove" any and all accusations.

As Senate workmen prepared the Caucus Room for the beginning of the long set of Watergate hearings, another high administration official resigned, becoming at least the 11th to quit after being touched by various aspects of the case.

G. Bradford Cook, chairman of the Securities and Exchange Commission, left the government Wednesday in the aftershock of the indictments of former Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell, former Commerce Secretary Maurice H. Stans and two others charged with alleged campaign financing violations.

The White House pointed a finger of blame, meanwhile, at a man who did not quit but was fired: John W. Dean III, formerly the President's official lawyer.

White House Press Secretary Ronald L. Ziegler insisted that Dean conducted an in-house Watergate investigation for the President. But Ziegler called it inadequate.

Dean, who has been granted immunity for anything he may say at the Senate hearings, has said he never wrote a report on such an investigation for the White House. He told interviewers he was "flabbergasted" when the President told a news conference Aug. 29 a "Dean report" had cleared all aides then on the White House staff.

Dean vowed he will not be made a scapegoat in the Watergate case.

But lawyers representing him told a federal judge they believe there is at least a chance he may be indicted. They said Dean has been unable to learn from federal prosecutors if he is suspected of any crime.

Similar statements came from lawyers representing Ehrlichman and former White House chief of staff H.R. Haldeman as all three men asked to be excused for the present from making depositions in a Watergate-connected civil suit. Haldeman and Ehrlichman resigned as a result of Watergate.

Although it does not have the same international reputation, the Ohio River System handled more tonnage in 1971 and 1972 than the Panama Canal.

WAR PROTESTER — Mrs. Martha Tranquilli, 63, grandmother and registered nurse, was sentenced to nine months in federal prison for not paying taxes at Mound Bayou, Miss. A native of Springfield, Ill., Mrs. Tranquilli withheld 60 per cent of her income taxes as a protest against U.S. involvement in Southeast Asia, by claiming six peace and freedom groups as dependents.

their supplies off the market when prices are rising. This can drive prices up further for more profitable sales later. Russia and South Africa appear to be holding back now.

Q. Will the gold price always go up?

A. Not necessarily. Governments are working to reform the international monetary system. Should they find a new reserve unit for money to replace gold, the price of the metal will probably drop. Any time the South Africans or the Russians decide to unload supplies on the market, the price should drop sharply.

Q. How does a gold buying rush affect the dollar?

A. If holders of dollars use them to buy up large quantities of gold, the market is flooded with dollars and the value declines. And since 1968 there have been two gold markets, official and free. On the official market, used for transactions between governments, the price of gold is now $42.22 an ounce. Industries, speculators and others trade on the free markets where the price is now over $100 an ounce. The higher the free market price rises, the greater the pressure to raise the official price. When the official gold price goes up, the U.S. dollar is devalued.

Q. What happens if the dollar is devalued?

A. Americans must pay more for imported goods and vacations abroad. It costs more to run U.S. businesses overseas. But U.S. exports become cheaper and more competitive.

Q. Is another devaluation likely?

A. Not yet. Since the last U.S. devaluation in February, a number of technical steps have been taken to steady world money markets, among them foreign exchange controls and floating exchange rates. A continued gold rush, however, could eventually unravel these arrangements and force another dollar devaluation. Most experts now rate the possibility as unlikely.

Q. What are the immediate effects of the gold price rise?

A. Jewelry prices are going up, but not as fast as gold. The increase in a pair of earrings, for example, will depend on how much gold is in them and when they were bought.

Ohio drive on child abuse brings flood of new cases

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio's campaign against child abuse and neglect has brought the problems "out from under the rug," according to state Welfare Director Charles Bates.

Bates Wednesday cited statistics on big increases in the number of cases reported as indications that the administration's program has been a "tragic success."

He said twice as many children were reported abused or neglected in the first four months of this year as during the same period during 972. Last year reports were up 62 per cent over 1971. The state campaign began last July.

"No one likes to hear of children being hurt or killed," Bates said, "but the more cases we're able to uncover the more children and parents we'll have the opportunity to help before it's too late."

Bates said public response to the program has been "tremendous" and pointed to 40,000 requests the department has received for literature dealing with the problem.

In addition, he said, more than 400 social workers from welfare agencies in 76 Ohio counties have attended a series of workshops to train participants on how to prevent child abuse in their own communities.

Many county welfare departments and children service boards, especially in urban areas, have added staff members to investigate such cases, Bates said, and a few agencies have established new programs dealing solely with the problem.

The state welfare department has hired two additional child protective services specialists to help local agencies, he added.

A bill currently pending in the Ohio House would add to the effectiveness of the program, Bates said. The measure would broaden the number of professional groups required to report cases to include coroners and and operators of part-and full-time day care centers.

"This legislation would also clearly define what constitutes the 'emotional' neglect of a child and insure all local agencies report every case," he said.

Cold air continues to pour into Ohio today in the wake of a cold front that moved across the state overnight.

A combination of clear skies and unseasonably cold air will bring the threat of frost to most of the state tonight.

Temperatures at dawn today dipped into the upper 30s and low 40s over most of the state. Toledo reported a record-breaking 33-degree reading at dawn.

It was coldest in the northwestern part of the state where the cold front first penetrated Ohio. Warmest was the southeast, where cloudy skies continued early today.

Showers were common along the front overnight, but skies cleared after the front's passage.

Warmer weather will return to Ohio Friday as southwesterly winds move into the Buckeye State.

Showery periods through Monday. Highs in the 60s and low 70s. Lows in the 40s Saturday morning, warming to the 50s by Monday.

Death jokes not funny to official

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Late-night talk show host Johnny Carson was joking on television about the American way of death in general and Nashville's high-rise mausoleum in particular.

An official of Woodlawn Memorial Park, the proprietors of the mausoleum, jokingly offered to process the NBC star through his mortuary's crematorium.

The exchange began last month when Carson, quoting from an Associated Press story about Woodlawn's new 20-story mausoleum, included several wisecracks about death and morticians in his nightly monolog.

That led to a full-page advertisement in Nashville's morning newspaper, the Tennessean, in which the Woodlawn proprietors chided Carson for his attitude.

"Death Is No Joking Matter," the ad declared.

"I didn't mean anything disrespectful ... " Carson replied to the ad on his show Wednesday night. "You know they (morticians) are going to have the last laugh anyway."

Lukens case argument set

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Ohio Supreme Court has set oral arguments next Wednesday on State Sen. Donald L. "Buzz" Lukens' arguments that he should be permitted to be a Republican candidate for governor or U.S. Senator next year.

Lukens, of Middletown, was ruled off any ballot by Secretary of State Ted W. Brown, who said he failed to file his expense statement from his last state senate campaign on time.

Brown acted under an Ohio law that says candidates who do not file within 45 days of the election cannot seek public office for five years.

Lukens countered that he did mail the statement but it was not received or recorded by the Butler County Board of Elections.

Lukens said he mailed a second statement — received 12 days after the deadline — after the board notified him they hadn't received the first one.

Kleindienst to speak

DELAWARE, Ohio (AP) — Former U.S. Atty. Gen. Richard Kleindienst will speak at Ohio Wesleyan University Wednesday as part of the Memorial Union program.

As of December 31, 1972, there were approximately 31,000 registered pilots and 5,775 registered aircrafts in Ohio.

Antioch faculty faces furlough

YELLOW SPRINGS, Ohio (AP) — Antioch College faculty members honoring a student strike here have been told they will be "furloughed without pay" beginning May 31, if they don't start holding classes.

Students set up picket lines around campus buildings April 20 protesting the financial aids procedures at the college. They are demanding the college guarantee needy students financial assistance over a four-year period.

About 1,100 students attend the college, 700 of them classified as "needy."

Stock list down again

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market moved downwards today in moderate trading as already cautious investors kept close tabs on the televised Senate Watergate hearings.

The 11:30 a.m. Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was down 3.83 points at 913.31. Declining issues on the New York Stock Exchange led advances 667 to 398.

"There is a problem confronting the market, psychologically at least, and that's Watergate," said Martin I. Goodfriend of Bruns, Nordeman & Co. "The headlines from these hearings are likely to be negative."

As the market opened today the government announced it had revised upward the firstquarter gross national product figures to show that the inflation rate was the highest since 1951. The Commerce Department announced first-quarter corporate profits rose by 25.9 per cent from a year earlier, and the federal budget deficit showed a sharp reduction in the first quarter.

Home study students gain stature

By JOHN CUNNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — Today's home study student is "more aware and responsible and has a greater intention of finishing his courses than the student of 10 years ago," said the director of the National Home Study Council.

And matching him in each respect, contends the director, William Fowler, are the sellers of home study courses. For one thing, he said, "the schools are more responsible in the students they enroll."

Thus, according to NHSC, whose membership consists of 188 accredited schools with 1.5 million students, some of the most serious problems, perhaps better described as defects, are being ameliorated.

As a result, Fowler said, "The students are learning more and completing more." The completion ratio of about one in four compares favorably with many colleges and exceeds the ratio of some open admission community colleges.

There has always been a great number of very highly motivated students in such courses, which go by the name of home study or extension or correspondence or independent study courses. But a lot of dreamers too.

The typical abuse was to enroll an individual possessed of more hope than dedication, more ambition than ability. And, in fact, many home study courses advertised, and some still do, the dream rather than the details.

But efforts of the Federal Trade Commission and the Veterans Administration and other government agencies have probably reduced the instances.

But the council also claims credit, having withdrawn accreditation from about 20 members since it took on the job 18 years ago, although some of those dropped from membership quickly regained their status.

Counting courses offered by universities, professional organizations, business, religious groups and governments, it is estimated that more than five million Americans are studying at home.

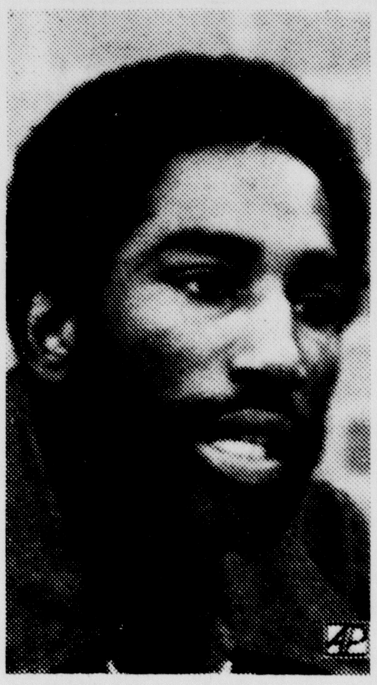
Fowler can list many reasons for their popularity, among them:

—The school comes to the student, the student learns at his own pace, he can fit study time around jobs and other activities, he can emphasize what he wants, he pays only for wanted courses, he has the instructor's complete attention, he has constant feedback.

Rapid technological changes also require skilled workers to continue their education on the job.

A Carnegie Corp. study shows that craftsmen and foremen make more extensive use of correspondence courses than any other nonmilitary groups, followed in order by professional and technical workers, and high school diploma seekers.

Seven Wonders of the Ancient World were: Colossus of Rhodes on a small island in the Aegean Sea; Great Temple of Diana in Ephesus, Turkey; Great Pyramid in Egypt; Hanging Gardens of Babylon; giant statue of Zeus in Olympia, Greece; Pharos Lighthouse at the tip of a peninsula in Alexandria, Egypt, and the Tomb of King Mausolus in Bodium, Turkey.



CAMPUS PRESIDENT — Lee Gill, 24, ex-convict, has been elected president of the University of Michigan Student Government Council at Ann Arbor. Gill carries a 3.5 grade average and expects to earn his B.A. degree this summer. He served six months in jail for stealing a car. It was in prison that he became interested in getting an education.

Opinion And Comment

Searchlight of the Press

Much has been said in praise of the Washington Post's penetrating, sustained coverage of the wide-ranging Watergate scandal. The capstone has been set on that sentiment, now, with the award to the Post of the 1973 Pulitzer Prize for meritorious public service.

The bestowal of this accolade is doubly welcome. It is well deserved recognition of what a great newspaper in our capital city has done to illuminate wrongdoing in high places. But the award is gratifying, also, because the Post's Watergate coverage so dramatically gave the lie to attacks on the press as a grossly biased and self-serving institution.

The contrary is further emphasized by the fact that another Pulitzer Prize went to reporters for the Knight Newspapers who brought to light Sen. Thomas Eagleton's history of psychiatric treatment. Neither Republican nor Democratic parties have escaped the searchlight of keen reporting. The public has been well served in both instances.

THESE DAYS . . . by John Chamberlain

Jackson and the venture note

Sen. Henry M. Jackson of the State of Washington has been attracting a good deal of attention from those who insist on making early book on presidential sweepstakes. The attention is deserved.

But the reasons offered for Jackson't 1976 availability fail to do justice to the Jackson character, which is far less opportunistic than appears from the accounts that try to set him up as a person destined to breathe new life into the old Franklin Delano Roosevelt coalition in the Democrat Party.

Ben Wattenberg, an able student of election trends and social statistics, is responsible for projecting the image of Jackson as the likely beneficiary of the coalition revival. Working at Jackson headquarters in Miami Beach last summer, Wattenberg thoroughly enjoyed himself in pointing out, with scathing satirical comment, that George McGover's "quotas" — the young, the poor, the black and the women's libbers—excluded the rank and file of the Democratic Party.

McGOVERN made no appeal to labor (AFL-CIO president George Meany couldn't stand him), he had angered the city boss element by his treatment of Mayor Richard Daley of Chicago, his partiality to the blacks and the "new" minorities did not sit well with the Irish, Italian, Polish, Czech and Greek ethnics who had made great economic progress since the Rooseveltian New Deal, and he had ignored the claims of the South.

Jackson would have made a far better candidate than McGovern, but the primaries had stacked the convention against common sense.

Now that time has proved Ben Wattenberg's points, the ignored elements of the old Roosevelt coalition are speaking up for Jackson. George Meany endorses Jackson's foreign policy ideas and trusts him on both labor and welfare economics. Chicago's Dick Daley has said , "God willing, he'll be President." Jackson's stand on military preparedness satisfies conservatives, particularly in the South.

Jewish liberals would surely support him financially because of the "Jackson amendment" that would deny economic favors to Moscow as long as its stiff emigration tax keeps Jews from going to Israel.

The ethnics of East European background, liking Jackson's quid pro quo attitude toward the Communists, would surely vote for him.

Arithmetically, then, Jackson should be the front-runner in a party that needs labor, the South, the Jewish liberals and the city bosses with their ethnic followings if it is to upset the prophets of the "coming Republican majority." But adding the elements of the old Roosveltian coalition together, while it may make for impressive statistics, ignores the probability that certain agonizing national issues will be cutting across all the old standard)ized lines in 1976.

What impresses me about Jackson is that he is alive to dangers that transcend the arithmetic of coalition. The other Democratic hopefuls — Edward Kennedy, Walter Mondale, Ed Muskie — are still predominantly welfare-minded.

JACKSON has his own sense of compassion, but, peering into the future, he sees a country that will be tormented less by welfare needs than by a snowballing energy crisis. Jackson has been talking about stockpiling oil. When the other prominent Democrats were repeating the cliches of the ecologists, Jackson was questioning what the environmental zealots were doing to make it difficult for people to earn enough money to live in any environment, good or bad.

Jackson would not be oblivious to the need for clean water and clean air, but he would move ahead with economic development first and find ways of making it ecologically safe as we go along.

He would, in short, keep the country strong, free and economically venturesome. It is the venture note that the majority of the presidential bookmakers ignore when they rate Scoop Jackson's chances.

WASHINGTON CALLING . . . by Marquis Childs

Bruce ideal for Peking assignment

PEKING — Arriving in Peking as ambassador of the United States to China in everything but name, David K. E. Bruce is initiating a new phase in the rapidly developing relationship between the two countries. The speed with which the exchange of missions between Peking and Washington came about is in itself remarkable.

When Henry Kissinger, the President's adviser on national security affairs, came here in February the outside limit of his hope was to get agreement on trade offices in the two capitals.

This would be a modest establishment, without fanfare, intended to smooth the way for increased trade. He was astonished when Premier Chou En-lai suggested a liaison mission that would have diplomatic immunity and some diplomatic privileges.

THE CHOICE of Bruce was a tenstrike. Not only America's senior deplomat serving as ambassador in Paris, Bon and London, he is a scholar and a witty raconteur out of his wealth of experience. Yet, for all his many years in foreign posts he is unmistakably an American.

His independence has been uppermost from the announcement of his appointment to his arrival in Hong Kong, the first stop on the way to Peking. He has a diplomatic assignment of the first importance and he intends to devote himself to that task with no distractions.

He firmly resisted efforts to swell the mission with aides from Commerce, Agriculture and the USIA.

His age, 75, was a further compliment to the Chinese. It is the age of Chou En-lai, whose achievements as diplomat and administrator over every detail of the life of this vast land are without parallel in the contemporary world.

On each of his four visits to Peking, the first two years ago to lay the groundwork for the Nixon mission, Kissinger has spent many hours in discussion with Chou. Meeting in the late morning and in the early evening, they would often talk late into the night. Kissinger has said that conversation never lagged, no matter how long the discussion went on.

TRANSCRIPTS were made of these conversations and as part of the preparation for his assignment Bruce read the thousands of words exchanged between the two. It gave him an extraordinary insight into the mind of one of the commanding figures of the century. And this will be a marked advantage in forming what are certain to be his own close ties with the Premier.

Having spent part of his youth in Paris where he first became a member of the Communist party, Chou speaks French fluently, as do Bruce and his wife. Like Bruce, he has strong feeling for antiques and art objects. When he was in Geneva as head of the Chinese delegation to the Indochina conference he had in his villa porcelains of museum quality.

In this liaison mission Bruce, who does not speak Chinese, is backstopped by a new generation of China specialists. Eight of the 30 in the mission speak fluent Chinese. Since the older generation of China hands in the Foreign Service was destroyed in the McCarthy-Dulles era, it is the more remarkable that these younger men are ready to understand and interpret the new China.

ALMOST to the day 130 years ago Secretary of State Daniel Webster sent Caleb Cushing, the first American emissary to Peking, to negotiate a treaty to protect American businessmen and missionaries. One of Webster's worries was that Cushing would be required when presented to the emperor to perform the kowtow, which consisted of "three kneelings and nine prostrations" with the nose on the floor.

It turned out that, while he did negotiate a treaty giving Americans extraterritorial privileges, Cushing never saw the emperor.

Some critics called Nixon's self-invited mission to Peking a kowtow. That was the beginning of the greatest diplomatic venture of our time. And Bruce, initiating a new era freed of the inhibitions of the past, is an ideal choice to carry on that adventure. His ruddy face, the mark of an American who has ridden hard over the hills of the Virginia he loves, is immediately identifiable.

With his beautiful wife, Evangeline, they will represent the best of America.

Today In History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Thursday, May 17, the 137th day of 1973. There are 228 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1954, the U.S. Supreme Court ruled that racial segregation in American public schools was unconstitutional.

On this date:

In 1756, Britain declared war on France.

In 1792, the New York Stock Exchange was founded.

In 1803, the first patent for a reaper was granted to Richard French and John Hawkins of New Jersey.

In 1875, the first Kentucky Derby was run at Louisville, Ky.

In 1957, Egypt barred Israeli merchant ships from the Suez Canal.

In 1961, Prime Minister Fidel Castro of Cuba offered to exchange prisoners captured in the Bay of Pigs invasion for American heavy tractors.

Ten years ago: It was announced that President John F. Kennedy would have an audience with Pope John XXIII when the president visited Italy late in June.

Five years ago: Soviet Premier Alexei Kosygin flew to Prague, Czechoslovakia in the midst of a mounting dispute with Czechoslovakia.

One year ago: The West German parliament approved treaties West Germany had made with the Soviet Union and Poland.

"I COULDN'T AFFORD NOT TO BUY IT. THINK WHAT IT WILL COST SIX MONTHS FROM NOW."

Hal Boyle . . . Hal rummages in the mailbag

NEW YORK (AP) — Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail:

Be glad you don't grow at the rate an opossum does. As an adult it reaches 28,000 times its birth weight. If this were true of you and you had been an eight-pound baby, you would now weigh 112 tons, too much for even a mother to love.

The health care you can get readily depends to a great extent on where you live in America. For example, there are 133 counties which have no resident physician. However, only 0.2 per cent of the U.S. population lives in these counties.

The beard of a man who lets it grow numbers about 13,000 whiskers. They grow at a density of about 390 per square inch on his cheeks, 580 per square inch on his chin.

Know your calendar: In the ancient Roman calendar, ascribed to Romulus, the year had only 10 months. The last was called December because it came from a word meaning 10. But when two more months were added, it was still placed last despite the fact its name was no longer appropriate in that position. The Saxons called the last month "winter-monath" or "heligh-monath," because it contained Christmas.

It isn't disease alone that keeps us from becoming centenarians. One of the quickest ways to extend the average life of the American male would be to eliminate the lethal toll of accidents, homicides, and suicides.

Quotable notables: "There are plenty of new sights under the sun for those who have eyes to see. Nothing is done finally and right. Nothing is done positively and completely. In science, probably 99 per cent of the knowable has yet to be discovered." — Lincoln Steffens.

A sick society: The world may not be crazy but it drives many people mad. One out of 10 Americans suffers from some form of mental illness, mild or severe. Mental disease has become a problem affecting 21 million U.S. families — one out of four.

A rut: The nation's leading chain cave operator, Lester B. Dill, operator of Meramec Caverns on Highway 66 in Missouri, claims he has been in more than 15,000 caves throughout the world — more than anyone else in history. What's your claim to fame?

Productive: Why is agriculture so important? Because if he lived only on wild plants and wild game, each human being would need eight square miles in which to forage. But thanks to proper soil cultivation, that same amount of acreage can now support on the average more than 5,000 people.

Worth remembering: "One of the reasons so many politicians are keeping their mouths shut today is that they are afraid if they open them a foot will fall out."

Folklore: Hairs from a black cat have curative powers. Cats born in the month of May make poor mousers. If a cat sits with its back to the fire, expect a storm soon. Put butter on a cat's paws to keep it from straying from a new house you move into.

Dear Abby:

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

Mother smokes when kids light up the grass

DEAR ABBY: How right you are! No one should drop in on their married children unannounced. They might be smoking grass there!

I learned the hard way. If someone stole my purse, I'd report it to the police. But when I'm present when they're smoking marijuana in their own homes, I just keep my mouth shut, come home, and air out my clothes and hope I never have to smell it again.

I know what I am going to put in their Christmas stockings next year. A hacksaw for her, and a file for him.

I've invited my daughter, her husband, and several of their friends over for dinner next week, and if those kids light up in my home I'll call the sheriff. (I wonder if I should warn them in advance? Or do you suppose after four years of college they are sufficiently educated to know that one doesn't break the law in the home of a host?)

I never thought I'd send a letter couldn't sign, but here's one. Aren't we a bunch of lovely law abiding Christian parents? Thanks for being a good ear. I had to tell someone or explode.

FRUSTRATED MOTHER

DEAR FRUSTRATED: Why the frustration? Just tell your kids you don't want them lighting up in your home, and if you are present when they light up elsewhere, absent yourself.

DEAR ABBY: Since you frequently give waitresses space in your column to air their pet peeves I hope you'll give equal time to a customer who has one:

Where do people get the nerve to go into a busy restaurant and READ at the table? I can understand someone giving the newspaper a quick going over to get the news, but I've seen people leisurely reading books and magazines at the table while others are waiting to sit down and eat.

I hope you'll print this for some of those selfish people who need to be jarred into more considerate behavior.

CHICAGOAN

DEAR CHICAGOAN: I'll print it. But those who behave in the abovementioned manner need more than a "jar." They need an earthquake.

DEAR ABBY: My problem has no solution, unless this is printed and the "culprit" just happens to see it and recognizes herself as the singer.

My sister, whom I love dearly, has been a widow for several years, and since she is a very congenial person my husband and I have invited her along on our motor trip vacation. We love music and our automobile is equipped with stereo and our favorite cassettes.

Now comes the problem: My sister, who has no singing voice at all, must accompany every song she hears. She does this in a shrill, off-key voice, four to six beats ahead (or behind) and sometimes she "harmonizes."

My husband and I intend to spend three months touring Mexico and my husband has given me an ultimatum: Tell Sis to keep her mouth shut, or the trip is off.

Any ideas?

LOVING SISTER

DEAR SISTER: Tell Sis that your husband, the music-lover, is looking forward to enjoying the music on the trip, and you'd appreciate her quiet cooperation.

Tighter British gun law

Comparatively speaking, Britain has very little crime involving use of a gun. One thing Britain does have is strict gun control laws; licenses for hand guns are rarely granted, and rifles and shotguns cannot be possessed unless they are licensed by the police.

It strikes us as a fair conclusion that there is a connection between these two things. It strikes the British government that way, too. Firm as the present gun laws are, the government proposes to tighten them further. The new rules being considered would even permit the banning of gun replicas which in a committee's judgment look real enough to be used by a criminal. Britain, already tough about guns, is moving further in this direction.

Bobby Seale loses election

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP) — Black Panther cofounder Bobby Seale lost his bid to become mayor of California's fifth largest city. But he pledges, "We haven't stopped yet."

Businessman John Reading captured his third term as mayor by an almost 2-1 margin Tuesday and lauded the Panthers' movement into the political arena.

"I would hope they will continue to work in the democratic process," Reading said after his victory was assured. "I'm much more pleased with this than with the militant and confrontational type of approach the Panthers were doing four to five years ago."

Frank Loomis of Akron designed the first auto police patrol wagon in 1899.

Your Horoscope

By FRANCES DRAKE

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

ARIES
(March 21 to April 20)

You have a bright outlook but nevertheless you will have to strive steadily to attain your goals. Don't think you can scale the heights without proper planning and consistent effort.

TAURUS
(April 21 to May 21)

Begin new, creative work, take up a refreshing diversion, practice a skill. Day especially favors the arts and science; also friendships and romance.

GEMINI
(May 22 to June 21)

Restlessness or overzealousness could send you off too readily on a detrimental bent, a truly wrong turn. Emphasize your inherent keenness of perception — and halt!

CANCER
(June 22 to July 23)

Venture where a belief is sound and data readily available. In the latter connection, you may have to search more. Rewards for the effort.

LEO
(July 24 to Aug. 23)

Logic, reasoning MUST be stressed. Do not rely on hunches or someone's say-so. Seek more knowledge of your subject — and be sure.

VIRGO
(Aug. 24 to Sept. 23)

Strategy and common sense will be the biggest factors in your success picture now. THINK your way through obstacles.

LIBRA
(Sept. 24 to Oct. 23)

Be sure that whatever it is in which you invest time, money or energies has meaning — not just for the present, but for the future. Care in handing details!

SCORPIO
(Oct. 24 to Nov. 22)

Good offerings indicated. Stress your competence and do not hesitate to accept others' ideas if practical. Intellectual prusuits favored.

SAGITTARIUS
(Nov. 23 to Dec. 21)

Avoid indecision and inflexibility if you would make REAL progress. No matter what the external conditions, you can accomplish with pluck.

CAPRICORN
(Dec. 22 to Jan. 20)

As with Sagittarius, you also could be caught in tides of indecision, moods of lethargy or downright obstinacy. All must be curbed if you would have a satisfactory day.

AQUARIUS
(Jan. 21 to Feb. 19)

Don't wait for help. Many would like to aid your project, but can't find the time. So go on the assumption that it's your ball to carry, and carry it.

PISCES
(Feb. 20 to March 20)

Avoid agitators and trouble-makers, but DO stand up for what is right or you will give them strength through your passiveness.

YOUR BORN TODAY are extremely ambitious and versatile; quite philosophical in your attitudes toward life but, nevertheless, determined in your quest for success. And, through hard work, coupled with your talents, you could quite easily acquire a fortune. Your abilities suit you to a career in a variety of fields but, notably, in science, music, writing and the theater — especially in drama criticism or play-writing. You also have a considerable amount of business acumen and would make an excellent executive. A tendency to be too dictatorial with those under your supervision may not make you a popular one, however.

Three attend CF workshop

Mrs. Robert Lee, Mrs. Rollo Marchant and Mrs. Gerald Wheat attended a two-day Program Introduction Workshop recently for new Camp Fire Girls material. The workshop, held in the Ramada Inn in Dayton, was one of 20 held in cities all over the country. The new program materials for use with girls in grades one through six will be available in September. Fall leader training is being planned now to introduce the new ideas to all leaders of the Paint Valley Council.

While the new materials contain all of the traditions of Camp Fire Girls, they have been adapted to suit the variety of girls and communities in today's society. New ideas, additional honors to be earned, and an opportunity to study other cultures will give girls and leaders something to look forward to in the next year.

National public release date for these books will be Sept. 12. Board members of the Paint Valley Council will be given a preview at their next regular meeting on May 21 in the CF office.

The program followed with a "Welcome" by Leslie Martindill and group singing of "To You O Faithful Mother" and "We Honor Mother," with Mrs. Glen Jette at the piano. Other recitations were "Mother Love" by Lorie Adams, "I'm Glad That God Made Mothers" by Loretta Jette, and a reading by Julie Baker entitled "Taking Mother's Place."

"She Taught Me How to Pray" was the name of the solo sung by Denise Matthews, accompanied by Mrs. Jette.

TV Viewing

By JAY SHARBUTT
AP Television Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Today's televised Senate hearings on the Watergate scandal were in no way limited to U.S. viewers who could see them on public television or on any of the three commercial networks.

Because of the satellite, it was theoretically possible for most of the world to plug into the show and see it live.

Nobody did, but news teams from at least two major nations planned to broadcast same-day television pictures of the proceedings, which also were being covered by European and Asian radio reporters.

The drill called for videotaped highlights of today's hearing before the Senate Select Committee to be sent by satellite to England and Japan, in addition to the radio reports filed overseas.

The ABC Television network was running the television pool from which ABC, CBS, NBC and the Public Broadcasting Service took their "feeds" for broadcast on their networks.

That feed also was to be taken by the British Broadcasting Corp. and England's commercial television system for transmission overseas this afternoon, ABC officials said.

The two British television reports were to be videotaped at a local Washington television station, edited there, reporters' narration added and then broadcast to London by satellite.

Before the start of the Watergate hearings, the Senate Radio-Television Gallery said it had received 13 requests from foreign broadcast journalists—most of them European—for permission to cover the hearings.

However, it wasn't immediately known how many actually showed up and were accredited. Fifty broadcast journalists had sought accreditation for the hearings, a gallery spokesman said.

Four stationary television cameras were set up to provide the pool pictures of today's opening session, according to Peter Hively, manager of television news coverage for ABC in Washington.

The Senate's Watergate committee, in setting rules for televising or filming the hearings, made only one restriction, said an aide to Sen. Sam Ervin Jr., D-N.C., committee chairman.

He said the committee barred the movement of cameramen with hand-held cameras from around the witness table once a witness had been seated and begun testifying.

The hearings were to be videotaped in full for broadcast tonight on any of PBS' 234 public television stations wishing to air them. The videotaping and nightly broadcasts will continue until the hearings are over, PBS says.

According to the U.S. Department of Transportation, Ohio ranks 4th in the nation, behind California, Texas and New York, in total motor vehicle registration.

Botulism outbreak controlled

CHARLESTON, W.Va. (AP) — An outbreak of botulism poisoning which hospitalized eight persons last week is now under control, according to Dr. N.H. Dyer, director of the West Virginia Department of Health.

"It may be some time before we know the extent of the health damage," Dyer said. "But we feel so far we have been quite fortunate in combatting this."

The Food and Drug Administration Wednesday announced that a recall of the peppers has been extended to Maryland, Michigan, Indiana, Illinois and Ohio.

FDA officials traced the poisoning to processed peppers distributed by Felix and Sons Wholesale Inc. of Fairmont, W.Va., and urged consumers in the Pittsburgh area and West Virginia to return those carrying the lables "Nancy's" and "San Marco Mild Hot Peppers" to the stores where they were purchased.

The original outbreak followed a Sunday dinner in Pittsburgh. An FDA spokesman said Wednessday no more cases of botulism poisoning have been reported.

Dyer said "bad treatment methods" at the Fairmont plant were found following an investigation by the health department and FDA. He said the corrective procedures would be undertaken before the plant could reopen.

One person now hospitalized for poisoning is "quite sick, suffering paralysis of muscles in the throat," Dyer said.

A spokesman at Wheeling Hospital would say only that those affected "are improving."

A Morgantown wholesale firm attempted to distribute the peppers after the recall, Dyer said, but a legal procedure was initiated. Police were called in to guard against any truckloads of peppers leaving the plant, he added.

Paulding resident killed in Indiana

NEW HAVEN, Ind. (AP) — An Ohio man was killed Wednesday night when his speeding car hit a guard rail and utility pole just west of the Indiana-Ohio border in Allen County.

State police said Charles C. Smalley, 20, Paulding, Ohio, was killed in the crash about 14 miles east of New Haven.

His car had been traveling about 100 miles per hour, police said.

The Ohio Department of Transportation estimates that more than 150 million riders will use Ohio's mass transit system, including buses, commuter trains, taxis, Amtrak and electric trolleys in 1973.

Gold prices go lower in Europe

LONDON (AP) — The price of gold eased further today as Europe's booming bullion markets lost a little more heat in early dealings. The U.S. dollar moved up strongly on foreign exchanges.

Gold opened on the free market in London at $103.50 an ounce, a full $1.50 below Wednesday's closing level.

The dollar jumped threequarters of a pfennig to 2.7925 marks at the opening in Frankfurt. In London, the pound sterling sagged more than a cent to $2.5380.

The price of gold dropped $5 in Zurich to $101.50 an ounce, and the dollar was quoted at 3.1675 Swiss francs, up almost a centime.

After touching record highs throughout the past week, gold closed Wednesday in London, the world's biggest gold market, at $105 an ounce. That was down $5.50 from Tuesday.

Similar downward trends were recorded in other European centers.

The gold rush on the free market brought pressure for an increase in the official price of $42.22 an ounce used in transactions between governments to finance their international trade.

The United States is opposed to any increase because it would devalue the dollar as an international reserve currency.

Energy crisis long-lasting, SAE told

DETROIT (AP)—The most damaging effect of the current energy crisis on manufacturing will come in the area of longterm planning, the Society of Automotive Engineers was told Wednesday.

Sheldon Taft of Columbus, Ohio, counsel for the Ohio Manufacturers Association, said firms will be forced to postpone capital spending.

"Right now, how do you know whether to build, where to build or whether to convert to some other source of energy?" he asked.

Taft said natural gas production is at its peak but demand will continue to grow.

"I find it hard to believe that demand and supply will ever come into balance," he said.

He estimated the total national shortage of natural gas will be between one and two trillion cubic feet. Total current production is 25 trillion cubic feet.

If consumption patterns remained the same, the shortage will grow to 40 per cent of production by 1985, he said.

Taft said no plant can be built today that relies on any one source of energy because of the possibility of a shortage.

"Some companies have gone to the extent of locating their plants where energy sources are located, like Texas and Oklahoma," he said.

Hoffa may delay pardon request

WHEELING, W.Va. (AP) — James R. Hoffa, former Teamsters Union president whose jail sentence for jury tampering was commuted by the President, says government preoccupation with the Watergate affair could cause him to delay filing for a pardon.

"I think we'll hesitate," Hoffa said prior to a speech Wednesday at nearby Oglebay Park. "The Watergate has everything tied up. We intend to petition the President first, and then the courts if we're not satisfied.

"But we have to have some type of indication on the pardon by the first of September."

Hoffa, 60, was released in December 1971 after serving 57 months in a federal prison.

He said a pardon would enable him to run for the presidency of his home union local in Detroit. Under terms of the commutation he is banned from union activities until 1980.

275 receive skin tests; X-ray unit due in June

During the last two days of tuberculin skin testing of the general public, and especially food handlers, 275 tests were administered by Mrs. Doris Douglass, R. N., Tuberculosis Public Health Nurse, at the G. C. Murphy Co. Store.

The results of these tests will be read on Friday, May 18, at the Murphy store between 10 a.m. and 4 p.m.

The program, sponsored by the Fayette County Tuberculosis and Health Association and the Fayette County Health Department, has always preceded the coming of the Ohio Department of Health's mobile X-ray unit, which will be in the county June 4, 5 and 6. The mobile unit will X-ray those persons having a positive reaction to the tuberculin skin test on Monday, June 4, from 2 p.m. til 8 p.m.; Tuesday, June 5, from 11 a.m. to 5 p.m.; and Wednesday, June 6, from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m.

Notices already have been sent to those persons who should have X-rays taken. Mrs. Douglass has been assisted by Mrs. Gretchen Witherspoon, supervisory nurse of the Health Department. Clerical help was furnished by Epsilon Sigma Alpha Sorority and the Welcome Wagon Club.

Members of Epsilon Sigma Alpha Sorority helping were Mrs. Donald Gibbs, Mrs. John Skinner, Mrs. Jerry Hoppes, Mrs. Roger Thompson Mrs. Ray Loudner, Mrs. Karen Bernard, Mrs. Gary McMurray and Mrs. Wayne Clark, and from the Welcome Wagon Club, Mrs. John Gruber, Mrs. Ron Hall, Mrs. Ron Templin, Mrs. Frank Giacomini, Mrs. George McCord, Mrs. Larry Forbes, Mrs. Robert Engle, Mrs. Charles Bowers and Mrs. Paul Pope.

Remodeling possibilities exhibited

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures Writer

Many summer cottages are being winterized with a view to income possibilities and retirement living.

In going through a house show one is made aware of the possibilities that exist today for cutting costs in remodeling an old home. The materials and equipment seen may have been around awhile, but we are often unaware that such things exist.

A recent show in Miami provided many ideas that could further the plans of amateurs who would winterize their second homes, whether they do it themselves or hire a professional.

For example, the bathroom has become almost a packaged deal with tubs, showers, vanities, floors and walls preassembled in one form or another. Unit bath and shower arrangements are an enormous assist.

A FIBER GLASS bath unit has a built-in, shoulder-height soap dish, towel bar and chrome fittings. It or the individual shower is available with a finished top. If the do-it-yourselfer is a plumber, he merely measures and installs.

If not, he hires someone to do it. In any event it is less costly than putting in an installation from scratch in an old house.

To finish off the bathroom walls, there are panel systems of plastic "surrounds" to be used around the wall of the tub. Another product intended for that purpose resembles marble and may be cut easily to use over the entire bathroom area if one can afford it.

Even ceramic tile has become easier to use with big sheets of pregrouted glazed tile that can be installed directly over a properly sealed dryway.

Tile "surrounds" for showers have been sized to fit the most popular units, and there are sheets of 36 ceramic tiles measuring two feet by two feet. Experienced do-it-yourselfers may also attempt to lay mosaic floor tiles which come in handy, two feet by two feet strips.

NEW marble-like vanity tops include basins and backsplashes in the molded units, making installation easy.

Of acrylic or composition marble, these are shaped into forms that slide easily into vanities which are available in a variety of styles — Spanish, early American, French Provincial, molded louvered — in a number of sizes.

Expandable rods and adjustable shelves and shoeracks of performed plastic are available for easy-does-it closet fittings.

Adding wiring to rooms is made simpler, too, with baseboard systems that make it unnecessary to gouge out the walls. These are installed in cut-lengths with covers and end panels and resemble baseboard heating units. Plug-in heating installations are also worth investigating for use in remodeled homes.

PREFABRICATED fireplaces can provide extra heat whenever a flue can be projected. And you need not build these into walls or use heavy footings even though they may offer as much charm as the more expensive masonry in-wall installations.

Designs are available for islands, ends of rooms, sides, corners and even the entrance-way of a house with colorful or black and white hoods.

To get more mileage out of a small room, one space multiplier includes desk, night table and bed that come out of a wall of bookcases.

As for a shortage of kitchen cabinets, there are surface-mounted storage panels that can provide space for groceries and other things.

Mini-appliances — refrigerator, washers, dryers — may be used in small areas that heretofore couldn't take the full-size units. Trash compactors are conveniences that may outweigh the expense, especially for older people who must cart their garbage to a dump in some areas.

One company shows a new unit that exerts a 3,000-pound pressure in anticipation of 1980 when the average person's trash may rise from five pounds to an estimated 12 pounds, they say. In any event it compacts the garbage into a small space requiring fewer trips to the garbage can or dump.

FOR PEOPLE in climates where doors warp and shrink there are bifold and other styled doors of steel. Some of structured polymer (plastic) in biford, half-louvered, full louvered and sculptured designs resemble wood, and although the window shutters and doors of the material are factory finished black or white, they may be repainted in colors.

Note breakthrough in cancer search

BAR HARBOR, Maine (AP) — Jackson Laboratory scientists report discovery of a major cause of two types of cancer in mice that may give an important clue as to how man develops the disease.

Dr. Hans Meier, a senior staff scientist, said Wednesday his research team has what is believed to be the first direct biological proof linking specific viral genetic information that's passed on through inheritance to the formation of cancer.

He said the viral cancer mechanism is a good indication as to what might happen in man, but solid evidence remains to be uncovered.

"I consider our findings a major breakthrough in solving the cancer riddle," said Meier in a telephone interview from the world's largest center of mammalian genetics research.

The evidence of the Meier research team supports the idea that all offspring inherit latent genetic information, or traits, for Type-C RNA viruses which when "switched on" transform normal cells into tumor cells. RNA is the genetic factor that carries information from one cell to another.

Meier said type-C RNA viruses are known to exist in 12 species of animals, including hampsters, apes and other primates.

"Type-C has been found occasionally in man," he added. "That's why there's no reason to think man is an exception" to inheriting the dormant genetic information that can give rise to cancer.

The studies were done with two inbred strains of lab mice and showed the presence of an inborn set of viral genes — a genome — that Meier says is the "major determinant of at least leukemias and reticulum cell sarcomas and perhaps all cancer types." One mice strain was leukemia prone; the other had a low incidence of reticulum cell sarcomas but otherwise was cancer resistant.

Troops cover body search

VICTORIA FALLS, Rhodesia (AP) — Armed police began making their way down the rugged cliffs of the fourth gorge below the Victoria Falls today. They were attempting to recover the bodies of two Canadian girls killed by gunfire along the Rhodesian-Zambian border.

The descent began after assurances from the Zambian government that its troops across the Zambezi river would not interfere.

The body of one of the girls was visible part of the way down the escarpment, but the other girl plunged into the river's crocodile-infested waters in the gorge when she was hit.

It was believed that the body on the rocks was that of Marion Iduma Drijber, 19, of Rockwood, Ont. The missing girl was Christine Louise Sinclair, 20, of Guelph, Ont.

Zambia denied the Rhodesian government's charge that its troops fired on the two girls and an American couple with them Tuesday as they visited the falls, one of the scenic wonders of the world.

Seek restoration of peace in troubled Marion, Ind.

MARION, Ind. (AP) — The shooting death of a 14-year-old black, triggering two nights of sporadic firebombings and vandalism here, did "not necessarily have racial overtones. It's just something that happened," the Rev. J. D. Williams said early today.

But, he added, "There is a racial problem ... the city is plagued with a racial problem."

The latest reported violence occurred about 10 p.m. EST, Wednesday night when a firebomb was thrown through the window at the downtown Sears Department Store, Marion police said. There was only minor damage and the fire was quickly put out by patroling policemen.

Several hours later, the Rev. Williams told the Associated Press by telephone, "Things have calmed down ... almost normal."

The first violence broke out Tuesday night in the wake of the shooting of Robert Johnson, 14, as he walked home from an ice skating rink the night before. No motive in the shooting has been determined, police said.

About 15 persons described by Williams as "a cross-section of the black community" met in the Marion Urban League office Wednesday night to discuss the situation.

"Our next step is to sit down and talk with the Chamber of Commerce and city administration for some long-range goals in community relations," Williams said. "We'll be talking about the police department. The primary interest is over-reaction to problems that might exist in the black community during times of stress. Blacks resent this ... a show of force. They don't see a need in this."

Police reported four fires Tuesday night and four persons were arrested on preliminary charges of arson.

Report Liddy told solons how to skirt election law

WASHINGTON (AP) — Convicted Watergate conspirator G. Gordon Liddy coached Republican congressmen on how to avoid a new campaign law last year but advised them not to break the law because of criminal penalties.

Liddy gave GOP congressmen that advice at the same time he was helping plan the burglary-bugging of the Democratic National Committee headquarters, the operation that would become known as the Watergate affair.

Liddy, then counsel to the Committee for the Re-election of the President, spoke to the congressmen at a seminar on the new campaign law held on Feb. 23, 1972. The seminar was sponsored jointly by the Republican Congressional Committee and the House Republican Conference.

The Republicans released a transcript of the session at which Liddy gave his interpretation of the new law. It went into effect April 7, 1972.

"(The) thing that comes to mind because of the criminal sanctions is be careful," Liddy told the congressmen. "Don't try to play fast and loose with this one. It's a whole different ball game from the current situation ....

"There are strong criminal sanctions running to this act, and we would all be, I think, very well advised not to treat it with the same attitude that you treated the existing laws, which, as you know, had no teeth at all; paper tigers."

While Liddy was warning the congressmen not to break the law, he also advised them on how to successfully skirt it.

"For those of you who are so fortunate as to have prospective donors who can give you a lot of money but who are shy about having their name appear in print, now would be the time to make the donation, because the act does not take effect until April the seventh," he said.

At least one individual, who attended the meeting and had known Liddy previously, said he was concerned that Liddy would even suggest how congressmen might avoid the campaign law.

"Here was a man who said he was counsel to the Committee to Re-elect the President coming to tell Republican congressmen how to beat the law," the individual said. "The tone of the whole thing was very disquieting."

SEC chief 11th administration official to resign position

WASHINGTON (AP) — Chairman G. Bradford Cook of the Securities and Exchange Commission has become the 11th Nixon administration official to quit in the wake of election irregularities.

Cook announced his resignation Wednesday, 15 minutes before he was due to testify secretly before a House panel, amid speculation that he would be asked to discuss the Robert L. Vesco case.

The House Commerce Committee's investigation subcommittee postponed Cook's appearance. Rep. Harley O. Staggers, D-W.Va., told newsmen the session was tentatively rescheduled for Monday.

Staggers, chairman of the full committee and the investigating panel looking into SEC actions, would not say whether Cook's planned appearance was tied to the case involving the secret $200,000 contribution by New Jersey financier Vesco to the President's re-election campaign.

Cook was the latest official of the Nixon administration to leave his job because of burgeoning disclosures about Watergate and other campaign deeds. Ten others before him, including Atty. Gen. Richard G. Kleindienst and White House aides John Ehrlichman and H.R. Haldeman, have resigned.

Staggers said he talked by phone to Cook, who did not appear at the subcommittee room where he was to have testified.

Cook, who denied wrongdoing, said in a letter to Nixon: "I deeply regret having to tender my resignation as chairman of the Securities and Exchange Commission, but in light of unfortunate circumstances now prevailing, I believe it is best to do so." Cook said he found himself facing a "web of circumstances" and felt the effectiveness of the agency might be impaired.

A Senate subcommittee spent about five hours with Cook in a closed meeting last Monday, following reports that under political pressure the SEC, in a lawsuit alleging Vesco and 41 others conspired to loot $224 million from a foreign-based mutual fund, made no mention of the Vesco donation to the Nixon campaign.

BIRDWATCHERS' PARADISE — Tourism, industry, and the production of electrical power aren't the only things that are attracting attention at Niagara Falls. Naturalists are finding the area is a productive and exciting location for birdwatching. Organized birdwatching groups in recent months have sent field teams to the increasingly popular spot to catalog all kinds of birds that are present near the world-famous cataracts. Traveling medical vans give service to rural Tennessee

CLARKRANGE, Tenn. (AP) — Early in the morning, five days a week, two large vans travel along twisting Tennessee roads in the Upper Cumberland Mountains.

Their destination? Deer Lodge. Pine Haven. Pleasant Valley. Grimsley. Wilder-Davidson. Crab Orchard. Hanging Limb.

Daily one of these rural villages in seven eastern Tennessee counties gets either medical or dental service from staffs who work out of vans operated by Project Concern, an international medical relief organization.

Once in the villages, the vans are parked near buildings that sometimes serve as waiting rooms. In other cases, the waiting is done in patients' cars.

One doctor examines patients inside the van, as the other uses a side room when available. Medicine is dispensed from a counter in the van.

In a separate village the dental van is also parked and prepared to see some 20 patients. Two chairs allow both the dentist and hygienist to work at the same time.

The dental van is staffed by Dr. Richard Orlowski, a youthful dentist determined to solve tooth problems through a preventive program.

The medical staff is a husband-wife team, James and Mollie Turpin, founders of Project Concern. They've traveled the world and established the project in Vietnam, Hong Kong, Mexico, Ethiopia, Navaholand in New Mexico and have now settled in Appalachia.

The Turpins first arrived in the Upper Cumberlands in 1968, and the first crew worked from a borrowed station wagon, holding clinics under trees, beside buildings or anywhere possible.

Board OKs subdivision agreement

Fayette County Commissioners, meeting in special session Wednesday, passed a resolution on a 2-1 vote expressing the board's intent to enter into an agreement with Gilmore Homes, Inc., for operation and maintenance of a sewage treatment and central water supply system for Culpepper Subdivision No. 3.

The subdivision is located north of Washington C.H. on Ohio 41.

Voting against the proposal was Commissioner J. Herbert Perrill.

Perrill said that although county commissioners are permitted to take over the operation and maintenance of such facilities, they are not compelled to do so. He said the developer could establish a public utility to operate and maintain the facilities.

Perrill said he is against governmental agencies becoming involved in operations that could be handled by the individual or private enterprise.

The resolution states that the developer desires to construct central sewage and water facilities to serve the subdivision, and that the improvements are necessary for preservation and promotion of public health and welfare.

According to the resolution, the Ohio Environmental Protection Agency requires that such systems be operated by a public authority.

Seek compromise on lottery plan

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The House and Senate named a conference committee Wednesday to work out a possible compromise on a bill to implement a state lottery.

Sen. Ronald Mottl, D-24 Parma, chief sponsor of a lottery, said he hopes the committee can re-insert an emergency clause that would make the bill effective upon signing by the governor.

The House action, which approved the Senate implementation measure last week, but refused to give it an emergency classification, had the effect of stalling a lottery for perhaps a year, Mottl said.

Without the emergency tag, the bill would have to wait 90 days after signing by the governor before coming law. Mottl feared the session would possibly be over before any lottery is approved.

Mottl, who is on the six-member conference committee, said the first task would be to work out a compromise that could put the emergency tag back on.

"If they (opponents) are unreasonable, a lottery could be delayed up to nearly a year and cost the state $50 million in revenue," he said.

"I think that would be tragic, especially in view of the 2-1 mandate it received at the polls," he said.

Mottl was referring to the May 8 primary where Ohioans overwhelmingly approved lifting the constitutional ban against state-run lotteries.

Named to the conference committee—which Mottl hopes can pave the way for lottery tickets to be sold by November—were, in addition to himself:

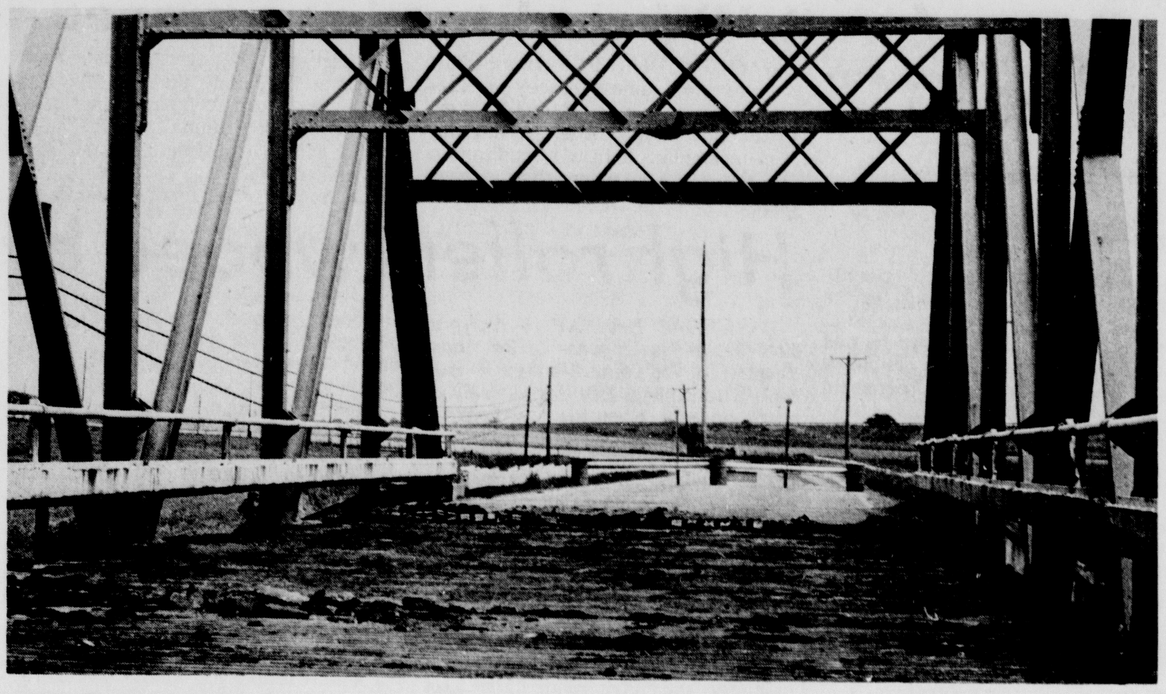
Sens. Robert Corts, R-13 Elyria, and William H. Mussey, R-14 Batavia, and Reps. Thomas Fries, D-35 Dayton; Barney Quilter, D-47 Toledo, and Joseph Tulley, R-59 Mentor.

In floor action, the Senate passed a bill outlawing discrimination against women in the extension of credit. The vote was 32-1.

The House, meanwhile, approved 88-2 and sent to the Senate a bill allowing liquor permit holders to provide free snacks for customers.

The Senate passed by 30-0 votes bills that would reduce the basic support charge for the first 120 days of care and treatment of the mentally retarded and provide a sales tax exemption for the production and sale of printed materials.

In other action, the House Transportation Committee deferred until next week a scheduled vote on a bill that would outlaw studded tires on Ohio highways.



REPAIRS IN PROGRESS — The bridge on U.S. 35, which spans Paint Creek just south of the city is being refurbished this week, causing traffic to be rerouted over U.S. 22 and Old Chillicothe Road. The asphalt is being taken up and the deck will be repaved.

Area dentists meet here

The Rehwinkel Dental Association held its annual meeting at the Washington Country Club Wednesday.

A business meeting was held in the morning, and new officers were installed.

Gordon K. Ansbary, of Gallipolis, became the new president of the area organization, and Dwight Shumate Jr., of Chillicothe, became the president-elect, to serve beginning at the next annual meeting.

William Schnider, was elected vice president, and Thomas Marr, will remain in his present position as secretary-treasurer, both reside in Chillicothe.

Following a late lunch, the group took to the links for some friendly competition.

Diplomats see scandal as pretext

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Many experienced diplomats at the United Nations predict the U.S. Congress will trim presidential power as a result of the Watergate scandal. They believe this will reduce American influence in the world.

"Watergate is, of course, a pretext for a major campaign to curb the powers of the President," one West European said. "The people who voted for President Nixon knew at the time he was no angel, so they are not really surprised at the affair, which is just a drop in the bucket compared to the importance of the Middle East question."

He predicted a net result of the scandal would be further U.S. withdrawal from world affairs and eventual loss of both markets and influence abroad to Japan, China and European countries.

An Arab ambassador said the Watergate affair was severely damaging U.S. prestige and influence in the world. "It is a diversion from real problems such as the ailing economy and balance of payments deficits," he said.

But a Communist diplomat said while the power of the U.S. presidency will be reduced, this would not affect Nixon's major dealings with the Soviet Union and China. Those negotiations, he said, "are dictated by reality."

Atomic explosion may free gas

RIO BLANCO, Colo. (AP) — A nuclear device as powerful as 90,000 tons of TNT awaited detonation today a mile under the Colorado Rockies in an effort to shake loose vast stores of natural gas.

The device's three 30-kiloton atomic mechanisms were to be exploded simultaneously in the largest nuclear blast so far in the Atomic Energy Commission (AEC) project to stimulate trillions of cubic feet of natural gas locked in rock formations.

The device has more than four times the explosive power of the atomic bomb dropped over Hiroshima, Japan, at the end of World War II.

Charles McAdams, 25, Chamberlain's roommate, was charged with murder and scheduled to appear in felony court today.

Chamberlain had worked for the Daily News since 1961, coming from the Citizen Journal in Columbus, Ohio.

Opening lead - six of spades.

It's better to be lucky than clever, and here is a hand to demonstrate the point. The deal occurred in a playoff match between my team and the Curt Smith team to determine which of us would represent the United States in the 1973 world championship.

It was the first deal of a 128-board match and it was a harbinger of things to come. At my talle, Smith and Greenberg got to a perfectly reasonable seven hearts and unluckily went down one when my partner, Jeff Rubens, led a spade — which I ruffed.

Rubens reasoned that on the bidding there was a good chance of North-South's holding nine spades, and he therefore chose a spade as the best shot to stop the grand slam.

At the second table, where our teammates — Andy Bernstein and my son, Mike Becker — held the North-South cards, the bidding was briefer. In fact, Bernstein got to seven spades in two bids. The bidding went:

East	South	West	North
3 ♣	Dble	Pass	4 ♣
Pass	5 ♣	Pass	7 ♠

Bernstein (North) naturally started to think in terms of a small slam after his partner had doubled the preemptive three club bid for takeout, and he backed his appraisal with a cuebid of four clubs. When Mike showed he had more than a fair-to-middling double by cue-bidding in return, Bernstein happily went all the way.

Strictly speaking, seven spades was not as good a contract as seven hearts — there was a greater chance mathematically of a heart ruff with spades as trump than a spade ruff with hearts as trump — but seven spades was the winner, while seven hearts was the loser. So, we repeat: it's better to be luck than clever!

Seek cause of 7-fatality copter crash

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — An investigator has said it is too early to tell whether the crash of an Army helicopter that killed seven persons was caused by a collision with a power line.

The wreckage of the UH-1H Huey helicopter was found Wednesday morning on a heavily wooded hillside near a row of power lines crossing Ft. Knox.

The aircraft was missed at 12:35 a.m. Wednesday when it failed to return from testing a night-vision device designed to amplify moon and star light.

A Ft. Knox spokesman said the helicopter had left the test area and was returning to the post's Godman Army Airfield when it crashed.

Louisville Gas & Electric Co. officials reported a power outage at 11:55 p.m. Tuesday in a section of line running through Ft. Knox, and a broken line was found at midnight.

The president of the accident board probing the crash, Maj. Joseph Drew Jr., said on Wednesday that it was "too early" to assume the helicopter hit the power line.

"Anything we'd say say now would be purely speculation," he said.

The power lines were about 100 yards to the northeast of the crash site and apparently in line with the helicopter's path.

UMW credit union planned to 'break grip of banks'

WASHINGTON (AP) — In an effort to "make coal miners' money work for coal miners," United Mine Workers President Arnold Miller Wednesday announced plans to form a credit union for the UMW's more than 200,000 members.

Miller said the credit union was aimed at "breaking the iron grip of banks and loan companies on the finances of coal mining families" and would begin accepting membership applications Aug. 1.

"In the past, coal miners owed their souls to the company store. Today, they owe their paychecks to the bank or loan office," Miller said. "The credit union will end our members' dependence on banks and loan offices."

Those eligible for the savings and low-interest loan operation include UMW members and employes, widows of former UMW members, and recipients of the union's Welfare and Retirement Fund benefits, a spokesman said. Miller predicted 30,000 union members would deposit their savings with the UMW credit union in the first 90 days.

The credit union "will make use of payroll checkoffs wherever possible," the spokesman added. "Several major companies have already agreed to participate in payroll deductions for members."

Credit unions generally offer lower interest rates on personal loans than do banks and finance companies.

Miller said the UMW membership currently pays $90 million each year in loan interest charges, according to figures he cited from the Credit Union National Association. The association, Miller said, predicted a $67 million yearly saving for the union membership through use of the credit union.

Miller estimated the credit union could accumulate savings of $10 million its first year, and disburse up to $4 million in loans.

The UMW credit union was incorporated by Miller, Vice President Mike Trbovich, Secretary-Treasurer Harry Patrick; International Executive Board members Bill Savitsky of District 25 and John Kelly of District 4; District 6 President John Guzek, and District 11 President Robert Edney, the spokesman said.

High rollers wooed by Las Vegas

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — A trip to Las Vegas is expensive for most people, but for some it's free — free food, free lodging, free drinks and free entertainment. Even the roundtrip air fare is free.

These are the big money gamblers, those willing to risk $2,500 to $5,000 over three or four days.

Most of the resort hotels lining the glittering Las Vegas Strip compete strenuously for the heavy rollers, sending scouts across the country to find them and offer them free junkets to the gambling capital. Although there are no official figures, one junket manager estimates more than 2,000 guests arrive on junkets here every week.

In recent years the hotels have been building a "family" image for the Strip, offering all sorts of package plans for the family. A typical $34.95 two-night, three-day package for two persons includes lodging, meals, a dinner show, two cocktails and inexpensive gifts.

But the hotelmen haven't forgotten that much of their success has been built on big stakes gambling.

The hotels figure it costs them an average of $600 to give a gambler a free trip here. The hotels also figure the house claims 20 per cent of every dollar gambled. That means, on the average, that a gambler must put up at least $3,000 for a hotel to break even.

One hotel requires a minimum of $2,500 in "action" from junket players. "Then we allow for human nature," said a man who has run junkets for the hotel. "The losers will lose much more than the winners win."

In the hotel's eyes the best player, he said, is not one who makes huge bets for short periods but one who makes $10 bets and plays for eight hours at a time for the three days. "He'll wind up dropping everything."

What about big winners? Hotel men love them about as much as they do big losers.

"If a guy's willing to put up $5,000, they don't care if he's a big winner and walks away with a lot," says William Friedman. He is an instructor at the University of Nevada and teaches the nation's only course in casino management.

"The idea is they have to give them so much action."

The hotels maintain a network of junket representatives in major cities, either full-time salaried employes in branch offices or independents who are paid $25 to $50 a head, depending on the player's "quality."

On every trip, he said, some players turn out to be "riders" or nongamblers. If they haven't put up a deposit, they receive a free trip.

Many of the hotels have a grading system to determine how much junketeers are wagering. One hotel rates players from AAA for excellent to C for average, P for poor and F for fraud.

Propose service for U.S. youths

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP)—A former high-ranking general in Vietnam Wednesday proposed three national service alternates for America's youth.

Maj. Gen. Fred E. Karhohs (U.S. Army, ret.), now executive vice president of the Dubois Chemical Co., suggested service in the military, in humanitarian work abroad or in the restoration of natural resources at home.

"With the help of the youth of America, we simultaneously (could) provide for the common defense, improve our relations with other nations of the world and rebuild a major portion of the ecological damage done to our nation," Karhohs said.

Little boy succumbs to blaze at home

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Loren Christopher Williams, 3, died Wednesday in a fire in his east side home which firemen speculated was started when the youth struck a match.

His mother, Linda Williams, managed to rescue her two other small children, but was unable to reach Loren. They were treated for smoke inhalation.

Speaking of Your Health...

Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

This Boy Holds His Breath

From the time our boy was an infant he would hold his breath until he was absolutely blue. For a long time we thought this was a temper tantrum. He is now 4 years old. How long can we expect this to continue?

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. W., Kan.

Dear Mr. and Mrs. W.:

There is no doubt that this terrifying habit, sometimes accompanied by fainting, can be attributed to a child whose temper is triggered by frustration, deprivation or punishment.

It may be entirely psychological in origin, but after this long period of time your son should have a complete medical and neurological examination to rule out conditions that resemble temper tantrums.

I do not mean to induce in you any undue anxiety when I suggest that some cases of so-called "breath-holding temper tantrums" are finally found to be caused by a mild unsuspected form of epilepsy.

This, when discovered, can be kept in complete control. There are other conditions such as severe anemia, chemical imbalance, and hormone disturbances which may be responsible for that which is considered a temper tantrum.

I feel so foolish when I tell a doctor I cannot swallow a pill. Does anyone have a suggestion for a 53-year-old baby?

Mr. S. L., Tex.

Dear Mr. L.:

All of us in the practice of medicine have watched patients go through the most elaborate gyrations in order to swallow a pill the size of a small pea.

I never could reconcile this with the fact that these same people can swallow a chunk of steak almost one inch square. Yet I do know that it occurs.

Very recently, I came across a suggestion by Dr. William B Robey, of Phoenix, Ariz., that may be helpful to you.

Dr. Robey says, "I tell my patient to try this old but forgotten way to swallow a pill. I suggest that he take a sip of water and hold it in his mouth. Then he is to tilt his head back as though to gargle the water, and then drop the pill on top of the water. When the water is swallowed the pill easily slides down."

If this and other suggestions don't work, you will find that almost all medications can be obtained in liquid form.

Is it possible to insert a tube into the stomach to examine it? My uncle says he must have this done to see if he has a hidden stomach ulcer.

Miss J.D., Ore.

Dear Miss D.:

A special type of fibro-optic tube can be inserted into the mouth, passed through the esophagus, and into the stomach and the small intestine. Through this tube it is possible to study minute areas and even take photographs of tissue hidden in recessed areas. Tissue can also be removed for miscroscopic study.

Terminal destruction draws near

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — The vice president of the Southern Railway System announced Wednesday night that work will begin today sealing off the Union Terminal rotunda, despite last-minute moves by Cincinnati City Council to save the structure.

James Headley said Southern has permits to go ahead with plans to tear down the terminal's concourse for enlargement of piggyback freight operations.

The permits "said we can brick up the rotunda and that's what we are going to start doing Thursday," Headley said.

Headley's comments came after the council moved to designate the terminal as a historic landmark. William Ahlert, City Building Commissioner, suspended a permit for Southern to begin demolition in the concourse today.

Fourteen murals, mosaics that portray Cincinnati's industrial history, have been the focal point of a drive by citizens who want them saved.

Listing the terminal a historic landmark could hold up building permits indefinitely. But Headley maintains he has the necessary approval to begin demolition of part of the structure.

"I am seriously considering going down to the city hall Thursday with an application to tear down the whole concourse and see what happens," Headley said.

Telephone firm uses caution

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP)—A bomb squad was called in when a young lady left a brightlywrapped package at a desk of Cincinnati Bell Inc., Wednesday with the parting words: "Here it is, you know what you can do with it."

The suspicious package was taken by officials to a safe area and carefully opened with hooks.

The contents? A red telephone.

Electronic voting machine under study

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A simplified electronic voting machine that permits the voter to use an ordinary lead pencil will be examined for possible use in Ohio, according to Secretary of State Ted Brown.

Brown said Wednesday he received an application for approval of the machine, which is a product of Litton Automated Business Systems, a division of Litton Industries. He said his examiners will look at it June 4.

Ohio Perspective

Drink squabble actually laughable

By CONNIE LARKIN
Associated Press Writer

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Some 18-year-old youths — clothed with all adult privileges minus one in a bill awaiting legislative action—must be laughing in their 3.2 beer these days.

Under a bill passed by the Ohio Senate, the youths would be adults, except they couldn't legally drink hard liquor or high-powered beer.

The catch is, they know they can get just as drunk on the beer they can drink as the so-called high-powered beer they can't.

"It depends on a person's size and system," said William Dorsey, chief of the beer and wines division of the Ohio Department of Liquor control.

"A person can definitely get drunk on 3.2 beer."

The bill granting 18-year-olds full adult privileges and responsibilities passed the Senate last month. The bill now is before the House Judiciary Committee.

The man who wrote the bill, Sen. Stanley J. Aronoff, R-8 Cincinnati, realizes the slight and ironic difference between 3.2 and high-powered beer.

"I would like to have the right to drink included in the bill," said Aronoff, "but it's a matter of political expediency.

"If we want to get anything through this legislature we'll have to give up the right to drink. Once we get it through, perhaps we can offer another bill."

Obvious intent of the present bill was to meet objections of those people who want to keep youth of that age away from intoxicating liquors.

What might be called low-powered beer is known as 3.2 beer. It actually contains on the average 3 per cent of alcohol.

"The average high-powered beer, excluding malt liquor," said Dorsey, "has a 3.4 to 3.6 per cent alcohol content."

To pinpoint what the difference is, consider a quart of both 3.2 beer and of high-powered beer. In a quart of 3.2 beer, an 18-year-old may legally drink a fraction under one ounce of alcohol, mathematically .96 ounce.

In a quart of high-powered beer, the youth will take in 1.08 ounces of alcohol.

A shot of whisky runs about an ounce, depending on the bar, but an ounce of 100 proof whisky would contain only a halfounce of alcohol. Most whisky is 86 proof, which means an ounce would contain less than a half ounce of alcohol.

Which means, in turn, that a youth could have two bar highballs and take in no more alcohol than in a quart of 3.2 beer.

Scioto Downs braces for 15th race season

COLUMBUS — A solid field of trotters in Friday's $7,000 Inaugural Trot, and the track pacing champion Jay Time in Saturday's $7,000 Free For All Pace, highlight the opening weekend of action at Scioto Downs.

In Friday's opening trotting clash, the pre-race favorite role is up for grabs between the veteran Doc McBean, winner of three straight at The Meadows, Quickster from the Dick Williams stable, and King Storm, winner of four out of six starts this year.

JAY TIME, owned by Mr. and Mrs. Carl Baas, of Columbus, makes his 1973 Scioto debut Saturday night at the scene of his fine performance last year when he cracked the track pacing record in a sizzling 1:57 4-5 in the three-year old pacing division of the Challenge Stakes. Trained and driven by Gene Riegle, the six-time leading Scioto driver, Jay Time won his first start this year, taking the American National Stake in Chicago in 2:00 3-5.

Doc McBean with Charlie Williams up, won in 2:03 1-5 at The Meadows, Quickster won in 2:03 1-5 at Liberty Bell Park, and King Storm with Al Kerns up, has won four at Lebanon Raceway including last Friday's win in 2:05 1-5. Completing Friday's feature trot is Hassie Blaze with Erv Samples, Flora Pearl with Herb Smith, and Yellow Knife with Dick Farrington in the sulky.

Scioto Downs will open its 15th racing season Friday night, sporting the new Penthouse dining room. The 405 dining capacity in the Penthouse will increase Scioto's dining room facility to a total of 1,105 persons.

The outstanding opening weekend of racing is indicative of the fine racing programs arranged for the 1973 summer season. In addition to the weekly trotting and pacing events, Scioto Downs offers six divisions of the popular Challenge Stakes series, four divisions of the Scarlet and Gray Cup series, the Little Brown Jug preview on September 6, and for the first time, the final of the Can-Am series for three and four-year-old pacers on June 28 with the richest ever purse at Scioto Downs of $50,300.

Jay Time will have all he can handle in Saturday's pacing feature. Dick Williams will have Sammy Key who scored in 1:59 1-5 last year before going to Lexington, Ky. where he paced in a time trial in 1:58.

DICK BUXTON will bring the sensational Racing Knight. Owned by Arthur Meyring, of Dayton, Racing Knight won in 1:59 at Pompano Park last winter and two weeks ago won the Sagamore Series at Roosevelt Raceway in 2:01 3-5 to give him two wins and three seconds in six starts this year.

Dick Richardson will be in the sulky behind Proper Time who won over $55,000 last year and won a tilt with the stop watch at Lexington, Ky. in 1:58 1-5. Ralph Lunsford's Sovereign Warrior won in 1:59 3-5 at Scioto Downs last year, and this season he has won two of four starts including a 2:03 4-5 win at Louisville Downs.

Jim Riley will start his great Laetare for the first time this year Saturday night. Showing a record of 1:59 1-5 at Scioto last year, Laetare breezed through an eye-popping workout last Saturday morning at Scioto Downs.

SCOL BASEBALL CHAMPIONS — Miami Trace was crowned the 1973 South Central Ohio League baseball champion at the league's annual banquet held this week in Circleville. The Panthers locked up their second SCOL baseball in three years with a 4-1 record on the weather-abbreviated campaign. Pictured with the championship trophy are reserve coach Joe Henry, Tony Grooms, Jeff Spears and head coach Dave Pellior. Grooms and Spears were named to the All-SCOL baseball team.

Cey, Ferguson spirit Dodgers to 11-inning win over Cincy

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — There's a new "Say Hey Kid" emerging on a West Coast baseball team. He may not be the next Willie Mays, but the Los Angeles Dodgers thought he was something to see Wednesday night.

Ron Cey, a 25-year-old infielder who had only 10 major league hits in two brief stints with the Dodgers during the last two years, drove in four runs with a 4-for-6 performance as Los Angeles outlasted Cincinnati 8-6 in 11 innings.

Cey and catcher-outfielder Joe Ferguson accounted for half the Dodgers' 16 hits, including 11th-inning home runs which gave Los Angeles its first win in four games this season against the defending National League champs.

It was Cey's way of saying he wants to keep the third base job he recently inherited when hot-hitting Ken McMullen was sidelined with a back ailment.

"I'm not going to give it up," said the former Washington State University star who lifted his batting average from .266 to .288 with Wednesday night's effort.

His fourth hit was a solo homer off Reds' reliever Tom Hall and followed a two-run blast by Ferguson as the Dodgers claimed their 13th win in the last 18 games.

Ferguson, who called his 4-for-5 performance "my best night in the majors," took over the National League lead in runs batted in with 29. He has eight homers and a .328 batting average—two points short of joining two other Dodgers in the league's top 10 hitters.

The Dodgers, with Al Downing firing no-hit ball for the first four innings, took a 3-0 lead in the first inning and added another run in the fourth when catcher Steve Yeager hit a solo homer.

The Reds got back-to-back singles from Dave Concepcion and Richie Scheinblum to open the fifth moments before showers hit, causing the first of two lengthy delays.

An hour and 17 minutes later, Downing returned to the mound and watched the Reds tie it. Phil Gagliano's bases-loaded single scored Concepcion and the Reds added two more on Pete Rose's infield out and Joe Morgan's run-scoring single.

Cey put the Dodgers back in front in the seventh with a single that scored Ferguson, who had blasted his 10th double of the season.

Johnny Bench's two-out single tied it at 5-5.

The win went to Charlie Hough, 1-1, and Tom Hall, 3-2, took the loss.

The two clubs close a threegame series today when Don Sutton, 3-3, faces Clay Carroll, one of last year's most successful relievers who has stumbled this spring.

Carroll, 0-3, has a 10.50 earned run average, but Reds' Manager Sparky wants Carroll to have the chance to regain the touch which accounted for a record-setting 37 bullpen saves last year.

MT miscues costly in loss to Indians

Always-tough Hillsboro, behind a five-run outburst in the second inning, nipped Miami Trace 6-5 in a meaningless South Central Ohio league baseball bout Wednesday at the Indian diamond.

Errors proved to be the deciding factor in the contest as only one of Miami Trace's runs was earned, while Hillsboro pushed across a total of six unearned tallies.

Bob Seeling, one of two All-SCOL pitchers, hurled the distance for Hillsboro, surrendering five runs on seven hits. The lanky junior, who had a neat 0.41 earned run average this season, faned seven and walked one.

SOPHOMORE TOM Riley absorbed the loss for Miami Trace as he gave up a total of six unearned runs on seven hits. Riley walked one and fanned one before being relieved by senior Pete Jones, who worked four hitless innings.

Miami Trace, the new SCOL champion, opened the contest with a four-run explosion in the first inning behind a three-run double by senior Dave Arnold and Hillsboro countered with a lone run in the first inning.

Three Miami Trace errors helped pave the way for Hillsboro's five-run eruption in the second inning. Seeling stiffened and did not allow another run until the fifth inning when the Panthers got a run-scoring single from senior Muff Jones.

Arnold sparked Miami Trace's seven-hit attack with a pair of doubles and three runs-batted-in and Muff Jones chased home a pair of runs with two singles.

Miami Trace, now 10-5-1 on the season, is scheduled to play a twinbill at Wilmington tonight.

SCOL vacancies filled

MT product named Indian grid boss

HILLSBORO — The South Central Ohio League, which lost three head football coaches following the 1972 season, has now filled all its vacancies in preparation for the autumn campaign.

Michael Doyle, a 1964 product of Miami Trace High School, has been named head football coach at Hillsboro High School, replacing veteran Dale Ambos, who resigned following the 1972 season.

Earlier, Miami Trace and Greenfield McClain, which lost head football coaches after the 1972 season, both named new coaches. Fred Zechman, of Youngstown, replaces Fred Bernier at Miami Trace, while young Fred Brisker, a Miami University graduate, succeeds Jay Knierim at Greenfield.

MICHAEL DOYLE

DOYLE, the son of Mr. and Mrs. C.R. Doyle, of New Holland, has been an assistant football coach at Columbus Franklin Heights High School for the past four years.

He graduated from Wilmington College with a bachelor's degree in 1968 and from Ohio State University two years ago with a master's degree in English education with emphasis on social and maladjustment problems.

The Hillsboro Board of Education also employed Richard Allwood, of Lucasville, as an assistant football coach and freshman basketball coach. Allwood, an Ohio State graduate, served as an assistant with Doyle at Franklin Heights.

Doyle and Allwood will be hoping to revive a sagging Hillsboro football program when the fall campaign opens. Hillsboro posted an 11-28 record under Ambos in four seasons and a 14-55 mark the past seven years.

Doyle's wife, the former Deanna Baker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Baker, Rt. 2, Leesburg, was employed as sixth grade teacher at Marshall School, south of Hillsboro.

Staffs nab healthy lead in golf league

The Staffs, after picking up 18 points with a victory over the Reds, moved to a comfortable lead in the Wednesday Night Golf League at the Washington Country Club.

Three of the Staffs five players garnered four points in their matches with the Reds and two others scored three points each in the 18-2 rout. Don Morrow's 43 was tops for the Staffs and Wes Wilson had a 45.

In other action, the Dots edged the Titleists 10½ to 9½ and the Tourneys nipped Maxfli 10½ to 9½.

Skeet Mann, subbing for James Irons, shot a 47 to lead the way for the Dots' win and Irvin Reeves carded a 44 for the Tourneys.

THE RESULTS

STAFFS — Everett Rudolph 48-3; Don Morrow 43-4; Ralph Tate 49-3; Wes Wilson 45-4; Robert Simpson 51-4; Total 18.

MT's reserves dealt 2nd loss

Washington C. H.'s reserve baseball team, behind a solid offensive attack, handed Miami Trace its second loss of the season in a 12-4 bout Wednesday night.

Coach Dale Lynch's Blue Lion reserves received timely hitting from three players in registering the win. Leonard Bick cracked a home run and a single, Sparkman had a pair of singles and a triple, while Larry Dumford unloaded a single, double and a triple.

Phil Skinner had a pair of singles and scored two runs for Coach Joe Henry's jayvees which ended the season with a 6-2-1 record.

Greg McCune was the winning pitcher for Washington C. H. and Kevin Dunn was tagged with the loss.

Class B tourney scheduled here

An ASA - sanctioned Class B slo-pitch softball tournament, sponsored by the Fayette County Softball Association, will be held May 25-28 at Washington C.H.'s Eyman Park.

Don Fowler, president of the Fayette County Softball Association who will serve as the tournament director, said a minimum of 25 Class B teams are needed to stage the four-day tourney. Fowler said the drawing will be held at 7:30 p.m. May 23 at Eyman Park and the entry fee is $40.

First, second and third place trophies will be offered in addition to individual awards for the members of the first three teams. Home run and sportsmanship trophies will also be presented.

Interested teams can contact Fowler (335-2680) after 3:30 p.m. or Betty Estep (335-1985).

24 Elks golfers set for tourney

Twenty-four members of the Washington C.H. Elks Lodge will be competing in the annual Southwestern District Elks golf tournament which will be held this weekend at the Homestead Golf Course near West Milton.

Skeet Mann, chairman of the Washington C.H. golfing contingent, said approximately 150 entries are expected for the tournament.

Indy 500 eligibles dwindle

INDIANAPOLIS (AP)—The number of drivers still eligible to make the 33-car field for the May 28 Indianapolis 500 has decreased by three.

Jigger Sirois of Hammond, Ind., Dee Jones of Phoenix, Ariz., and Bruce Jacobi of Indianapolis still had all or part of their refresher driving tests to complete when the deadline arrived at 6 p.m. Wednesday.

Despite several days of trial runs and adjustments, Sirois was unable to get his unorthodox Dodge-powered Eagle past the needed 160 miles per hour to complete his tests.

The car's owner, Bruce Crower, said he still planned to enter the car in the Rex Mays 150 in Milwaukee this summer.

Jones' crew was still frantically putting back together the turbocharger of his older model Mongoose-Foyt when time ran out Wednesday afternoon.

Gusty winds carried a mass of debris left by the crowds at last weekend's qualifying runs onto the track. The situation became so bad that U.S. Auto Club officials ordered the yellow light on because of "unsafe conditions."

Chief Steward Harlan Fengler then closed the track, about 4 p.m.

Jones, who passed his rookie test at the Speedway in 1964, still had 34 of the 40 laps required to complete his refresher test. But it appeared doubtful he could have finished the tests, even if the track had remained open.

Jacobi blamed sponsorship problems for his failure to run this year. He said he was unable to find a sponsor to put up $5,000 in time to satisfy an arrangement with the car's owners.

Greg Weld of Independence, Mo., completed his refresher test, making his Kingfish-Offenhauser ready for a shot Saturday at one of the three qualification spots still open.

Practice at the Speedway Wednesday was limited mostly to drivers or cars not already qualified. Defending USAC sprint champion Sam Sessions of Nashville, Mich., a five-year Indy veteran, practiced at slow speeds in his Eagle-Foyt.

USAC national champion Joe Leonard of San Jose, Calif., was out getting up speed in his backup car. His 190.114 m.p.h. clocking was the quickest of the day. He qualified his favorite car Sunday at only 189.954.

The list of available backup cars also shrank. Salt Walther of Dayton, Ohio, Bill Vukovich of Fresno, Calif., and Mike Hiss of Tustin, Calif., said there will be no attempt to qualify their backup cars.

The decrease in the number of drivers eligible and cars available made the slower qualifiers less likely to be ousted from the field when bumping begins Saturday.

Kathy Cottrill, Editor-in-Chief

MT student named winner in district essay contest

BY BARBARA MARVIN

Last fall Mrs. Linda Bailo's English composition class was assigned a project in which each pupil entered the contest sponsored by the local chapter of the Employment Service.

The contest was entitled "Hire the Handicapped." Mrs. Gayle Kelly and Mr. William Mason of the Ohio Bureau of Employment Services in Washington C.H. talked to the class about the project.

Kathy Cottrill, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Cottrill, won first place in the district (which includes Miami Trace, Washington Senior High and Greenfield McClain high schools) and also placed fifth in the state.

Kathy, a member of National Honor Society, interviewed employers in the Washington C.H. area and wrote an essay on the theme, "The Handicapped at Work: Tomorrow's Challenge."

For placing first in the district Kathy received a $75 U.S. Savings Bond. She received a carnation, a certificate of appreciation, a pocket dater from the Ohio Governor's Committee on Employment of the Handicapped, and a commemorative coin honoring the 25th anniversary of the President's Committee on Employment of the Handicapped for placing fifth in the state.

On March 28, Kathy, her parents, and Mrs. Bailo attended the annual awards luncheon at the Neil House in Columbus.

CANCER CONTRIBUTION — The two civics classes at Miami Trace High School recently presented a check to the Fayette County Cancer Society. The civics classes were active in making posters for the Cancer Smorgasbord at the Mahan Building. Presenting the check to Robert Minshall, president of the Fayette County Cancer Society, are David Cook, Tony Landrum, Ron Warnock, Sherman Strickrott, Kathy Woodfork and Marvin Mathews.

MT students attend energy symposium

By BARBARA MARVIN

John Bryant, David Foster, and Tom Payton, representing Miami Trace's Science Club, attended an energy crisis symposium recently at Battelle Auditorium in Columbus. Mr. John Streber, chemistry teacher, accompanied them.

The seminar was entitled "Energy Rationing: Is It Coming?" Its purpose was to acquaint engineers and the community with the energy crisis and its effect on industrial and residential consumers.

Representatives from oil corporations the coal industry, state departments concerning environment and economics, distributors of natural gas, and automobile researchers presented a wide variety of topics to the audience.

Each dealt with the individual effect the energy crisis would have on his particular brand of work.

Mr. Streber commented that for him the highlights of the seminar were Dr. Ira Whitman's talk on "Energy or Environmental Crisis? Considerations for the State of Ohio?" (Dr. Whitman is Director of the State Environmental Protection Agency.).

Also Mr. Alan Loofbourrow, vice president of Engineering and Research, Chrysler Corporation in Detroit, whose topic was "The Energy-Environmental Crunch in the Automobile Society," and a speech on "The Energy Crisis" by Mr. Gerald Gambs.

MT bowling club holds awards fete

By LORA BROOKS

The Miami Trace Bowling Club had its annual carry-in dinner awards presentation recently. After a short introductory speech by President Jana Miller, with a buffet supper followed with Cindy Knisley presenting awards.

Trophies were awarded to the first and second place teams. The Four Clowns, consisting of Nelta Baker, Roger Duff, Tim Lewis and Lora Brooks, won first place. Patty Persinger, Darrell Morris, Dean Shonkwiler, and Steve Williamson made up the second place team, Willy's Wonkas.

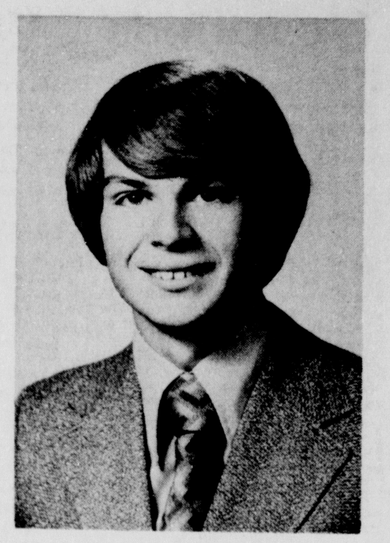
Trophies were also given to Alan Fleming for having the high series and to Tim Lewis for high game. Ruth Morris, the league's most improved bowler, also received a trophy.

Several patches were awarded for high games and series. Mr. John Wedgewood, the club advisor, gave the coach's awards to the four having perfect attendance. They were Patty Persinger, Kim Fleming, Tim Lewis, and Gary Williamson.

After all regular league presentations, Marcia Markel, representing also Kim Fleming and Bob Ford, presented their team captain, Tom Edwards, a best bowler trophy as consolation for not winning the league.

As of 1972 there were 6,953,300 motor vehicles registered in Ohio and 6,689,000 licensed operators. This represents a four per cent increase in registration over 1971 and a three per cent increase in the number of operators.

TERESA GLASS



BARTH FAULKNER

Seniors of week

"You wouldn't believe how good it feels to be a senior. It seems like I've waited a lifetime for it," are Teresa Glass's feelings on her last year at Miami Trace. Teresa is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Glass, of Jeffersonville.

Teresa was on the girls' basektball team and the girls' track team. She is secretary of the Linguistics Arts Club and a member of the GAA. She has belonged to the concert, symphonic, and marching bands. Her favorite course this year is art.

Teresa is a member of the Jeff Swim Club. She enjoys dancing, singing, and "just getting it together and having a good time." Her future plans include working for a while before going to college.

BARTH FAULKNER, son of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Faulkner, lives at Rt. 1, Jeffersonville. Vocational agriculture is his favorite class this year, so naturally FFA is one of his activities. He also is in the symphonic and marching bands. He spends another part of his time working at his job.

Barth enjoys basketball, football, and softball in his spare time. Other hobbies include cleaning and driving his car, and watching sports on TV.

After graduation Barth plans to farm with his dad. He advises underclassmen to "enjoy your senior year. It will go fast!"

Truck strikes girl at downtown corner

An 18-year-old Washington C.H. girl was struck by a semi-rig as she was crossing Court Street at the Fayette Street intersection Wednesday night but sustained only minor injuries, police report.

Officers said Vickie Cornell, Meyer Court, was treated at Memorial Hospital for a bruised thigh and later released.

Jacob E. Miller, 33, Wooster, driver of the truck, told officers he was turning left from N. Fayette Street when the mishap occurred, about 10:15 p.m. He said it was raining hard at the time and he did not see the pedestrian in the street until it was too late to stop.

Miller was not cited.

TWO CHARGES were filed against Lloyd D. Cydrus Jr., 15, Jeffersonville, after the car he was driving crashed on Ohio 729, just east of Jeffersonville, at 10:06 p.m.

He was cited for driving without an operator's license and driving left of center.

Sheriff's deputies said Cydrus was southbound when he lost control of the 1969 model car on a curve. The vehicle traveled left of center and into a fence on the Roy Corn farm.

The car was extensively damaged.

Cars driven by Thomas C. Rockhold, 39, Rt. 5, and David D. Grubb, 20, Rt. 6, were involved in a minor collision on Market Street, just east of Main Street at 12:58 p.m.

Police reported the Rockhold car had stopped eastbound in traffic and was struck in the rear by the Grubb auto.

No citations were issued.

Cool weather for Midwest

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A dome of cool air covered most of the nation's midsection early today, sending temperatures in the northern Midwest and Great Lakes region to near the freezing mark.

A record low of 37 degrees was set at Chicago early today.

A cold front moved eastward toward the Appalachians accompanied by a band of showers and isolated thunderstorms from northern Mississippi to New York state.

Temperatures were in the cool 50s and 60s in the southeastern states. Tampa, Fla., registered a record low of 55 degrees Wednesday night.

Fog covered parts of the California and Oregon coasts, a few snow flurries dotted the air in northern Michigan.

Elsewhere, fair skies prevailed.

Temperatures before dawn ranged from 30 at Lansing, Mich., to 84 at Uma, Ariz.

Nude model party-goer

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — Miki Garcia, a Playboy magazine model, plans to go to a dinner given by President and Mrs. Nixon.

Her escort will be a former prisoner of war whose wife divorced him while he was in prison.

Miss Garcia, who measures 38-22-36, is 5 feet 4 and weighs 108 pounds, will be the date of Capt. Galand C. Kramer of Oklahoma. Kramer and other former POWs released by North Vietnam and the Viet Cong will be honored by the Nixons at the May 24 dinner.

"She certainly is a very intelligent, very pleasurable girl with a wonderful personality," Kramer said Wednesday night after Miss Garcia announced she was going.

The two met at a party in Tulsa.

Kramer said he was surprised by the total nudity in Playboy, something that hadn't been done before his capture.

"But he liked it," said Miki.

Budget restraint given applause

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)— President Nixon is maintaining budgetary restraint at a time when it is more essential than ever before, economist Wallace H. Peterson told the Cleveland City Club.

"If ever there was a time for budgetary restraint, this is it," said Dr. Peterson, senior economic adviser in the U.S. Department of Commerce.

Total government expenditures rose from about 10 per cent of the gross national product's dollar value in 1929 to about 35 per cent last year, he said.

"The averge citizen works almost the first two days of the week for federal, state and local government," he said.

Joan of Arc was burned at the stake at Rouen, France.

TOP MARKSMAN — Fayette County Deputy Sheriff David J. Krupla was the winner of the first place trophy in the practical pistol course in firearms training at the Laurel Oaks Vocational Training School, Wilmington, where he has completed the 15-week basic law enforcement course. Krupla and Deputy Don Cox will graduate from the course Thursday night. The training is required under the Ohio Peace Officers Training Act.

Ohio Republicans shouldn't ignore scandal: McGough

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio Republican party leaders have been told to speak out on the Watergate scandal in order to inform voters that the GOP "must not be measured by the actions of a few misguided individuals who in no way represent the party."

Kent McGough, GOP state chairman, and T. Spencer Shore, chairman of the Ohio Republican Finance Committee, sent letters to state party leaders to that effect Wednesday.

The memo said the national preoccupation with Watergate should not "obscure the honesty of the Republican Party in Ohio in raising and spending the funds of the party organization."

Copies of audits by an accounting firm on state GOP campaign funds were sent to the party leaders along with the memo.

Rooftop vigil nets intruders

Acting on a tip from a local resident, city police nabbed two teen-age burglars as they climbed from the rooftop window of a Court Street business place Wednesday night.

The two juveniles, ages 16 and 17, were apprehended by Patrolman Larry Hott and Capt. Charles Foster shortly before 9 p.m. on the roof at the near of the D & D Carpet Shop, 243 E. Court St.

The officers went to the scene on a tip from George W. (Bud) Naylor, 605 S. North St., who reported he saw two persons trying to open a window near the rear of the Martha Washington Shop.

Patrolman Hott, first to arrive, climbed up the fire escape onto the roof where he spotted a partially open window. Hott said he waited until Capt. Foster arrived, then took up another position on the roof.

A few minutes later one of the youths climbed part way out of the window and spotted Hott who drew his revolver and ordered the youth onto the roof. The officer then called the other youth to come out of the building. Both were handcuffed and taken to police headquarters for questioning.

They were later incarcerated in the county jail where one was released to his parents.

Hott said the two apparently had piled up some concrete blocks that enabled them to climb onto the top of a door and then onto the roof. They then pried open the aluminum storm window and entered the top floor of the carpet shop.

Nothing was taken from the shop, the investigation showed.

Blast kills 2 in Italy

MILAN, Italy (AP) — A bomb exploded at the entrance to the central police headquarters in Milan today as Interior Minister Mariano Rumor drove out of the building. The explosion killed two persons and injured dozens, but Rumor was not hurt.

The area was crowded with officials commemorating the murder a year ago of Luigi Calabresi, the head of the Milan political police.

The bomb was thrown into a crowd of officials, police and passersby but missed the minister's car by several yards.

The explosion rocked the downtown area of Milan, Italy's commercial capital.

Calabresi was shot on May 17, 1972, in front of his house as he left for his office. At the time he was investigating a number of ultra-leftist organizations.

Cleveland and Shaker Heights, a suburb of Cleveland, have the only two commuter train systems in the state of Ohio.
